JERVIS PROPERTY – FEATURED PROJECT

Previous Exploration Work

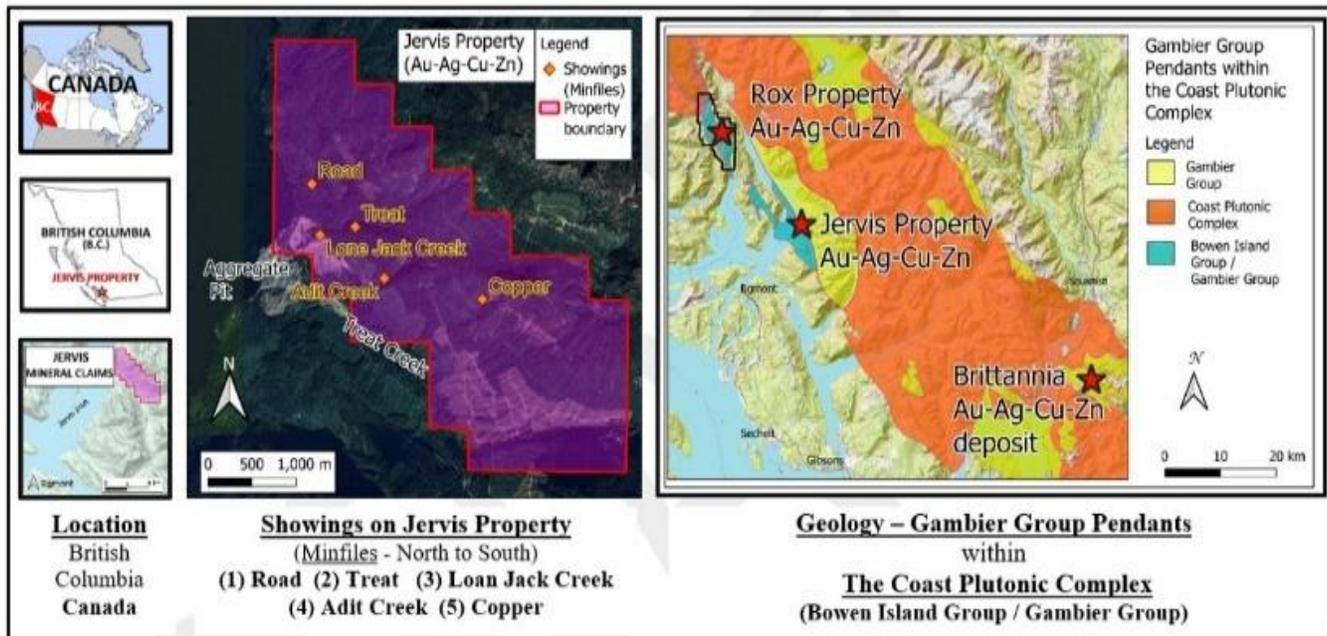

1993 Soil Sampling Program Outlined Strong & Coherent Anomaly

Jervis Project has a Strong & Coherent 2 Km Cu-Ag, Zn Anomaly

Extending In a Broad Northwest Northeast Trending Band

Project will be Advanced Using Modern Technology by an Award-Winning Team

Modern Technology Designed Specifically to Target VMS-Style Mineralization

The Jervis Project has a long exploration history, with open cuts and adits dating back to the 1920s. Approximately 1,371 metres of drilling (* Kidlark & Yacoub, 1989 – see below) were completed in the late 1960s and early 1970s, but these efforts focused on targeted limited surface showings without applying a VMS exploration model, as required.

Subsequent programs—including rock and soil sampling, as well as magnetic (“MAG”) and very low frequency electromagnetic (“VLF”) surveys in 1989 and 1993—highlighted the potential for Britannia-style mineralization.

Previous Exploration Programs (Up to early 1970’s) did not Prioritize Stratigraphic Analysis Which is Essential, as Demonstrated (Per 1989 & 1993 Surveys) for Effective VMS Targeting

Raj Chowdhry stated “Exploration programs previously conducted and publicly disclosed on the Jervis property likely represent an investment of approximately $750,000 to $1,000,000 in today’s dollars. When combined with the promising results ranging up to highs of 1.92% Cu, 9.98 oz/t Ag, and 24.9% Zn, within the highly prospective Gambier Group trend hosting the Britannia Deposit/Mine, from historical sampling, the Jervis Project acquisition has brought the Company and shareholders substantial value, and an immensely exciting opportunity with immense upside. What an ideal way for the Company to kick-start the capitalization on the Jr-Mining Sector-Upturn and strengthen our ability to continue to build and enhance shareholder value, while continuing to patiently wait for right market conditions for zinc prior to further advancing the Company’s long held Gnome Project (Cobalt/Zinc) VIEW! The Company’s Award-Winning Team, having minimized dilution through the mining sector downturn period, which is finally now behind us, is now looking forward to aggressively acquiring additional projects, with some projects already currently under advanced negotiations.”

COMPANY IS PURSUING ADDITIONAL ACQUISITIONS

Projects are Currently Under Review & Advanced Negotiations in Americas for Additional Acquisitions.
