Mint Global Logistics Plants a Fresh Flag in Manila

Strategic new office expands the company's reach across the Asia-Pacific region

PONTE VEDRA BEACH, Fla. – August 24, 2026 – Mint Global Logistics is officially going farther afield. The Florida-based freight forwarder and customs house brokerage firm today announced the opening of a new strategic office in Manila, Philippines, marking its formal expansion into the Asia-Pacific region.

Manila's position as one of Southeast Asia's most important commercial and maritime hubs makes it a natural next step for a company that already thrives on complex, cross-border shipments. The new location will give Mint closer proximity to key trade lanes, faster coordination with regional partners, and the ability to deliver the same hands-on service its clients expect, just with a few more time zones involved.

"We're not just opening a data processing office. We are opening a customer service-centric APAC location," said Thomas Gilgen, President at Mint Global Logistics. "From Northeast Florida to the ports around the World, our approach stays the same: sharp logistics, proactive problem-solving, and just enough personality to keep things interesting. APAC, you're now officially on the Mint map."

The Manila office will support ocean and air freight, customs brokerage, and end-to-end supply-chain solutions for clients moving goods from and to Asia-Pacific markets.
