It gives me immense pleasure to introduce Corpus Juris- The Law Journal, which is an initiative to make a small contribution in the Research Field of Law and Sciences. "Corpus Juris" is a fresh attempt to restore the lost legacy of some of the greatest jurists of our time. Edited by a team of exceptional personalities from various fields, we are excited to be publishing the first volume in 2019.

Corpus Juris was born from the thought that the legal academia of the world has become somewhat static, even as humans continue to witness progress in leaps and bounds across other disciplines. Bearing the idea that Law and Social Science need to change with the progress of society and social fabric of the world, this is a humble attempt that intends to reinstate the lost atmosphere of legal research and progress across the globe.

The scope of Corpus Juris is broad, and extends to all work relevant to Law- whether from an Indian perspective or International. The Journal is not limited in terms of legal themes or methodology; and submissions are welcome from scholars located worldwide.

Corpus Juris is an open access, peer reviewed and refereed journal providing a dedicated forum to express views on topical legal issues, thereby generating a cross current of ideas on emerging matter. This platform aims to ignite the initiative and desire of young law students to contribute in the field of Law. The erudite response of legal luminaries shall be solicited to enable readers to explore challenges that lie before law makers, lawyers and the society at large, in the event of the ever changing social, economic and technological scenario.

We, at Corpus Legal believe in the principles of justice, morality and equity for all. We hope to re-ignite those smouldering embers of passion that lie buried inside us, waiting for that elusive spark.
