

Honest

You never lied to me But so much you didn't say if I had known your feelings where would we be today missed opportunities in life we get so few
If you had been honest with me
Then I might have loved you

Chorus:

I might have loved you and what I was seeing I might have changed my whole life I might have pledged my whole being
if you had been honest with me and I knew where I stood
I might have loved you
I honestly would

if you'd been more open times we lay on the bed in moments so tender but the truth left unsaid if you opened your feelings what were you afraid I'd do?
if you had been honest with me

honesty swings both ways it's a swing made for two you weren't honest with me I wasn't honest with you those words you never uttered are what I'll never forget then years of silence just memories, regret

chorus
