

THE MAN WHO STOLE THE SUN

© 2019 by Jay Jacob Wind, all rights reserved ISBN-13: 978-0-9997419-1-7 * Version 11.4

Join us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/groups/TheManWhoStoleTheSun

Each copy is lovingly hand-printed, hand-bound, author-graphed, and mailed to you for $10.00 + $4.00 postage or hand-delivered to you at one of Jay's events for just $10.00

www.arlingtonsunrise.com

Read on Amazon Kindle for just $0.99 www.amazon.com/dp/B0789VMT9D via www.PayPal.com to arlingtonsunrise@gmail.com via www.active.com

or by phone 703-927-4833

Order your copy of THE MAN WHO STOLE THE SUN

Send form and check for $10.00 (delivered) or $14.00 (sent by mail) to

Arlington Sunrise

c/o Jay Jacob Wind
611 South Ivy Street
Arlington VA 22204

or bring this form with you to any of Jay's races

Name _____

Address _____

City, State, ZIP _____ Phone _____

E-mail _____

Enclosed is $10.00 Lovingly hand-delivered to you at any upcoming event:
 $10.00 + $4.00 postage Lovingly hand-printed, hand-bound, and mailed to you
Jay attends all events listed on www.safetyandhealthfoundation.org

“On airplanes going to and from Spokane, I was reading The Man Who Stole The Sun, with lots of yellow buttons with black asterisks. What an intellectual feast! You must have had great fun conjuring up all those scenarios. I have read Hawking, and I am very interested in the universe, black holes, dark matter, quantum physics, parallel universes, etc. I play chess, and I am a sometime runner (but not marathons) so I had lots to which to relate.”
– Roy Englert, USA masters track & field champion

“Love the book! A fast and interesting read! ★★★★★” – Donald Dicostanzo, founder, Pedego Electric Bikes – www.pedego.com “Tremendous. Extraordinary” – Dr. Charles Simone, widely-published oncologist – www.drsimone.com “May you have a great ‘run’ for it!” – Kristin Lems, renowned musician, Evanston Township High School (ETHS) graduate “Very well written” – Dr. Linda Nilson, author of Teaching at Its Best, Clemson University; ETHS graduate “Fantastic news! Hope the book is in for a long run!” – Nan Woodman, noted journalist, ETHS graduate