How

Tirzepatide works by activating both GLP-1 and GIP receptors—two key hormones that regulate appetite, insulin response, and metabolism. This dual-action effect enhances feelings of fullness, improves how your body processes food, and helps reduce overall calorie intake more effectively.

Support

Our physician-guided program ensures your treatment is customized to your individual goals and response. We provide ongoing support, progress monitoring, and adjustments as needed to help you achieve safe, consistent, and optimal results.

Expectations

Treatment begins with a medical evaluation to confirm eligibility. Most patients start on a lower dose that gradually increases over time to maximize results while minimizing side effects. Progress is steady, with many patients experiencing greater weight loss compared to single-hormone treatments.
