Around The World

Why are Leaders All Over the World Warning That World War III is Very Close?

Prominent leaders all over the globe are starting to publicly acknowledge that World War III is coming. In many cases they are expressing hope that it can still be avoided, but that becomes less likely with each passing day. Multiple parties are escalating the conflict in the Middle East, the war in Ukraine has entered a dangerous new phase, and the election that just happened in Taiwan has made a Chinese invasion much more probable. So, what is going to happen if major powers start tangling with one another all over the planet? We really are on the brink of the unthinkable, but most people in the general population have no idea how dire things have become. (prophecynewswatch.com 1/20)

BRICS Nations Move Toward New Currency to Challenge US Dollar. Last week, three of the five BRICS countries agreed to launch the new currency, the anti-dollar. If this doesn't send a chill down your spine, it should. India and China remain the two outliers, but if they are swayed by their counterparts, this anti-

American operation could launch sooner than expected. (newsmax.com 1/26)

WEF Introduces International Criminal Category of 'Ecocide' to Criminalize Farming, Fishing and Energy Production.

A green activist argued during the annual World Economic Forum meeting in Davos, Switzerland that the ICC should add to its brief alongside genocide, crimes against humanity, "ecocide" to criminalize the side effects of farming, fishing and energy production. (jihadwatch.com 1/20)

The Pope Cannot Overrule God.

US Approves F-16 Fighter Jet Sale to Turkey, F-35s to Greece.

The Biden administration has approved the sale of F-16 fighter jets to Turkey with a price tag of $23 billion following the Turkish government's ratification this week of Sweden's membership in NATO. The move is a significant development in the expansion of the alliance, which has taken on additional importance since Russia's invasion of Ukraine. In addition, a sale of $8.6 billion for the F-35 fighter jets to Greece. (newsmax.com 1/27)

Frigid Chicago Temps Turn EV Charging Stations into 'Car Graveyards'.

Fox 32 reports that the recent wave of freezing temperatures in Chicago has taken a significant toll on EVs, causing an unusual scene of dead Teslas at the Oak Brook Tesla Supercharging station and the many other stations around the Chicago area. From angry Tesla owners sharing videos of their cars failing to start, to owners having to charge their vehicles six times in one day due to massively reduced battery performance, Tesla cars simply can't handle the winter in a major portion of North America, a problem Breitbart News has covered extensively in the past. (Breitbart.com 1/16)

The 7 Most Outrageous Moments of the World Economic Forum

The World Economic Forum held its 54th meeting in Davos, Switzerland, from January 15-19, 2024. John Kerry boasted that "no one politician anywhere in the world can undo" efforts to impose the WEF's agenda. Here are some of the conference's most significant moments.

1. A Pagan Ritual. The 2024 World Economic Forum displayed their love of paganism. WEF concluded its forum on "Climate and Nature" by inviting a shaman to carry out a pagan ritual for the healing of the planet; "the healing is spiritual."

2. A Digital ID to Track Your Whole Life. One of the elitists' central conceits is that they have the right to surveil every aspect of their subjects' lives, "for their own good" using a mandatory ID card that puts as much information as possible at the government's fingertips.

3. A Global Tax. True global governance requires money and authority -- and the WEF discussed measures that would expand both at your expense. One speaker advised that global bodies impose, not one, but two global taxes on the entire world, a carbon tax and a corporate tax.

4. Efforts to "Force" Social Media Companies to Yield to Government Censorship. WEF's panel on "Protecting Democracy against Bots and Plots" complained that social media titans faced "scrutiny" and sought for ways to "force" companies to comply with free speech restrictions.

5. Reining in Donald Trump, and U.S. Sovereignty. Multiple speakers discussed the joys of circumventing democracy and hemming in Trump, or any elected leader who represents the average man instead of the Davos Man.

6. The WHO, Lockdowns, and Pushing the Green Agenda to Preserve 'Health'.

Davos officials made it clear that public health measures will play a role in their plans, despite some of its most prominent considerations proving counterproductive.

7. Pushback. Despite the bad ideas pervading every WEF meeting, this Davos conference featured notes of dissent.

Stories You Don't Hear From Main Stream Media

After the IDF raided a point in Khan Yunis they put a drone in the air because a suspicious figure was identified. The drone showed an elderly woman handcuffed to a bed. After making sure it was not a trick of Hamas, they went to the apartment with an Arabic-speaking investigator and found a 75-year-old woman handcuffed and in poor health. While the doctor treated her, the investigator asked questions. She said her family fled from Khan Yunis to the south. Two Hamas operatives arrived, forcibly tied her to the bed, and told her to say the IDF did it. She lay like that for two days. There are many more monstrous cases of what Hamas is doing to the citizens of Gaza. They tie old women to a bed, attach explosives to old men, and other horrible things.

In another incident in Khan Yunis, the IDF brigade entered an assumed-empty building with guns in hand only to find an elderly couple in one of the apartments. The interrogator asked why they were still there. They replied that everyone ran away to find a protected place, however their family and neighbors abandoned them to die helpless and alone. The Israeli soldiers managed to feed them and hand them over to the Red Cross so that they could be moved to a protected area while Hamas spreads lies about the morality of the Gazans toward their people.
