

Last year, we had "A Day Without a Woman" and "A Day Without Immigrants." During the protests, members of those groups skipped work for a day to show how their contributions to society would be missed. While both movements were laudable, it got us thinking about the workers who don't contribute anything to society. Off the top of our head, we thought of the staff of MAD, but it turns out there's a ton more!

WORKERS WE'D LIKE TO GO A DAY WITHOUT

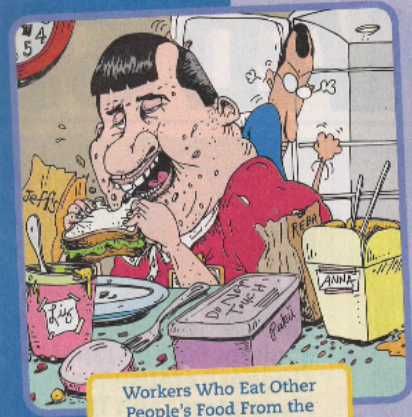

WRITER: ALISON GRAMBS ARTIST: KEVIN POPE

Workers Who Refuse to Take Part in "Secret Santa"

Workers Who Pressure Everyone to Buy Powerball Tickets

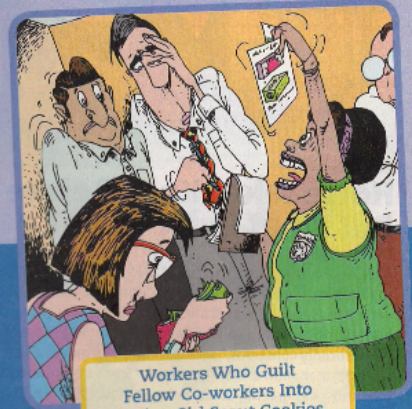

Workers Who Eat Other People's Food From the Communal Refrigerator

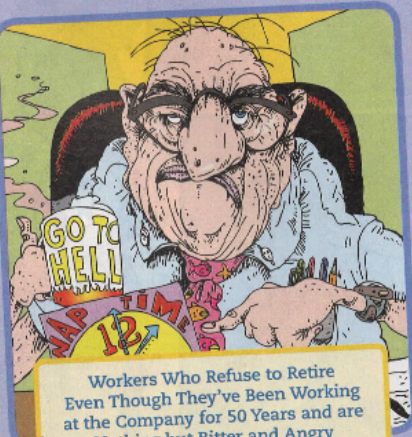

Workers Who Think Casual Fridays are an Excuse to Wear Flip-Flops and Ill-Fitting Yoga Pants – and They're Men

Workers Who Smoke Right Outside the Entrance to the Building

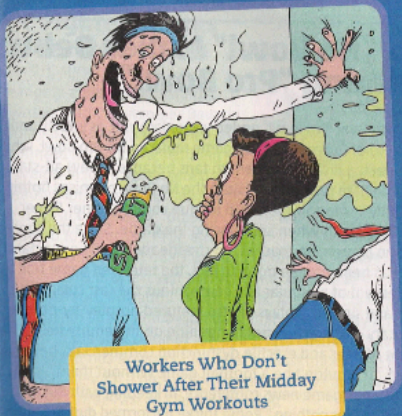

Workers Who Guilt Fellow Co-workers into Buying Girl Scout Cookies

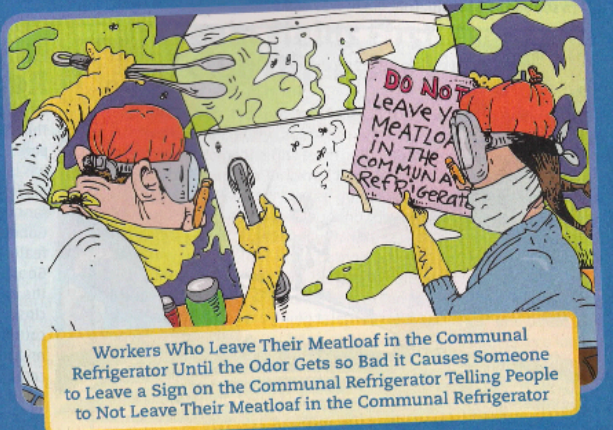

Workers Who Refuse to Retire Even Though They've Been Working at the Company for 50 Years and are Nothing but Bitter and Angry

Workers Who Announce on Monday Mornings Who Got Killed on The Walking Dead Before Everyone Else Has Watched the Latest Episode

Workers Who Don't Shower After Their Midday Gym Workouts

Workers Who Leave Their Meatloaf in the Communal Refrigerator Until the Odor Gets so Bad it Causes Someone to Leave a Sign on the Communal Refrigerator Telling People to Not Leave Their Meatloaf in the Communal Refrigerator