'Reality's Last Stand' - Will The Supreme Court Uphold The Truth?

One of the most critical decisions from the U.S. Supreme Court in 2025 involves a case argued before the justices in early December—U.S. v. Skrametti. The high court will decide whether the State of Tennessee may protect minors from experimental, life-altering, transgender medical protocols such as puberty blockers, cross-sex hormone injections, and surgical manipulation. For many, transgender medicine is the largest medical scandal in our nation's history, resulting in heart-wrenching stories of wrecked lives. To be completely upfront, the reason for this article is a call to get on our knees and pray for a clear and decisive victory to protect children and youth in Tennessee and across the country from reckless, unsubstantiated, harmful and often irreversible medical experiments. This case has massive implications for at least two reasons. First, if you have ever listened to the testimony of a sterile, regretful, broken 20-year-old detransitioning woman, and tears don't pour from your eyes, you don't have a heart. Young lives are permanently damaged, and no one warned them. Affirming parents, teachers, counselors and medical professionals drank the ideological potion, seemingly oblivious to the irreversible, life-altering consequences such as sterility. This in itself is enough reason to petition our Lord for mercy, goodness, and righteousness to prevail in the Supreme Court's decision which is expected by July. (harbingersdaily.com 1/2)

A Wave Of Conservative Optimism For 2025

A Fox News survey conducted earlier this month reveals that 55% of American voters feel "extremely" or "very hopeful" about 2025 but numerous challenges remain. (prophecynewswatch.com 1/6)

A Counterfeit of 'The Most High'

Why Satan Manipulates World Leaders.

As we know, Satan is not a creator, but he is a counterfeiter. This is most evident in Isaiah 14:13-14 where we bear witness to his infamous five "I will" statements. The final statement is this: "I will be like the most High." In Hebrew, reference to the Most High is rendered "El Elyon" setting God apart from and elevating Him infinitely higher than all beings, whether in heaven or earth. For Satan to believe that he could become like El Elyon shows the extent of his foolish pride. The mysterious Melchizedek, whom Abram met as recorded in Genesis 14:18-20, used the name "the most High" for God. Moses also worshiped God as "the most High" in Deuteronomy 32:8. Since God is revealed to be the possessor of heaven and earth, we learn that His sovereignty and power knows no bounds; the Most High God transcends heaven and earth, including all created things. In Daniel 4:30-34, as punishment for his pride, Nebuchadnezzar would dwell with the beasts of the field and eat grass like oxen... "until thou know that the most High rules in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will". In these and many other instances where the Most High God is used in Scripture, it stresses His strength and sovereignty, meaning His plans always prevail. Now, for the prideful creature we know as Satan, his sin was a direct challenge to the power and authority of God. Just as God uses mankind, Satan is searching for men through whom He can work in order to exercise his authority throughout the earth and establish a powerful kingdom with him as its ruler. He chooses men to carry out his will and help him stop the coming Millennial Kingdom of Christ by destroying every Jew. In the Tribulation period, Satan will empower and use two men, the Antichrist and False Prophet, to establish his kingdom to rule over the earth. His chief goal will be to destroy all witness for God (including Israel) and ensure worship is directed to himself. When Satan works his malign will through rulers of this world, he reproduces his own wicked qualities in them, so that they become virtual shadows, of which, he is the substance. The time is growing ever closer when Satan will unveil his plan to the world, seeking to convince mankind that he is, in fact, the strongest strong one. But it is all a deception. There is only one Most High God and very soon, He will demonstrate His power and sovereignty by establishing the Millennial Reign of Christ throughout the whole world. What a day that will be! America's Moral Sickness: When Murder Becomes a Virtue.

How could 41% of Americans support—or at least not condemn—the cold-blooded murder of Brian Thompson? When Luigi Mangione gunned down the UnitedHealthcare CEO in broad daylight this December, the response was chilling. (Israelnews365.com 1/6)

Doctor-Assisted Suicide May Soon be Legal in Britain.

Currently, any doctor in Britain who assists a patient to die prematurely could spend up to 14 years in prison. However, two physicians and a judge may soon be able to give legal approval for an assisted suicide in the U.K. This is concerning in a nation overseen by a national health care system that can benefit financially by prematurely terminating the lives of the very ill. At the heart of the debate over doctor-assisted suicide is the idea that we all have the right to do to our own bodies whatever we want. However, the Bible teaches differently, noting that the body is the temple of the Holy Ghost and "and ye are not your own" (1 Corinthians 6:19), and that human beings are created in God's own image (Genesis 1:26-27) and their lives are sacred. God, the giver of human life, is the only authority that can sanction the termination of that life (Genesis 9:6-7). (twnews&prophecy.com 12/27)

Russia Will Abandon Its Unilateral Missile Moratorium, Lavrov Says.

Russia will scrap a moratorium on the deployment of intermediate and shorter range nuclear-capable missiles because the United States has deployed such weapons in various regions around the world, Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov said on Sunday. Russia's move, long signaled, will kill off all that remains from one of the most significant arms control treaties of the Cold War, amid fears that the world's two biggest nuclear powers could be entering a new arms race together with China. Russia and the United States, who both admit their relations are worse than at any time since the depths of the Cold War, have both expressed regret about the disintegration of the tangle of arms control treaties which sought to slow the arms race and reduce the risk of nuclear war. Declassified: IDF Raided Iran-Backed Underground Missile Factory in Syria.

On September 8th, 2024, during a special operation by the Israeli Air Force, troops from the Shaldag Unit raided and destroyed an underground compound for manufacturing precision missiles in the Masyaf area, deep in Syrian territory. The raid's target was an underground compound deep in Syrian territory, funded and supported by Iran. The compound was a flagship project for Iran's efforts to arm its terror proxies on Israel's northern border. The compound included advanced assembly lines designed to manufacture precision-guided missiles and long-range rockets, significantly increasing the supply of missiles to Hezbollah and other Iranian terror proxies in the region. This action attests to our boldness and determination to take action everywhere to defend ourselves." (Breitbart.com 1/2)

Turkey's Vision For Syria: A Step Toward Ezekiel 38's Magog Prophecy.

Turkey is actively working to reshape Syria's political and military landscape, aligning it with Ankara's strategic interests and reflecting President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan's broader neo-Ottoman ambitions. Kurdish Spokesperson: 'The Turkish State's Goal is to Bring the Whole of Syria Under its Control'.

There is great joy at the end of the Assad regime, but this is also mixed with fear for the future. Many other groups fear that oppression and repression will now continue under a new flag. These fears are particularly strong in the Democratic Autonomous Administration of North and East Syria (DAANES). A Kurdish-led, quasi-autonomous region, DAANES, covers around a third of Syria's territory and is still not officially recognized by anyone. It has advanced a unique democratic project and push for gender equality, and all positions in its autonomous administration are filled equally by men and women. But it also faces major challenges, in particular the war that Turkey has been waging against it for some years. Assad's downfall has given new impetus to Turkey and the mercenaries it supports.

Pray for the Christians in Syria

Syrian Christians Brace Themselves Amid Complicated Regime Change.

Russia and Iran have lost their hold on the war-torn country, and believers are said to be losing a sort of safe haven. After an 11-day campaign, rebel forces recently succeeded in toppling the 24-year reign of dictator Bashar al-Assad, who cracked down on dissent but promoted himself as the protector of Syria's minorities throughout his rule. While some Christians now place their hopes in the regime's fall, many viewed Assad as the "lesser evil." The main rebel power behind the blitz is Hay'at Tahrir al-Sham (HTS), a local militant group led by Abu Mohammad al-Jolani that appears to be motivated both by Islamism and nationalism. The US has designated it as a foreign terrorist organization since 2018, but Al-Jolani has worked to project an image of tolerance and acceptance for Christians and other religious minorities. Jeff King of International Christian Concern (ICC) believes they are trying to appease the West by saying all the right things, namely that they want to be non-belligerent. Meanwhile, the Christians who remained while millions fled during Syria's years-long civil war are now scrambling for their lives. "This is the birthplace of Christianity. But with radicals free to do what they want, and war, and with Christians without protection, the ones that can flee do," said King. In 2011, there were more than two million Christians in Syria. Al-Assad was a ruthless butcher to some minorities under his thumb, but for the most part, he left Christians alone. "It used to be the safe haven for Christians in the Middle East," the ICC spokesman relayed. "He's a tough dictator, nasty, but the Christians were protected there." About 80% of the Christians in Syria fled during the civil war. The several hundred thousand who remain in the area now have some tough times ahead of them. "This is al-Qaeda and ISIS," King noted. "They're radical Islamists. They rebranded; they said, 'We're all about being modern and tolerant.' I don't believe it for a second. The leopard doesn't change its spots." ICC is already responding to the massive need for food, water, tents, medical care, and more in the area. The organization is hoping to raise $500,000 to deliver that critical aid. (afn.net 12/18)
