

Hello Friends of The Homeless Solution,

Have you ever wondered why a problem like homelessness has not been resolved yet? I will solve this crisis with a new solution, that is economically viable and solves the myriad of problems associated with housing the homeless...

My name is Brian Terrebonne Sr. I am an inventor; I live in the Washington DC area. I have spent many decades as a Realtor, Licensed Builder and Land Developer. My true passion is helping the homeless to find suitable housing in a thoughtful, compassionate, humane, and charitable manner. I have developed a solution that will help to permanently end this crisis. With a lifetime of home design, real estate and site development expertise. I have utilized my inventive mind to design a new housing solution. This solution is an integrated structural building component centered around improving micro home design. This method will allow factory built pre-fab micro homes to be quickly erected, built in a large volume, and placed on land sites, to be built in record numbers and in record time. The time has come for the country to unite together and help our fellow homeless Americans. This new structural component will allow me to solve the homeless crisis in record time, not just in America, and also around the world. This housing solution will create a solid foundation for meaningful change to their personal circumstances, allowing these unfortunate individuals to rebuild their lives with dignity. This product is not a vinyl or wood shed that most (if not all) housing authorities put in place to house the homeless (an extremely poor solution). This solution is different; it is a structurally superior metal housing product. It is super insulated, has renewable energy built into its design, it has a self-contained grey water treatment system, black water electric toilets, it can be easily recycled in an environmentally friendly way. It is resistant to corrosion, resistant to wind, resistant to earth quakes, resistant to Fire, easy to clean, easy to service MEP (Mechanical/HVAC, Electrical, Plumbing), it is designed for energy independence/off grid. It incorporates a high R value building envelope, passive heat/air exchange, easily transportable, can be erected in 1 day, it can be sited on difficult to develop lots, and the structural components are designed to last 125 years. This invention incorporates a structural building component, that will allow the development of microhomes on a massive scale, that are structurally superior to today's micro home designs. This unique design will allow us to utilize lots that were previously functionally or economically obsolete i.e. unusable. These hard to develop sites can now be fully utilized, allowing more land to be used that was formally considered unusable. This is important for the homeless for several reasons; by integrating this unique component into a micro home design, it will solve countless building and site development obstacles. This design will allow the mass production of micro homes and village sites at an affordable cost with time and materials. This design will also allow the buildout of these homes on sites that will "achieve highest and best use" on a scale never before seen in the building industry. Sites can now be fully integrated with PFHO "Pre-Fabricated High Output" micro home manufacturing. The homes will be integrated within a Village Community Concept. This new method will allow me to exceed traditional horizontal land development designs/plans and vertical design/plans. Although this invention can be integrated into numerous other industries, my mission is to dedicate its design into a new micro home and community design solution, that will allow AHJs (Authorities Having Jurisdiction) to promote and enable realistic solutions to the complexities solving the enormous homeless housing problem. We are not just experiencing now but is forecasted to greatly increase in the future, unless a practical and innovative solution is brought forward. That time has arrived and with your help, it will soon be implemented across the country to thwart this ever-growing crisis. Studies have indicated that disconnecting from homeless circumstances can be extremely difficult, it cannot start without a home. It is crucially important to have a home to rebuild your life. Imagine not having a home to safeguard your health, a home for safety, a home to shelter in during bad weather, home for your clothing, home for your housewares, a home to bathe in, a home to store your food, a home to cook meals within, a home for privacy, a home for a computer, a home with a mailing address, a home to charge a phone, a home to safeguard your personal possessions, a home to prepare for work. and a home to celebrate the holidays within. Essentially only this solution will allow structurally superior homes to be built on an industrial scale to meet the immediate needs of the ever-increasing homeless populations across the country (city/state examples: Washington DC, Kensington PA, CA, WA, ID, NV, NY, FL) among other cities and states. Homelessness typically is not a conscious choice or decision. Homelessness primarily happens due to: financial reasons, drug addiction, psychological disorders, marital discord, veteran PTSD, elderliness, disability, impairments to health, job loss due to Ai, or job loss due to unforeseen circumstances, as a few of the many reasons, people can and do experience homelessness. It is a real need and our National Government and our local government(s) have not been able to identify a good solution for this segment of the population. I know a lot of families have experienced similar circumstances with a family member(s); or, possibly we may all have heard from friends or coworkers' stories of people that have been unfortunately forced into homeless and later trapped by the lack of resources to start to maintain a normal life. I have also developed in coordination of this product, a unique design called "Concentric Village Placement" a specialized village design that allows these villages to be integrated into a revolutionary land use model. The overall concept development will utilize three distinct communities with unique services in each village. These solutions are for each metropolitan area that have no practical or functional solution to the homeless crisis. The most important village in this help to pull our friends in need is the care giver village. This village will be on the distant outer parameter of a metropolitan area (substantially outside of city limits), this will allow the homeless encampments to be removed from the city centers, and isolate these individuals with professional care givers, until they receive the help they need and are healed. My concentric village design creates three distinct communities for each resident type. Village 1

(the most important village, The Care Giver Village): This village will house the individuals that are dependent on drugs or alcohol, or may have psychological issues. In a compassionate, and humane way, this village will provide the drug or alcohol or psychological help they need. Village 2 (The Job Training Village): This village will be sited on the outer perimeter of city boundary lines, that will be reserved for those individuals who have been stabilized, trained for jobs and qualified (by being clean, sober, trauma free and trained for employment) to graduate from village #2 to village #3. Village #3 (The Stabilization Village): This village will be located immediately inside a metropolitan job center with public transportation, to allow the residents to rebuild their lives financially by using their job training and new skills to become productive members of society again with dignity. These villages cannot be quickly created without this PFHO design. I need your help to launch this important grass roots initiative, prior to larger funding options being made available. This is an important grass roots initiative. I have the office space to house this effort. I need your help with the extremely high costs of the funding needed to start this initiative. Funding is needed for tooling, manufacturing, marketing, licensing, attorneys' fees, development costs, structural lab verifications of the design, patent expenses, taxes, 501c3 costs and the overall funding needed for the many employees that will be needed to create this desperately needed solution. Essentially, this solution will regentrify our cities and townships and create a brighter future for all Americans. If you can help with a onetime donation, or a monthly donation, no matter what that amount may be... Please remember that your donation will be multiplied by the army of donors who are compassionate about this cause and truly care. Simply put, your help (in any capacity) would be so greatly appreciated!!! In the event you cannot donate your funds, you can help in other ways by volunteering your time in the following areas: Sharing this outreach program with others, Coordinating Emails/Correspondence, handling phone calls, handling the accounting to give transparency to our donors, coordinating meetings, etc. I also genuinely need your help to reach out to the following people that can help aid this cause. I would like to connect with the President of the United States (Federal Government support), I need to connect with the HUD Secretary (initiate program/funding for this housing solution), Local Congressional Representatives (I have gained some traction here), Elon Musk (Engineering support), MacKenzie Scott (Donor support), Dr. Eric Schmidt (Private Equity), Jeff Bezos (funding and political support), Bill Gates (IT and funding support), Warren Buffet (Private Equity/Donor Support), Joe Rogan (Social Media support) These are just a few examples of the people that can help fund, support and launch this campaign to solve the homeless crisis... Essentially anyone you know personally or someone in your sphere of influence that could help with financial donations, volunteer time, or business acumen, that would be willing to donate services or products towards the cause (although your donations will help the most, it does not have to be money).. Essentially any time can provide; or, anyone you can contact that has Economic acumen, Marketing acumen, Engineering expertise, Web Development expertise, Social Media expertise, or Regular people who can spread the word (like, share, post-spreading the word), legal acumen, tax acumen, accounting acumen, political acumen, fund raising expertise, grant expertise, that can help donate their time...please share and have them reach out to me. I have tried numerous ways to reach these individuals however unless you personally know them or know someone that personally knows them, it is virtually impossible to establish communication with them. Your help with this sorely needed social cause for the Homeless would be so very greatly appreciated! Your help will help eliminate homelessness for future generations, business owners, regentrifying neighborhoods, and city centers across America and soon the world. The faster you spread the word to as many people as can join this effort or pass its information along, the faster this rare opportunity can be funded and started.
