

Relocation Guide

A Helpful Guide to Assist you in Making your New Move Run Smoothly!

WELCOME TO BEAUTIFUL LAS VEGAS!

Each month, visitors and new residents flock to Las Vegas to enjoy its warm climate, fabulous resorts, unparalleled entertainment, southwestern lifestyle and economic prosperity.

Because tourism adds up to nearly one-third of the state's annual tax revenue, business owners are not subject to corporate income tax or franchise, inventory or unitary taxes. Residents pay no personal income tax. The minimal tax burden means Nevadans can keep more of the money they earn. U.S. Commerce Department's Economic Analysis Bureau ranks Las Vegas as the top metro area for income per capita, with an annual growth rate of 2.3%.

If you are planning to relocate, Las Vegas should be at the top of your list of desirable locations. The Greater Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce extends a warm welcome - inviting you to get to know our residents, become involved in commerce and call Las Vegas home.

Once considered a famed resort, solely for the purpose of entertainment and gaming, Las Vegas has rapidly developed to become a positive community adapting to the needs of all family life. Home to two of the nations top master planned communities; Summerlin and Green Valley. With its growing economy, low overall taxes, and favorable cost of living, the population of Clark County continues to climb each month. Currently, Clark County is home to nearly 2 million (1.6) people. This population growth continues to make Clark County one of the fastest growing counties in the country.

LAS VEGAS... EDUCATION INFORMATION

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Clark County School District
5100 W. Sahara • Las Vegas, NV 89146
799-5304

The Clark County School District (CCSD) enrollment of 307,059 increased more than 14% from 2000-2010. CCSD is the largest school district in the state and the sixth largest in the nation. The number of schools in the CCSD system has grown to 336 with the opening of 11 new schools that opened this year.

The district has earned accolades for its technological aptitude, comprehensive visual arts programs, advanced self-esteem programs and class-size-reduction program. Furthermore, of the 44 National Merit Scholarship semifinalists in Clark County, 41 of them attend CCSD schools. Each CCSD high school offers honors programs, advanced placement courses, and international baccalaureate classes that provide opportunities for students to receive both high school and college credit through a testing program at the end of the scholastic year. Magnet programs are geared to students from grades one through 12 with special interests, skills and abilities. Unique teaching techniques and strategies are employed to help students focus on their chosen course of study.

More than 500 Southern Nevada businesses are part of the CCSD Community Partnership, a program that focuses on increasing student knowledge and skill levels, making classroom learning more relevant to on-the-job work place experience, and increasing each student's ability to understand what businesses need from their employees. For more information on partnership programs, call 799-6560.

Additional programs offered through CCSD include special education, occupational education, achievement testing, a before and after-school program called Safekey, adult education and tutorials. Parental involvement is encouraged through a number of schools and district opportunities, including the Learning Improvement Team and the Library/Media Committee.

For the past five years, CCSD has provided parents and community members with a comprehensive profile of each public school in the county. This report, distributed annually in the spring to every parent, provides statistics about a school's performance and is also used by the school to develop academic plans to improve achievement. Detailed information regarding this and other programs is available through the CCSD.

University of Nevada, Las Vegas (UNLV)

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas (UNLV), a premier urban university with more than 40 years of community service, is in the midst of a 10-year, campus wide planning effort. New university buildings include a five-story, $55 million library. In 1998, UNLV joined the ranks of only 165 universities in America offering a law school, and recently opened a new school of dentistry.

UNLV has proudly served the area as an educational cornerstone for 40 years. The college houses more than 30 research centers and offers 195 undergraduate, master's and doctoral degree programs, in such areas as architecture, business and economics, communications, education, engineering, health sciences, hotel administration, human performance and development, liberal and performing arts, and science and mathematics. New degree programs include a doctor of musical arts and a master of fine arts in screen writing. For the fall 2005 semester, UNLV's enrollment exceeded 28,095 full-time students. The campus also welcomed 1,400 Millennium Scholars, Nevada high school students who performed at or near the top of their class.

UNLV courses are now offered at CSN's Henderson campus (700 College Drive) and at the new Foothill High School, located across the street from the Community College.

As Southern Nevada grows, UNLV grows with it. The size of the Honors College has doubled in the past three years. The university opened the Paul B. Sogg Architecture Building in fall 1997; the new William S. Boyd School of Law welcomed its first class in August 1998; and the Stan Filton Building opened in 2000; housing the university's gaming education courses.

A $55 million library, which opened in January 2001, comprises the most expensive public works building project in Nevada's history. It will house some 1.8 million volumes and already ranks among the nations most technologically advanced libraries.

Bachelor's degrees may be obtained in management, administration, or information systems; master's degree courses are offered in organizational management, business administration, and education/counseling; and a postbaccalaureate program is offered for a teacher/education certificate.

Charter Schools

In 1997, the state legislature passed laws allowing for the formation of charter schools in the State of Nevada. Although sponsored by the local school district, charter schools maintain their own board of directors and operate independent of the district's policies and regulations.

Charter schools are required to abide by state and county laws, but are given a great deal of latitude in the day-to-day operation of the school. The purpose of such alternative education is to improve education via a setting where innovation, experimentation and research can identify effective methods of instruction and then share those findings with more traditional classroom programs.

Hidden Ways to Help your Heart!

The good news about heart disease is that a healthy heart is within everyone's reach. You already know some of the rules: Consume less fat; Eat fruits and vegetables; and keep blood pressure and cholesterol levels in check. But there are more ways to boost heart health, including some you probably didn't know:

- 1. Don't skip breakfast. Fact: Most heart attacks occur between 7 a.m. and noon—possibly because the cells that help blood to clot, called platelets, are stickiest then. Eating breakfast appears to make platelets less sticky...and less likely to clump together and block a vital artery.
- 2. Cut sweets. Sugar is not directly related to heart disease. But cutting back limits empty calories in your diet and helps leave room for heart-friendly fiber and nutrients.
- 3. Meet the "Bs." You may have heard about the "antioxidants" - Vitamins C, E and beta carotene, which appear to slow plaque formation in the arteries. Now there's evidence that folic acid, vitamin B, and vitamins B6 and B12 may help prevent heart attacks. You'll get all three "Bs" from a balanced diet.

MONORAIL

Las Vegas Monorail Company

3900 Paradise Rd., #260 Las Vegas, NV 89169
699-8200

www.lvmonorail.com

It began as a joint venture between the MGM Grand and Bally's Hotel. Why not create a one-mile transportation system between the hotels, encouraging visitorship to both? It was an exciting, forward-thinking idea that took off in 1993 and soon included plans to expand to other locations along the Strip. In 1997, state legislature passed that enabled the private monorail company to own, operate, and charge a fare as a public monorail system. As expansion plans developed, the Monorail assembled a professional team that included Bombardier Transportation, Carter-Burgess, Gensler & Associates, Granite Construction Company, Liaise Corporation, Salomon Smith Barney and Transit Systems Management. The original monorail system was acquired in 2000 by the nonprofit Las Vegas Monorail Company, formed to develop, own and operate the Las Vegas Monorail.

No public money was needed and no future taxpayer money obligation is planned. The Las Vegas Monorail Company board of directors is made up of five members appointed by the Governor of Nevada.

Today, the Las Vegas Monorail remains the first and only privately owned public transportation system in the U.S. and includes seven stations along its four-mile route. Nearly 32,000 passengers ride the system daily to restaurants, shows, attractions and conventions within the Strip resort corridor.

Area Express (MAX) line to its transit system; and in October 2005 The DEUCE double deck bus service began running on the famous Las Vegas Strip. In just 12 short years, ridership among the RTC's transit services has grown from 14.9 million riders in 1993 to more than 55 million riders in 2005.

The entire system consists of 51 routes served by 365 vehicles, carrying around 180,000 passengers each weekday in the greater Las Vegas Valley. Service enhancements are completed regularly and new transit guides are issued twice each year.

The Regional Transportation Commission of Southern Nevada (RTC) is transforming the image of public transportation and enhancing the quality of life for Southern Nevadans with one of the country's premiere rapid transit projects. A hybrid between bus and rail systems, MAX has many features of rail service with the cost and flexibility of a bus, making it an effective transportation solution.

The MAX project, included as a National Demonstration Project by the Federal Transit Administration (FTA), is the first in the United States to operate the Civic vehicle using the latest technology to provide a high-quality, state-of-the-art, environmentally-friendly transit alternative at a fraction of the cost of a rail service.

AIR TRANSPORTATION

Las Vegas' convention, tourism, and entertainment industries, together with unparalleled outdoor recreation, have stimulated phenomenal growth in Southern Nevada.

Today, nearly half of all Las Vegas visitors arrive by air, via McCarran International Airport, making it a major driving force in the Southern Nevada economy and one of the busiest airports in the world. Income derived from aviation activity generates significant economic benefits estimated at 25 billion dollars a year. In addition to these tangible benefits, McCarran is a valuable community asset that links Southern Nevada to the national air transportation system and brings the world to Las Vegas.

In a city that thrives on tourism, it's become increasingly important to provide travelers a positive first and last impression of Las Vegas by achieving that delicate balance between security and customer service. Whether busy meeting the needs of today's traveler, or preparing for tomorrow's, the Department of Aviation is proud of its ongoing efforts to achieve that objective by building and maintaining state-of-the-art facilities, maximizing existing resources, and capitalizing on new and innovative technology.

McCarran International Airport

To meet the demands of Southern Nevada's growth, in terms of both local residents and the Valley's visitors, the Clark County Department of Aviation (CCDOA) has plans to increase the size and capacity of its existing McCarran Airport facilities and develop an entirely new supplemental airport facility. In calendar year 2011, McCarran International Airport handled over 41 million passengers. This puts McCarran in the top 5 busiest airports in the United States.

Henderson Executive Airport

Henderson, NV 89052 • 261-4800
www.mccarran.com/GeneralAviation/henderson
 To help meet the growing demand for aviation facilities and services in Southern Nevada, the Clark County Department of Aviation invested more than $30 million in Henderson Executive Airport to create a premier corporate aviation facility and an attractive, convenient and economical alternative to McCarran International Airport. The facilities at HND are tailored to the discriminating general aviation pilot and corporate client. As a primary reliever airport to busy McCarran, HND provides all the necessary services and amenities to make your trip pleasant and convenient.

The airfield has the capacity and runway length to meet the needs of virtually all general aviation aircraft, saving precious time and money for those choosing HND. A beautifully appointed terminal building opened on June 13, 2006, providing a seamless transition between aircraft and ground transportation. A new standalone air traffic control tower and 95 new private aircraft storage hangars have also been placed into service.

"Over time, more and more aircrafts, cars and travelers have battled for space within an airport whose initial developers never envisioned a time when more than 40 million passengers would become an annual norm. With 1.9 million square feet divided over three levels, McCarran's new terminal, T3, is a massive facility. Its spacious eight-mile roadway system was designed to efficiently move motor vehicles in and out while an eight story, 6,000-space garage will fulfill parking needs for decades. To increase efficiency and reduce waiting times, travelers at T3 will also enjoy some of the airline industry's latest technologies such as self-boarding equipment and self-service baggage tagging to ease the check-in process for participating air carriers. These improved measures will support added growth within Southern Nevada's tourism industry."
