What Is FinLitX™?

FinLitX is an online education platform that provides a Financial Literacy curriculum.

The curriculum is accredited, autonomous and uses the latest in machine learning to maximize student outcomes. As such, school systems reduce administrative costs while increasing student performance. The FinLitX platform may also be used to easily meet government mandates to deliver financial literacy/personal finance curricula to high school students before graduation.

Student engagement is increased as case studies reveal that when financial literacy is included in required lesson plans, augmented by gamification and student rewards, students feel vested in their learning, and are more likely to complete all required coursework to achieve a high school diploma or college degree.

Let FinLitX be your Financial Literacy education partner!
