Khuda ki hi main ik nishani hu, kalakar hu aur dani hu

Jamnagar Dt. 15. Being rich is the destiny of many, but being a benefactor is the destiny of some lucky ones. When he is at the peak of his popularity, he can be called an artist who has become a man on the ground and has given alms to the society. All these parables apply to the famous comedian Jagdish Trivedi.

After entering the forest, Jagdish Trivedi decided to donate the revenue of all his programs in the field of health and education and decided to donate a total of Rs 11 crore.

Jagdish Trivedi has so far constructed a total of four government school buildings and a women's library and a children's library in villages including Thangarh, Sayla and Halwad. It was done by Moraribapu and Purushottam Rupala. Apart from these service works, a hospital in Rajula has been given Rs 3 lakh and B.T. Jagdishbhai has donated Rs 5 lakh each to Savani Kidney Hospital and Savarkundla Hospital. He has borne the cost of treating many needy patients and educating students. Jagdishbhai has donated a total of 1 crore 2 lakh in the three years of Seva Sankalp and also published the balance sheet of the income made during these three years and its relative donations in book form. He has presented an unprecedented example of social audit. Jagdish Trivedi is a source of pride for the entire art world.
