

An aerial photograph of a picturesque lakeside town in Italy. The town is built on a steep, green hillside that descends to a rocky peninsula in the middle of a large lake. The buildings are colorful, with many having terracotta roofs and yellow or orange facades. A prominent white church with a tall, thin spire is visible in the center of the town. The water in the foreground is a vibrant green, while the water further out is a deep blue. In the background, there are more mountains and a sky filled with white clouds. A small boat is visible in the lower right corner of the water.
