

27 March 2026: StarTrack and TNT Fuel Surcharge Increase

Due to ongoing volatility in fuel prices, both TNT Express and StarTrack have announced updates to their respective fuel surcharge structures. These adjustments ensure that surcharges accurately reflect current fuel-related costs across their networks.

TNT Express – Domestic Fuel Surcharge Update

FedEx applies a fuel surcharge to all domestic shipments as a transparent mechanism to reflect changes in fuel-related costs. These include diesel price movements, fuel costs from transport suppliers, and jet fuel-related charges from airline providers.

Change to Calculation:

Effective 29 March 2026, the domestic fuel surcharge will be updated on a fortnightly basis. This change has been introduced in response to significant fuel price fluctuations and ensures the surcharge more accurately reflects current market conditions.

The fuel surcharge is reviewed regularly and is based on changes in fuel-related cost factors across overall operating expenses.

Domestic Fuel Surcharge Rates:

- 29 March 2026 – 11 April 2026: 38.1%
- 1 March 2026 – 28 March 2026: 22.4%

Future surcharge rates will be published in advance of each fortnightly period to provide visibility ahead of any changes.

StarTrack – Fuel Surcharge Increase

Please be advised of the following regarding a fuel surcharge increase due to continued volatility in fuel prices and to ensure rates are aligned with the latest data.

- Effective Date: 23 April 2026
- Increase: 7.2%

The next fuel surcharge update will be advised on 1 May 2026, with an effective date of 1 June 2026.

Updated Rates:

- StarTrack Express and StarTrack Premium: increasing from 15.5% to 22.7%

For the latest fuel surcharge percentages, please visit: startrack.com.au/pricing-updates

Please refer to the attached advice on our website provided by TNT Express for full details.

If you have any questions, please reach out to your dedicated freight consultant or account manager.

Thank you.