

If I lived above a nuclear silo,
I'd own a dog without any hair;
and my children would be glowing,
playing like radiant children do.
And the wife could cook grand meals
without a worry about unnatural chemicals.
And we could invite the whole world,
but nobody would come to visit me.