Israel drops threatening flyers in south Syria following nighttime strike nearby
In pamphlets, IDF warns Syrian troops to stop cooperating with Hezbollah and takes responsibility for a June attack on a Syrian base that it says was used by the terror group
By Judah Ari Gross Today, 6:27 pm

The Israel Defense Forces reportedly dropped threatening pamphlets in southern Syria on Wednesday, warning Syrian soldiers to stop cooperating with Hezbollah, hours after reportedly conducting twin missile strikes on a Syrian military base and an outpost controlled by the Lebanese terror group.

The flyers, which were written in Arabic and addressed to “Syrian [Arab] Army soldiers,” matched the style of similar leaflets that have been dropped in Syria in the past and included the silhouette of an eagle — the symbol of the IDF’s 210th “Bashan” Division, which is tasked with defending Israel’s frontier with Syria and the Golan Heights. The IDF refused to comment on the matter.

In the pamphlet, the Israeli military appeared to take responsibility for the shelling of a Syrian army base earlier this summer. The Israeli military has not publicly acknowledged conducting that strike or most others that it has carried out in Syria in recent years, under its general policy of ambiguity regarding its efforts against Hezbollah in the country.

“Despite our previous warnings about this and even after the attack on the al-Qahtaniah base on 17/06/21, Hezbollah — in a manipulative way — has turned you into a tool, into marionettes. It uses you as its eyes and it uses your bases without you even knowing,” the flyer reads.

The flyer also directly names the Hezbollah official that the IDF believes is facilitating the relationship between the Iran-backed terror group and the Syrian military, Jawad Hasham, the son of Hajj Hasham, who leads Hezbollah’s efforts along the Syrian border.

“It is no secret that Jawad Hasham is currently in the Golan and in Daraa. Your filthy actions on behalf of Hezbollah are considered by the Syrian Army to be a top priority,” the flyer reads.

The pamphlet accuses the Syrian military of allowing Hezbollah to operate within the bases and under the auspices of its 90th Brigade “in order to develop lookout capabilities and for other efforts.”

“Be careful with your actions, you are being watched through a microscope. Hasham’s help has brought you destruction and his bad intentions are coming out. You are responsible for your actions, and Hezbollah is responsible for your suffering,” it says.

According to a pro-opposition Syrian source in the Golan Heights, the office of the 90th Brigade commander, Brig. Gen. Hussein Hamoush, near the city of Khader, was one of the two targets of a missile strike on Tuesday night, which Syria said Israel had carried out. The second target was said to be a Hezbollah outpost in the area.

The IDF has repeatedly accused Syrian dictator Bashar Assad’s military of actively assisting Hezbollah and warned it against this, both through flyers dropped along the border and through overt, public appeals, in some cases naming the Syrian and Hezbollah officials involved, including officers from Syria’s 90th Brigade and 1st Division.

Israel has launched hundreds of strikes against Iran-linked targets in Syria over the years and against Syrian military installations in cases where they were being used to attack Israel or Israeli forces.

Israel fears Iranian entrenchment on its northern frontier, and it has repeatedly struck Iran-linked facilities and weapons convoys destined for Hezbollah. <https://www.timesofisrael.com/israel-drops-threatening-flyers-in-south-syria-following-nighttime-strike-nearby/>

Bennett and Biden meeting in Washington set for August 26

Prime minister to make snap 48-hour trip to US due to COVID precautions; premier says visit will focus on Iran, but White House says sides will discuss Palestinian issue too

By Jacob Magid Today, 9:28 pm

NEW YORK — Prime Minister Naftali Bennett will fly to Washington next week where he will meet with US President Joe Biden for the first time, the White House and an Israeli official said Wednesday.

The two will meet at the White House on August 26, the White House confirmed in a statement from Press Secretary Jen Psaki.

Tensions with Iran will be high on the agenda for the Thursday meeting, though it will also likely be overshadowed by the Taliban takeover of Afghanistan, with Biden under fire over the chaotic US pullout and facing questions over Washington’s commitment to other allies around the globe.

Psaki said the visit would “strengthen the enduring partnership between the United States and Israel, reflect the deep ties between our governments and our people, and underscore the United States’ unwavering commitment to Israel’s security.” [Just as an interesting thought. Why does Bennett want to waste his time meeting with a person who is obviously significantly incapacitated and who is likely to be ‘sidelined’ or replaced in the near future? He would do better to arrange an appointment and meet with the Obamanation or with Soros who seem to be pulling all the strings. – rdb]

“The President and Prime Minister Bennett will discuss critical issues related to regional and global security, including Iran,” she said.

She added that peace efforts with the Palestinians would also be discussed,

Bennett’s visit is not expected to last more than 48 hours due to COVID precautions, sources in the Prime Minister’s Office said. It will be his second foreign visit since taking office in June, following an earlier trip to Jordan to meet with King Abdullah.

Bennett will leave Israel on Tuesday, the PMO confirmed.

Just weeks ago, Bennett had urged Israelis to refrain from travel abroad in order to prevent the import of new COVID-19 variants. Both Israel and parts of the US are facing surging infection numbers, largely blamed on the Delta variant of the virus.

Members of Bennett's delegation will remain together for the entire trip and will not leave their hotel except for official meetings, according to the Walla news site.

The PMO had initially hoped the visit would include a stop in New York for meetings with American Jewish leaders, but such plans had to be shelved as cases continued to rise both in Israel and the US.

Asked about the trip during a Wednesday press conference, Bennett refrained from confirming that it had been set, but said his meeting with Biden would be an important one, focusing primarily on the issue of Iran.

"We completed a process of formulating a policy... about the Iranian issue in all dimensions," Bennett said.

He touted "an approach of cooperation, an approach that will know how to block Iran's negative regional activities of instability, harming of human rights, terror and preventing Iran from advancing toward a nuclear weapon breakout."

"Iran is at the most advanced point ever in the field of [uranium] enrichment, but we know and we have a plan to deal with this and maintain the security of Israeli citizens," Bennett added.

Bennett's office had been hoping the visit would take place in July after receiving an invitation already in June, but a combination of the White House's busy schedule and the premier's desire to wait until after the Knesset recessed this month pushed off what will be the first-ever meeting between the two leaders.

Former prime minister Benjamin Netanyahu was a frequent visitor to the White House, but his public battle with former president Barack Obama and close ties with former president Donald Trump soured some in the Biden administration toward him. Officials have expressed hopes that Bennett and Biden can foster a new chapter in the relationship.

While a coalition source close to Bennett told the Times of Israel last month that the premier hoped a new ambassador to the US would be in place in time for the White House visit, that will not be the case. Bennett announced former brigadier general Mike Herzog as his pick for envoy to replace former prime minister Benjamin Netanyahu's ambassador Gilad Erdan, but Herzog has yet to be approved by the cabinet. A spokesperson for Erdan, who agreed to step down but stay on as UN envoy, said he would continue serving as ambassador to the US next week as well.

A spokesperson for Erdan, who agreed to step down but stay on as UN envoy, said he would continue serving as ambassador to the US next week as well.

The visit will come as the Biden administration faces significant criticism over its ongoing pullout of US troops from Afghanistan, and Israeli officials told Axios that they hope Bennett's meeting won't be overtaken by the news.

The officials also expressed disappointment over Biden's handling of the crisis, saying that "the US wants to disengage from the Middle East but finds out the Middle East is running after it."

Analysts have noted that some US allies may reconsider their reliance on the US in the wake of the debacle. Hezbollah chief: Israel should learn from Afghanistan that US is unreliable

'Those watching most closely and drawing conclusions from this are the Israelis,' Hassan Nasrallah says after Taliban takeover

By Aaron Boxerman and AFP Today, 8:33 pm

The leader of Lebanon's Hezbollah terror group on Tuesday called the conduct of the United States during the Taliban's conquest of Afghanistan "the moral downfall of America."

In a televised speech carried by official Hezbollah media, Hassan Nasrallah said the US pullout should cause people to rethink the potential future of US support for Israel.

“Those watching most closely and drawing conclusions from this are the Israelis,” he said.

“In order not to have Americans fighting for other [nations], [President Joe] Biden was able to accept a historic failure. When it comes to Lebanon and those around it, what will be the case there?” Nasrallah asked rhetorically.

The Taliban retook power on Sunday after the US-backed government collapsed when Islamist militants entered the capital Kabul following a lightning conquest of Afghanistan.

“Everybody must consider it and meditate upon it,” Nasrallah said, referring to the Taliban’s victory. “Those who most need to draw conclusions and wisdom from this are the peoples of this region.”

Nasrallah scathingly remarked that the US did not extract many Afghans who had collaborated with them from Taliban-controlled Afghanistan.

“They evacuated the dogs who worked in the security forces, but not those who aided them. They took out their equipment, but left the human beings behind... these are the Americans,” Nasrallah said.

Iran’s Supreme National Security Council secretary Ali Shamkhani tweeted a similar message Wednesday, claiming that “the fate of the US in Vietnam and Afghanistan will be the unchangeable fate of the occupying Zionist regime too.”

“The end of any occupation is a humiliating expulsion,” he added in a post that was also published in Hebrew, albeit with several translation errors.

Israeli opposition leader Benjamin Netanyahu wrote on Facebook earlier Wednesday that US secretary of state John Kerry had sought to bring him to Afghanistan in 2013 in order to show him how the US could build an army of locals that could fight terror.

“The message was clear — the ‘Afghani model’ was the model that the US wanted to implement with the Palestinians,” he wrote.

“We would get the same results [as Afghanistan] if we gave parts of our homeland to the Palestinians,” he claimed.

On Sunday, a senior official in Hamas, the terror group that rules the Gaza Strip, also linked the Taliban’s fight against the American-backed Afghani government and Hamas’s fight against Israel.

“The Taliban are victorious today after being accused of backwardness and terrorism. They emerge today as a smarter and more realistic movement. They confronted America and its agents and refused to compromise with them. They were not deceived by bright headlines about ‘democracy’ and ‘elections,’” Moussa Abu Marzouk tweeted Monday.

Along with Hamas, Islamic Jihad congratulated the Taliban on their conquest of Afghanistan, which the Palestinian terror group called “the liberation of [Afghani] land from the Western and American occupation.”

Analysts have warned the Taliban’s takeover of Afghanistan risks emboldening jihadists worldwide. [Jihadis worldwide are all celebrating the defeat of American hegemony and its loss of a significant position in the world leadership. This is a terribly dangerous time for the people of America. There is a very large contingent of foreign related terrorist in this land. Many have come in because of terrible immigration management as we have seen from Ilhan Omar as well as many others on CAIR and a huge number of crossed illegally through the southern border. Our friend Avi Lipkin has said for years that these groups are simply waiting for the green light from their various leaderships to go into action and begin a major push in the USA. I wouldn’t be surprised if that time is very near. – rdb]

“The Taliban’s victory will give jihadist groups worldwide a major boost. It makes them believe that they can expel foreign powers, even major military powers like the United States,” Colin Clarke, director of research at the New York-based Soufan Center think tank, told AFP.

“I expect to see a major propaganda blitz culminating on the 20-year anniversary of the 9/11 attacks. This will improve morale for jihadis from North Africa to Southeast Asia,” he added.

Aymenn Jawad Al-Tamimi, a fellow at George Washington University’s Program on Extremism, said that the example of the Taliban’s patience would convince jihadists around the world to keep fighting, despite the existing hostility between the Afghan fundamentalists and Islamic State.

“The Taliban’s takeover of Afghanistan is something that actually emboldens jihadists everywhere although the IS is not necessarily happy about it.”

“When groups see the Taliban celebrating victory, I think it convinces them that if they just keep fighting, eventually those they are fighting will collapse, whether it’s in Somalia or West Africa.

“Eventually they just hope the powers backing these governments they fight will withdraw.”

Al-Qaeda’s propaganda arm Al-Thabat has already welcomed the Taliban takeover of Afghanistan, saying that “Muslims and Mujahideen in Pakistan, Kashmir, Yemen, Syria, Gaza, Somalia and Mali are celebrating the liberation of Afghanistan and the implementation of Sharia within it.” <https://www.timesofisrael.com/hezbollah-head-israel-should-learn-from-afghanistan-that-us-is-unreliable/>

Terror group’s chief Nasrallah doesn’t say how ship will deliver cargo in defiance of US sanctions

By AFP and TOI staff Today, 1:51 pm

Hezbollah terror group chief Hassan Nasrallah said Thursday a tanker would set off from Iran “within hours” to bring desperately needed fuel supplies to Lebanon, in defiance of US sanctions.

Many questions remain about how the shipment would reach its stated destination, where acute and growing fuel shortages have forced hospitals, businesses and government offices shut amid a crippling economic crisis.

But the move, prohibited by US sanctions on Iran’s oil industry, could drag Lebanon into the covert naval war between Tehran and Israel. Nasrallah dared Iran’s foes to stop the shipment.

“The vessel, from the moment it sails in the coming hours until it enters (Mediterranean) waters, will be considered Lebanese territory,” he said during a televised speech to mark the Shiite Muslim commemoration of Ashura.

“To the Americans and Israelis, I say: it’s Lebanese territory.”

He said a first ship would bring fuel for “hospitals, manufacturers of medicine and food, as well as bakeries and private generators.” He said more vessels would follow to address shortages that have ground Lebanon to a halt.

Bennett meets Egyptian spy chief on Gaza, is invited to visit Cairo within weeks

Egyptian President Abdel-Fattah el-Sissi has invited Prime Minister Naftali Bennett to make an official visit to Egypt within the next few weeks, the premier’s office announced Wednesday.

The invitation was relayed to Bennett by Egyptian General Intelligence Directorate chair Abbas Kamel, who was visiting Jerusalem for talks with the prime minister and Defense Minister Benny Gantz.

The meeting with the Egyptian spy chief was the first since Bennett took office in June.

Bennett and Sissi had previously agreed to meet when they spoke by phone shortly after Bennett’s government was sworn in.

The visit would be the first public visit by an Israeli premier since 2011, when prime minister Benjamin Netanyahu met with president Hosni Mubarak in the Sinai resort city of Sharm el-Sheikh. Netanyahu also reportedly paid a secret, unofficial visit in 2018.

Kamel met with Bennett in Jerusalem at the Prime Minister's Office, which said the two discussed bilateral ties between the countries and "the matter of Egyptian mediation in the security situation vis-a-vis the Gaza Strip."

Egypt helped broker the truce that ended the 11-day conflict in May between Israel and Hamas, the terror group that rules Gaza.

Senior defense officials told Zman Yisrael, The Times of Israel's Hebrew sister publication, that the meeting with Kamel was not connected to ongoing talks over allowing Qatari funds to enter the Gaza Strip.

After meeting with senior Israeli officials, Kamel visited the West Bank city of Ramallah for talks with Palestinian Authority President Mahmoud Abbas, according to official Palestinian media.

A statement carried by the official PA Wafa news agency said Abbas and the intelligence chief discussed "the developments in the Palestinian territories and ways to strengthen bilateral relations and achieve stability and peace in the region."

Kamel's trip comes two days after two rockets were fired from Gaza toward the town of Sderot in a brief flare-up of violence amid a shaky calm in place since the May war. One of the missiles was intercepted by the Iron Dome defense system and the second landed inside the Strip. Israel has so far not responded to the launch.

It also comes ahead of Bennett's planned trip to Washington, with Egypt seeking to prove to the Biden administration that it plays a key role in securing stability in the region.

Cairo has participated in efforts to secure the ceasefire between Israel and Hamas that it brokered to end the fighting in May.

Following the May conflict, Israel initially said that it would only allow basic humanitarian aid into the beleaguered enclave, unless Hamas released two Israeli civilians it has held in captivity for years, along with the remains of two IDF soldiers. It also conditioned aid to rebuilding Gaza on the matter.

However, in recent days Jerusalem has appeared to soften its stance, gradually scaling back its blockade of Gaza and allowing more and more goods and people into and out of the Strip, at the request of the United Nations and foreign governments.

Israel has so far avoided responding militarily to the rockets fired from Gaza, due to sensitive ongoing negotiations with Hamas that have the potential to reach a breakthrough, Channel 12 news reported Tuesday.

According to the report, which did not cite a source, there is a possibility of a deal that will allow Qatari funds to enter Gaza and could include the release of the Israelis being held by Hamas.

Bennett and Gantz held meetings at the military's Gaza Division Tuesday. According to the network, IDF intelligence officials and the Shin Bet told the pair that they believe a chance must be given for talks to succeed.

The report said that the rocket fired on Monday was launched by Islamic Jihad members. Hamas quickly arrested them and then conveyed to Israel that it was not behind the rocket fire and was not interested in an escalation of violence, it said.

Discussing Israel's position on Gaza reconstruction, a senior Israeli official told The Times of Israel recently that while the main players in the talks mediated by Cairo may be Israel and Hamas, Jerusalem has been adamant that the negotiation table be expanded to include Ramallah.

"We are saying that the PA needs to be part of this equation... because it is the moderate faction," the official argued. Israel is hoping this approach will result in Ramallah being tasked with distributing Qatari humanitarian aid in Gaza, the official said, while admitting that the matter is dependent on approval from Hamas and Qatar. [This will be a grand failure for Israel's leadership. Ramallah is good for corruption and only for corruption. To put them in a position of power over the money will be nothing but folly. = rdb]

PA minister Ahmad Majdalani said earlier this month that officials in Doha and Ramallah agreed on a broad framework to again transfer Qatari funds to the Gaza Strip, but Palestinian banks are holding up its implementation.

Since 2018, Qatar has provided over $300 million in subsidies to Gaza, which is ruled by Doha's Hamas clients. Israel allowed the funds into the tightly blockaded coastal enclave in exchange for quiet on its southern border.

The Qatari projects funded fuel for Gaza's only power plant and hospitals to shore up the enclave's damaged healthcare system. They also brought in hundreds of millions in cash payments to both 100,000 poor Gazan families and to Hamas's civil servants.

Qatar rejects frequent accusations that the money goes to terror groups in the enclave, saying Israel knows how the money is distributed. <https://www.timesofisrael.com/bennett-meets-egyptian-spy-chief-on-gaza-is-invited-to-visit-cairo-within-weeks/>

Early data from the booster shot campaign has reportedly shown promising results, with some health officials predicting that re-upping the vaccine across the population will tamp down on a major surge in infections wracking the country. [Total Garbage. – rdb]

Health officials told Channel 12 news that a panel of experts and Health Ministry director Nachman Ash were likely to swiftly okay expanding the booster program to all Israelis who had been eligible for the first two doses.

They cited high levels of antibodies identified in elderly populations who have received the booster in addition to limited reported side effects.

US health authorities announced earlier Wednesday that they would begin making the booster shots available to all Americans on September 20. Prime minister says serious morbidity likely to further climb but warns lockdowns 'destroying the future of the country, and will only be used as a 'last line of defense'

By Alexander Fulbright Today, 10:24 pm

Prime Minister Naftali Bennett on Wednesday pushed back against the prospect of imposing another lockdown amid surging coronavirus cases, touting increased vaccination as the best path to reducing morbidity.

"If Israeli citizens continue to be vaccinated on a large scale, we can overcome the Delta variant," Bennett said during a televised press conference, referring to the highly contagious strain of SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19. [Bennett like most world leaders who are multimillionaires is about as qualified to make this recommendation as a garbage collector, who would probably stop and actually try to look at facts before doing so. – rdb]

Have they tried any other modalities _ NO WAY! – rdb]

According to the latest Health Ministry figures, there are 59,218 active COVID cases, with 991 hospitalized, 600 in serious condition and 103 on ventilators. Since midnight, there have been 4,583 more confirmed infections Wednesday, with 5.39 percent of tests coming back positive. [Active cases mean a positive PCR test. Really sick ?? Probably the 103 on ventilators and did they have comorbidities? – rdb]

The death toll rose to 6,723, with two fatalities since midnight. On Tuesday, 16 people died from COVID complications.

The ministry also reported that 5,866,132 people in Israel have received at least one vaccine shot, while 5,428,573 received two doses. Another 1,166,624 have received a booster shot, which Israel recently began administering to people older than 60, becoming the first country to do so. It has since expanded eligibility to those over 50 and also giving boosters to the immunocompromised.

“The decision was not easy for us, but we knew it was the right way to fight the coronavirus,” Bennett said of the booster shots.

In dealing with the current wave of morbidity, Bennett said the government’s aim was to look out for both the health and livelihoods of Israelis. MORE- <https://www.timesofisrael.com/bennett-pushes-vaccines-over-lockdown-as-serious-cases-hit-5-month-high/> [The behavior of the Israeli government dealing with this is simply terribly sad and discouraging and actually probably bordering on criminal. ## TAU researchers tout ‘breakthrough’ 3D bioprints of active tumor

Scientists at Tel Aviv University boast development of technology will help in finding optimal treatments for each tumor, coming up with future treatments

Researchers at Tel Aviv University say the first 3D bioprinting of an entire active tumor marks a scientific breakthrough that will aid the battle against cancer by allowing researchers to develop bespoke cures in a simulated setting.

The university announced Wednesday that the researchers created a 3D print of glioblastoma — the deadliest type of brain cancer — from human tissues that contain all components of the malignant tumor.

“The breakthrough will enable much faster prediction of best treatments for patients, accelerate the development of new drugs and discovery of new druggable targets,” the university said in a statement.

The 3D model of the tumor includes “a complex system of blood vessel-like tubes through which blood cells and drugs can flow, simulating a real tumor,” according to the university.

The study was led by Prof. Ronit Satchi-Fainaro, who heads the university’s Cancer Research and Nanomedicine Laboratory. Numerous other researchers helped develop the 3D models, which the university said used samples taken from neurosurgery patients at Tel Aviv’s Ichilov Hospital.

Satchi-Fainaro explained that the team decided to use 3D bioprinting after being unable to detect a protein that was helping the cancer cells spread rather than fighting them when using 2D petri dish samples.

“The reason is that cancer, like all tissues, behaves very differently on a plastic surface than it does in the human body,” she said.

“It’s not only the cancer cells,” Satchi-Fainaro continued. “It’s also the cells of the microenvironment in the brain... The physical and mechanical properties of the brain are different from those of other organs.”

She and the research team thus created a 3D model to be able to develop the best form of treatment for each patient.

“If we take a sample from a patient’s tissue, together with its extracellular matrix, we can 3D bioprint from this sample 100 tiny tumors and test many different drugs in various combinations to discover the optimal treatment for this specific tumor,” she said. “Alternately, we can test numerous compounds on a 3D-bioprinted tumor and decide which is most promising for further development and investment as a potential drug.”

The 3D bioprint was first used by the team to investigate the role of the P-selectin in boosting the growth of tumors in mice. Those results, published earlier this year, raised hopes for the development of P-selectin blockers that can help inhibit cancer growth.

“We found by blocking the expression of P-selectin we stop the microglia from suppressing the immune system and supporting tumor growth in the brain. We were able to successfully test this on mice, and on tumor cells in the 3D model, with very encouraging results,” she told The Times of Israel in April.

Prof. Ronit Satchi-Fainaro, Director of the Cancer Biology Research Center and the Head of the Cancer Research and Nanomedicine Laboratory at Tel Aviv University (courtesy of Tel Aviv University)

Glioblastoma only has a 40 percent survival rate after a year and 5% after five years, even with surgery, radiotherapy and chemotherapy.

“We’re talking about one of the most aggressive cancers, which is considered stage four from diagnosis, and this is really exciting,” she said at the time. “It is paving the way for a new therapy for a disease that hasn’t had anything new in terms of treatment over the last decade.”

The team’s research on the benefits of 3D bioprints was published Wednesday in the peer-reviewed academic journal Science Advances.

Satchi-Fainaro noted the difficulty of discovering “novel druggable target proteins and genes in cancer cells” of a human patient.

An Arab man was stabbed and seriously injured late Wednesday night by a group of Jewish men near Jerusalem’s Mahane Yehuda market, according to Hebrew media reports.

The man, who was said to be 19, was hospitalized at Shaare Zedek Medical Center in the capital with serious injuries, medics said. The hospital later said he was in moderate and stable condition.

According to the Walla news site, the man was waiting for a ride home from work when he was set upon by a group of Jewish Israeli men.

“Six guys who were looking for a fight passed by. A fight broke out and they stabbed him all over his body,” an eyewitness told Walla. “He started running until he collapsed.”

Police arrived at the scene on Agrippas Street and were investigating a terror motive, the report said.

The information was not immediately confirmed by police early Thursday and no arrests were immediately reported.

WHO: Third COVID-19 vaccine unnecessary

The comments came just before the US said it planned to make the booster shots widely available to all Americans starting on Sept. 20 as infections from the Delta variant rise.

By REUTERS AUGUST 18, 2021 18:06

Current data does not indicate that COVID-19 booster shots are needed, the World Health Organization (WHO) said on Wednesday, adding that the most vulnerable people worldwide should be fully vaccinated before high-income countries deploy a top-up.

The comments came just before the US government said it planned to make the booster shots widely available to all Americans starting on Sept. 20 as infections from the Delta variant of the coronavirus rise.

WHO chief scientist Soumya Swaminathan, asked about the need for boosters to increase protection against the disease, told a Geneva news conference: "We believe clearly that the data today does not indicate that boosters are needed."

Further research was needed, she added.

WHO senior adviser Bruce Aylward, referring to booster shots being administered in high-income countries, told reporters: "There is enough vaccine around the world, but it is not going to the right places in the right order."

Two doses should be given to the most vulnerable worldwide before boosters are administered to those fully-vaccinated, he said, adding: "We are a long, long way from that." <https://www.jpost.com/health-science/who-third-covid-19-vaccine-unnecessary-677074>

Study warns COVID booster shots are not 'the solution' to Delta

Israeli results find the vaccinated infected just about as often as unvaccinated

By Bob Unruh Published August 18, 2021 at 7:42pm

COVID-19 surged, infected millions, killed a large number, and then started waning. Then it surged and waned around the globe. And now it's a variant, Delta, that is surging all over.

Some health officials are saying that, in addition to everyone needing to take the experimental vaccines, those who already are vaccinated now might need a booster shot.

Mandates haven't developed there yet, and there have been opinions on both sides of that issue regarding Delta, which appears to be able to infect the vaccinated and unvaccinated alike.

But now a report in ScienceMag quotes Dvir Aran, a biomedical data scientist in Israel, who said that those who have access to vaccines, "Do not think that the boosters are the solution."

Uri Shalit, a bioinformatician at the Israel Institute of Technology, also known as Technion, said the problem from Delta is vastly different from the first surges in COVID-19 infections.

"There are so many breakthrough infections that they dominate and most of the hospitalized patients are actually vaccinated," Shalit confirmed.

According to the report, Israel has about the highest level of vaccination for COVID-19 in the world, with 78% of those 12 and older fully vaccinated, the vast majority with the Pfizer vaccine.

"Yet the country is now logging one of the world's highest infection rates, with nearly 650 new cases daily per million people. More than half are in fully vaccinated people, underscoring the extraordinary transmissibility of the Delta variant and stoking concerns that the benefits of vaccination ebb over time," the report revealed.

Israeli Health Minister Nitzan Horowitz explained, as his nation became the first to offer a third dose of COVID-19 vaccine, that he has a warning to the world:

Even the best vaccinated nations in the world can face a Delta surge.

Ran Balicer, chief innovation officer at Callit Health Services, Israel's biggest HMO, said, "If it can happen here, it can probably happen everywhere."

Israel throughout COVID had led with vaccinations.

"I watch [details from Israel] very, very closely because it is some of the absolutely best data coming out anywhere in the world," explained David O'Connor, of the University of Wisconsin.

Its vaccine rates always have been high, and its medical industry has provided a trove of metrics on coronavirus.

But now, with Delta, the immunity may be waning.

A report from MHS found that protection from COVID-19 infection during June and July dropped in proportion to how long ago the patient was vaccinated.

"People vaccinated in January had a 2.26 times greater risk for a breakthrough infection than those vaccinated in April," the report said.

As of now, about three-fifths of all hospitalized COVID patients are patients who previously were vaccinated.

While new cases there were scarcely registering at the start of summer, Israel now has the highest level in months.

And a further warning from the results is that "breakthrough" cases are not even rare.

As of the middle of August, 514 Israelis were hospitalized with severe or critical COVID-19, a 31% increase from just 4 days earlier. Of the 514, 59% were fully vaccinated. Of the vaccinated, 87% were 60 or older, the report revealed.

Shalit explained, "One of the big stories from Israel [is]: 'Vaccines work, but not well enough.'"

Threat to students for no vaccine proof: No Wi-Fi access and thousands in fines

'A weekly charge, costing up to $2,275 for the semester'

By Bob Unruh Published August 18, 2021 at 4:32pm

Ancient civilizations frequently had their levels of citizenship that ranged from slave, through freedman to nobles. Some contemporary nations still have castes, including one for untouchables.

The newest version of that division of people into different classes has been announced at Quinnipiac University, where students who fail to provide proof of COVID vaccinations will be deprived of Wi-Fi access.

And fined sums potentially reaching into the thousands.

Broadcast outlet WHDH reported the Connecticut school, in an email, warned 600 students who have failed to meet the university's demand to share a copy of their COVID-19 vaccination record.

The school claimed the health records demand is to "protect the health of our entire university community."

The vaccines currently available in the United States all are experimental, and while they have had a significant impact on the number of original COVID case being reported, a new Delta variant of the coronavirus seems to be able to infect the vaccinated and unvaccinated just about alike.

But the report said the school informed students who fail to provide their papers "will face a weekly charge, costing up to $2,275 for the semester. The fee starts at $100 per week for the first two weeks of the semester and increases by $25 every two weeks up to a maximum of $200 per week."

Unvaccinated students also were told they'll have weekly, on-campus testing.

Further, the school threatened that access to the Quinnipiac network and Wi-Fi system will be revoked if a student has not fulfilled the vaccination requirement by Sept. 14, the report said.

The Daily Wire noted that the penalties "presumably" are for students who have not acquired a medical or religious exemption to the demand they take experimental vaccines.

The report noted, "Many universities have opted to institute vaccine mandates for students who wish to return to campus learning, including large public universities such as Indiana University, Rutgers University, and Michigan State University."

But there are other schools, such as the University of Michigan, are pursuing requirements for students and faculty to wear face masks, in addition to being vaccinated. <https://www.wnd.com/2021/08/threat-students-no-vaccine-proof-no-wi-fi-access-thousands-fines/> [Sorry folks but the US government needs to suspend ALL FUNDS to schools who do this. ## Prof granted vaccine exemption after 'natural immunity' lawsuit

'I speak for tens of millions of Americans in the same circumstances'

By Art Moore Published August 18, 2021 at 7:11pm

After filing a lawsuit arguing he obtained "natural immunity" from COVID-19 after being infected with the novel coronavirus, George Mason University granted a professor a medical exemption from its COVID-19 vaccine mandate.

Lawyers for Todd Zywicki, a law professor at the Fairfax, Virginia, university, announced the agreement Tuesday, the Washington Post reported.

"I am gratified that George Mason has given me a medical exemption to allow me to fulfill my duties this fall semester in light of unprecedented circumstances," Zywicki said.

"I speak for tens of millions of Americans in the same circumstances I am in, and I call on leaders across the country to develop humane and science-based approaches as opposed to one-size-fits-all policies."

Zywicki filed affidavits from his doctor stating he has natural immunity from the virus after having fully recovered from COVID-19. And the lawsuit argued there is substantial scientific evidence indicating natural immunity from the virus is stronger than immunity through various vaccines.

A spokesman for George Mason University declined comment on any medical accommodation, citing "state policy regarding personnel information and confidentiality of health information."

But no accommodation will be given based on natural immunity to COVID, the spokesman said, arguing it conflicts with CDC guidance.

"His litigation had no impact on the consideration of his request for a medical exemption from the vaccination requirement," the spokesman said. "Mason encourages everyone, including those who previously had COVID-19, to get vaccinated, and will continue to take the steps necessary to protect the Mason community from COVID."

'Robust and durable protection'

Zywicki, who has been at George Mason for 24 years, explained his case in an op-ed published Aug. 6 by the Wall Street Journal.

He said he contracted and recovered from COVID-19 in the spring of 2020, which later was confirmed through a positive antibody test. And multiple positive antibody tests "have since confirmed that I continue to have a robust level of immune protection."

The university's "coercive mandate," he wrote, "violates my constitutional right to bodily integrity for no compelling reason."

The university requires students to be vaccinated by Aug. 1 and faculty and staff by Aug. 15. Those who do not comply must show a medical or religious exemption.

In his op-ed, Zywicki cited clinical studies from Israel, the Cleveland Clinic, England and elsewhere that have demonstrated that natural immunity to SARS-CoV-2 "provides robust and durable protection against reinfection comparable to or better than that provided by the most effective vaccines."

He argued further that it "isn't merely unnecessary for me to get the shot."

"It's potentially dangerous. Covid-recovered individuals have been mostly excluded from the vaccine clinical trials, rendering any claims about the purported safety for this group largely speculative," he wrote.

Last week, the Times noted, the CDC highlighted a new study indicating unvaccinated people were twice as likely to get reinfected with COVID-19.

But many a recent Israeli study cited by Zywicki showed natural immunity is 6.7 times greater than for vaccinated people. <https://www.wnd.com/2021/08/prof-granted-vaccine-exemption-natural-immunity-lawsuit/>

'First come, first serve': Americans warned of limited flights out of Kabul, US embassy 'cannot ensure safe passage' to airport

18 Aug, 2021 20:00 / Updated 1 hour ago

Americans attempting to leave Afghanistan are getting some conflicting information from their embassy staff in Kabul: come to the airport but not until emailed to do so, flights are first-come-first-served, safety not guaranteed.

US citizens, legal permanent residents and their children "should consider travelling to Hamid Karzai International Airport," the US Embassy in Afghanistan – currently operating out of makeshift offices at the airport – said in a security alert posted on its website on Wednesday. The embassy provided instructions as to how to get to the airport, but noted that the access point "may change frequently" and said it would "provide updates as necessary."

The US government "cannot ensure safe passage" to the airport, the embassy then noted in big bold letters.

"Please be advised that a significant number of individuals have registered and space on these flights is available on a first come, first serve basis," the alert added. "You may be required to wait at the airport for a significant amount of time until space is available."

Americans seeking to leave were told to fill out forms "as soon as possible" but "only once," even if they previously submitted their information to the embassy, as the form "is the only way to communicate interest in flight options."

"Do not call the US Embassy in Kabul for details or updates about the flight," the note added. "Do not travel to the airport until you have been informed by email that departure options exist." How exactly people are supposed to rely on emails in a war zone, or whether emails could keep pace with the rapidly changing situation on the ground, went unexplained.

Those fortunate enough to send in the required paperwork, get emails, make it to the airport somehow, and get a seat on a plane, can only bring “one piece of hand luggage” per person, “if space is available.” There is no room for pets, the embassy said.

With the complete collapse of the US-backed Afghan government on Sunday, which seems to have caught Washington off guard, the Taliban now controls almost all of Afghanistan. There are several thousand US troops at the Hamid Karzai International Airport (HKIA) in Kabul, which is surrounded by the Taliban.

US Defense Secretary Lloyd Austin admitted to reporters at the Pentagon on Wednesday that the priority for the troops is to defend the airport, adding that allowing thousands of civilians to breach the perimeter would put those forces at risk.

“We don’t have the capability to go out and collect large numbers of people,” he told reporters, rejecting the idea of sending troops to gather Americans into convoys that could then make their way to the airport. The Taliban has been letting through the people who have the right documents, Austin added.

Up to 10,000 Americans may still be in the country, waiting to be evacuated along with many more Afghans seeking to flee. Hundreds of Afghans mobbed US C-17 transport planes bringing troops in over the weekend. One flight departed with 640 people crammed inside. ## Putin discusses situation in Afghanistan with presidents of Iran and Tajikistan

18 Aug, 2021 19:12

Russian President Vladimir Putin has spoken to the presidents of Iran and Tajikistan by phone. The leaders discussed the latest developments in Afghanistan, which has fallen into the hands of the Taliban in a sweeping takeover.

The situation in Afghanistan has been a “major focus” of the talks between Putin and Iran’s president Ebrahim Raisi, the Kremlin said in a statement on Wednesday following the phone conversation between the two presidents. Both Russia and Iran expressed their readiness to contribute to peace and stability in Afghanistan, the statement added.

Putin congratulated Raisi, who recently won the presidential elections in Iran, on his success. The two also discussed some major bilateral business projects and the fight against Covid-19.

The Russian president’s conversation with Tajikistan’s leader, Emomali Rahmon, was also largely focused on the developments in Afghanistan following the Taliban takeover. The two leaders said it was important to focus on providing security for civilians and maintaining stability in the region. The two leaders agreed that the relevant agencies of both nations should maintain regular contacts as the situation unfolds.

There have been concerns that a burgeoning conflict in Afghanistan could destabilize the wider region. Last week, the armed forces of Tajikistan, Uzbekistan and Russia held massive drills on the former Soviet republics’ border with Afghanistan as they practiced targeting enemy combatants and securing the border.

The swift capture of Kabul by the Taliban also sparked an exodus of senior government figures and foreign diplomatic personnel over the weekend. At the same time, hundreds of Afghan military personnel sought to cross into Uzbekistan onboard dozens of planes and helicopters that were forcibly landed by the Uzbek forces.

Afghanistan’s ousted president, Ashraf Ghani, was among those who fled the country. According to the Russian embassy in Kabul, he arrived at the airport with loads of cash and valuables.

Eventually, the exiled leader, whose whereabouts were unknown for several days, turned up in the UAE on Wednesday, where he was welcomed on “humanitarian grounds.”

The Afghan embassy in Tajikistan has demanded that Interpol arrest Ghani as it accused him of “stealing” the Afghan treasury. However, in his first public speech since fleeing the country, the ousted former leader claimed he did not take the money with him. <https://www.rt.com/russia/532440-putin-discuss-afghanistan-iran-tajikistan/>

The Taliban's new 'moderate' facade has already crumbled with images emerging today of alleged thieves being tarred and strapped to trucks, and reports of a journalist shot dead for raising a flag and of a woman killed for refusing to wear a burqa.

The terror group's 'Angels of Salvation' are going from door-to-door and dragging political opponents from their homes at gunpoint. One suspect's neighbour reported that the Taliban said he would be hanged tomorrow.

A journalist who raised the Afghan national flag in defiance at a protest in the northern city of Jalalabad on Wednesday was shot dead by the jihadists, along with two other protesters.

According to local reports, Zahidullah Nazirzada had joined defiant crowds in raising the tricolour, now outlawed and replaced by the Taliban's white banner.

Footage from Kabul showed a car thief on Tuesday with his face covered in tar, tied to the back of a truck and his hands behind his back as people gathered around to gawp. A traffic cop stood nearby apparently powerless.

A young woman was shot dead for allegedly refusing to wear a burqa by marauding jihadists when they captured the northern town of Taloqan in Takhar province last week, according to a post widely shared on social media.

She is seen lying in a pool of blood as her distraught parents crouch beside her body in the image which was shared by the Afghan Ambassador to Poland, Tahir Qadry, who denounced the 'butchering of civilians.'

Other footage shows Taliban fighters outside Kabul airport on Tuesday wielding AK-47s and rocket launchers, marching towards the terrified crowds and firing warning shots into the air.

The jihadists have been dubbed 'Taliban 2.0' for their media charm offensive in trying to persuade the world that they have moderated compared to the Taliban of 20 years ago.

But these barbaric atrocities tell a different story:

- Suspected political enemies are being dragged from their houses and are to be hung, according to sources
- Ex-interpreter saw his house being raided via an app on his phone as he remains holed up in a safehouse
- Journalists and student activists have been hauled out of their homes in the middle of the night

Mengele, Fauci, Zyklon B and the Poisonous Clot Shot

By Kelleigh Nelson | August 18th, 2021

Fear is often “false evidence appearing real.” —Nick Vujicic, a man born without limbs

A government is like fire, a handy servant, but a dangerous master. —George Washington

If we do a really great job on new vaccines and... reproductive health services, (i.e., abortion) we could lower the world population by perhaps 10% or 15%. —Bill Gates

The United Nation’s goal is to reduce population selectively by encouraging abortion, forced sterilization, and control of human reproduction, and regards two-thirds of the human population as baggage, with 350,000 people to be eliminated per day. —Jacques Cousteau, UNESCO Courier, Nov. 1991

A total world population of 250-300 million people, a 95% decline from present levels, would be ideal. —Ted Turner, former husband of American traitor Jane Fonda

Is the power of humanity greater than the authoritarian evil thrust upon us for nearly two years? This country had a watershed event in 1860 that destroyed states’ rights and gave us an all-powerful centralized federal government. Revisionist history and propaganda are spoon fed to our children via government education and mainstream media camouflaged with a façade of truth, but concealing a core of subversion, fraud and devilish deceit.

Marxist Slavery

Total slavery is planned for all people...red and yellow, black and white, worldwide, many are living under massive government surveillance now, including Americans. Fear has controlled populations with masks, lockdowns, experimental jabs and totalitarian dictatorial powers deciding the very future of humanity. Marxism is here although today’s youth unwittingly embrace it.

Simply put, if you’re an American, freedom is fleeing. Fascism is the collusion between government and corporations. Communism is the control of production which means future shortages of toilet paper and empty grocery shelves much like those in Marxist-run Venezuela and Cuba. Communist refugees who would cry with joy when seeing loaded shelves in American groceries, will soon recognize what they left has also immigrated.

“When you see that in order to produce, you need to obtain permission from men who produce nothing – When you see that money is flowing to those who deal, not in goods, but in favors – When you see that men get richer by graft and by pull than by work, and your laws don’t protect you against them, but protect them against you – When you see corruption being rewarded and honesty becoming a self-sacrifice – You may know that your society is doomed.” Ayn Rand, Atlas Shrugged 1957

And we, the masses, are those who will lose our property, our livelihoods, and ultimately be starved to death by demonic masters. Over 40% of the middle class lost their businesses and incomes in 2020, and this was only the beginning of middle class elimination.

Who will state the truth? True leaders are silent. Few radio or TV hosts ever speak the entire truth of what we’re facing...talk is cheap...we need action. The meetings, the councils, the videos, and the articles continue exposing the rot, but no one has drawn the sword of righteousness to expose the demonic entities who wish our demise. No one tells the core of the evil which has overtaken America. It’s Fascism and communism combined.

Smaller European nations are in revolt, and are being crucified for speaking truth. Where are Americans? Where is truth? Where is the spirit of liberty, that liberty our founders fought for during the Revolutionary War...that liberty that loosed the chains of control? Where are we? Is anyone awake?

Many believe Covid started the downward spiral of America’s freedoms, but America’s demise started nearly two centuries ago and demonic doctrine has slowly inculcated every facet of our society from the founding of this nation. Marxist doctrine has been minutely and secretly inserted into our nation’s laws by representatives who give no credence to our founders written desires for free men to elect servants of the people. They disobey their oaths of office from the minute they’re sworn into office on the Bible, and now sworn in on the shariah encoded Koran.

Evil slithers into every entity, companies, institutions, associations, governments and pulpits to destroy freedom, liberty and life, evidenced by all the woke corporations and organizations. Baby boomers have seen it all and their ancestors, the greatest generation, are all but gone. Now we fight for our lives and the lives of our descendants against the purposeful agenda of depopulation via medical nihilism and malfeasance.

Debunking the Fraudulent Medical Consensus

The Nazis had a saying, “für ihre Sicherheit.” It means, “for their safety” or “for your safety.” How many times have we heard that masks, social distancing, and lockdowns are “for your safety?” The mRNA “vaccines” by Pfizer and Moderna are the new Zyklon-B of Nazi Germany’s extermination camps, but this time it comes in a needle, a needle that rapes you of your life. Interesting that Pfizer apparently doesn’t mandate the jab for their own employees.

And the repeated and disgusting slogan, “We’re in this together.” Like hell we are! How many politicians died of Covid? How many of the elite lost their livelihoods? How many suicides? And how many gave up ever trying again?

Anthony Fauci is today's Dr. Joseph Mengele along with his assistant Bill Gates and friends. He is the master of confusion and that is part of the PSYOPS. Thirteen million were murdered by the National Socialists of Germany, millions upon millions more will die from the experimental injection of death. Today's genocide is worldwide and a massive extermination of humanity. I.G. Farben created Zyklon-B for Nazi Germany, used to gas millions to death. Now Fauci, Gates and the rest of the medical hierarchy are thrilled with their new "investigational" jabs.

Letting thousands die, first by the lies spread against cheap and safe decades-old lifesaving medications, hydroxychloroquine and Ivermectin, and then by killing off and maiming hundreds of thousands more with their "warp speed" messenger RNA vaccines. It's not enough that seven million babies have been murdered in their mother's wombs, the holocaust continues against all humanity.

The many physicians, scientists and attorneys who are speaking the truth face censorship, character assassination, loss of grants, board positions and licenses. This is part and parcel of the evil overriding the truth in our nation. Our first amendment is blasphemed and destroyed by the totalitarians who've controlled our livelihoods for nearly two years, and those who continue to wield their authoritarian power

Medical Heroes

Imagine a vaccine so safe that the government has to coerce you to take it... for a virus that 99.75% recover from but is so deadly that you have to be tested to find out if you have it. A genuine pandemic doesn't require 24/7 advertising to remind you that it exists. Real pandemics don't need marketing campaigns and endless propaganda, but psychological operations do! Yes, it's a PSYOP!

Dr. Vladimir Zelenko is interviewed on this website by Israel's Avi Abelow. Scroll to the second video and listen to this marvelous physician.

Dr. Zelenko tells us, "No one needs this vaccine, this is the big lie. If this vaccine is so effective, and you already have two shots, why are the two countries with the most vaccinated in the world, Israel and St. Ellis, the ones with the most outbreaks of the virus? The recovery risk in younger people in 99.998%. So, anyone who has allowed their children to get 'vaccinated' is guilty of child abuse and potentially murder. Israel's leader, Bennett said that the 'vaccine' was going to expire and he had 25,000 children jabbed in one day, and that is the epitome of evil. My feeling is that the current Israeli government is a reincarnation of Joseph Mengele, and actually even worse."

"If you have a demographic that has a nearly 100% recovery with no treatment, why would I put an experimental death liquid into them? According to Dr. Michael Yeadon, director of vaccine development for Pfizer, he says for every one child who would die from Covid, which is one in a million, 50 will die from the 'vaccine.' Someone who has had Covid, has now recovered and has antibodies, they are a million times more effective in protecting you than artificially produced 'vaccine' induced antibodies. As for the high-risk group, if you treat people early, with the onset of symptoms within the first few days, you can reduce their death and hospitalization rate by 85%."

But the FDA, CDC, and NIH promoted the false Lancet report on Hydroxychloroquine and Ivermectin. Thousands of our beloved parents and grandparents could have been saved, but were allowed to die and die alone.

Dr. Ryan Cole's 17-minute speech at the White Coat Summit is a must listen. He's a Mayo Clinic certified anatomic and clinical pathologist and more. He asks, "If we have billions to advertise a clot shot to children who don't need it, Dr. Fauci, where's the funding for science?" He goes on to explain that the spike protein is the toxin and asks why we are injecting into the body that which is the toxin that will cause the same illnesses and disease and death in humans that it caused in animals. He shows countless slides of cells before and after the clot shot and tells us this is a poisonous attack on our population and it needs to stop now! He warns that those who recovered from Covid and then received the jab are in serious trouble.

Another doctor stepped up to tell an Indiana school board how absolutely ignorant they were by demanding school children wear masks.

Dr. Daniel Stock gave a six-minute speech to the Mt. Vernon, Indiana school board, telling the truth about mask mandates and what is being done to our children.

Health Care Workers

Miguel Escobar spoke to the Edinburg, Texas school board meeting. He is a Physician Assistant and has worked in healthcare for over 15 years. He spends only 13 minutes explaining the facts to the board. We cannot see them, but we do see the people behind him on their cell phones when this man expounds on what is really happening. Please watch the video. I applaud him!

Abrien Aguirre, aboard-certified occupational therapist in Hawaii tells what is happening in nursing facilities. He has worked in three Covid facilities in Oahu. He was interviewed at an outside protest at the Hawaii State Capitol in Honolulu by a group known as “Hawaii Free Speech News.” His elderly patients are dying at rates much higher after the jab than with Covid. Yes, bumping off the pensioners saves money for the state. The ten-minute video can be seen here.

Attorney Reiner Fuellmich

In this 10-minute video, attorney Reiner Fuellmich tells us the World Health Organization (WHO) has now declared that the Covid virus is no more dangerous than the common flu. This is a far cry from their early 2020 forecast by WHO and Dr. Fauci of two million dead Americans. When this news was delivered to President Trump, Fauci urged the shutdown of our massive economy ultimately destroying 40% of small businesses resulting in suicides, drug overdoses, abuse and bankruptcy.

The Dresden PCR test which was declared by the WHO under control of Bill Gates and the Chinese as the gold standard in detecting infections is an outrageous fraud. The PCR test set at 45 cycles was set to show 100% false positives as Corona cases. These false tests were the basis for a public health concern that shut down economies worldwide. The acronym for Public Health Emergency of International Concern is PHEIC, pronounced FAKE.

Reiner Fuellmich goes on to explain that this PHEIC was needed by the global alliance of pharmaceutical and tech industries in order to achieve the goal of so-called “vaccinations.” This was their true stated intention from the beginning. The entire distancing, masking and lockdowns were illusionary in order to insure panic for their psychological operations. Fuellmich states that despite the lies of the globalists and the difficulty in reporting to the Vaccine Adverse Events Reporting System (VAERS), it is estimated that 500,000 Americans have already died of the Covid jabs...and more are coming their way.

Targeting the Standalones

The Chinese and Russians are not giving their own people these inoculations. Our military has been forced into these jabs and as of a month ago, only 20 died in all of 2020 from C-19, but now 80 have heart problems from the jab. Wonder why? To weaken us for a takeover.

A phenomenon called “othering” is used in propaganda and brainwashing. Othering is when a person determines that another person is unworthy, threatening, or all-around inadequate and hardly even the same species. This is what is now happening throughout America and the world regarding those of us who choose not to accept the party line that the jabs are good for all humanity. Many Americans have seen the deaths and adverse effects of the clot shot and believe the needle rape is another Zyklon B toxicant to destroy not only the elderly, but a large majority of the world’s population.

Juliette Kayyem writes in the regressive Atlantic that only vaccinated people should be allowed on domestic flights. Yeah...spread the enhanced virus all over the place, the un-jabbed don’t want anything to do with the jabbed! Last September’s Atlantic Festival featured top speakers Fauci, Hillary and Staci Abrams.

Don Lemon says the un-jabbed should not be able to go to the grocery. He’s spewing his invectives to a nation who believes it’s fine to starve people to death when they refuse a dangerous medical experiment. They believe in medical and personal privacy. Maxine Waters taught her fellow comrades that it’s okay to get in people’s faces, to scream at them, to disrupt their dining, to make their public lives miserable. Common decency and courtesy are verboten in today’s society.

Andy Slavitt, a former medical advisor for President Biden, believes that anyone unvaccinated should be required to be tested daily at their own expense until they finally give in.

Democrats believe Medicare (despite the fact you’ve paid into it all your life), Medicaid and health insurance should be denied to the un-jabbed.

Others want to add employment, suspension of gun and driving licenses, access to loans. Sporting events, dining out, and concerts should also require proof of vaccine. It will not be popular, but it is the only way to get people vaccinated.

Others want the un-jabbed to have all health care suspended.

Candidate Steve Cox, an independent running to represent California’s 39th Congressional District said, “We should be allowed to shoot anyone who doesn't take COVID seriously enough." Leftists like Cox are common in today's media rhetoric.

Conclusion

This is the America we're living in today. It's reminiscent of history that today's children have no knowledge of, and they'll murder billions of us and use the excuse that the un-inoculated did it when we know the perpetrators are the satanic entities that hate life, liberty and freedom. <https://newswithviews.com/mengele-fauci-zyklon-b-and-the-poisonous-clot-shot/>

Why 2020 was Unique

Byron York Posted: Aug 18, 2021 12:01 AM

There's a fascinating question in a new Fox News poll that suggests the political dynamics at work in 2022 and 2024 will be far different from 2020. If that is the case, it is good news for Republicans.

Here is the question: "If you could send just one of the following two messages to the federal government right now, would it be 'lend me a hand,' or would it be 'leave me alone'?" Fox has asked the question in eight different polls since 2011, but 2020 stands out.

In most years, a majority of respondents told pollsters the message they would send to the federal government was "leave me alone." In 2014, for example, 59% said "leave me alone." In 2016, it was 54%. In 2012, it was 53%. At the same time, during those years, much smaller numbers of respondents -- 32%, 39% and 37%, respectively -- said the message they would send the government would be "lend me a hand."

In other words, majorities did not feel the need for an especially activist federal government. No, they were not saying they did not want existing government programs like Social Security or clean air standards. But they were saying they did not want broad new expansions of the government into everyday life.

That changed dramatically in August 2020, at the height of the COVID pandemic. At that time, a solid majority, 57%, said their message to the government was "lend me a hand." Just 36% said "leave me alone."

The reasons were obvious. The public wanted a vaccine. Those who were unemployed through no fault of their own needed money. The same for small business owners trying to survive. Of course they wanted the government to lend a hand.

But by the time of the new poll, in early August 2021, with the nation -- even with the Delta variant -- pulling out of the worst effects of the pandemic, the "lend me a hand" number had fallen to 44%. That, by the way, is precisely what it was in 2011, when the nation was pulling out of the Great Recession. Barring some unexpected calamity, the "lend me a hand" number will likely fall further.

So what does that mean? In the 2020 Democratic presidential primary contest, all the candidates, including "centrist" Joe Biden, proposed far-reaching, hugely expensive expansions of the federal government. The campaign became a bidding war over who could come up with the biggest, costliest policies to address the pandemic, climate change, health care, the cost of college and more. It was a progressive's dream.

In that activist moment, Biden won the Democratic nomination and then the general election. His victory in the Electoral College was quite narrow, as was the Democrats' win to keep control of the House. The Senate ended up 50-50, with Democrats having to rely on Vice President Kamala Harris to break ties. But even with the slimmest margins of control, President Biden, under pressure from the progressive wing of his party, has pushed ahead with programs proposed during the worst days of the pandemic. After all, they were things that progressives had wanted all along and believed the virus crisis gave them an opportunity to enact.

They have succeeded. First, Biden signed a $1.9 trillion "COVID relief" bill, passed on a partisan basis, that spent far more money than was needed. Recently, the Senate passed a $1.1 trillion bipartisan "infrastructure" bill that also spends far more money than is needed. And now the Senate is taking up a $3.5 trillion "human infrastructure" bill that incorporates many of the Democrats' campaign promises for sky-high social spending.

It's unlikely Democrats will be able to pass all $3.5 trillion. But they will probably get a lot of it. And don't believe those threats from Nancy Pelosi that she will block the $1.1 trillion bipartisan bill if she doesn't get everything she wants in the bigger bill. At some point, House Democrats will pass the bipartisan bill and send it to the president. Why would they throw away $1.1 trillion in spending that has already made it through the Senate? The answer is, they won't.

Put it all together with the $1.9 trillion signed in March, and by the end of the year Democrats will likely have pushed through between $5 trillion and $6 trillion in new spending, by far surpassing spending levels on anything since World War II. And it was all because of their ability to take advantage of that brief "lend me a hand" moment in 2020.

But times are changing. If there is no unforeseen crisis, voters are moving back to their more traditional hesitance when it comes to huge new spending proposals. In next year's midterm elections, and in the presidential election in 2024, it's likely the Democrats' activist moment will have passed.

Israel downgrades terror threat level in Sinai after 20 years

National Security Council lowers terror level threat in southern Sinai to level 3, but says a high risk remains in northern Sinai.

Ido Ben Porat, Aug 19, 2021 12:12 AM

The National Security Council announced on Wednesday evening that the level of the threat of terrorism on the shores of the Sinai Peninsula and Sharm el-Sheikh has been downgraded from level 1 to level 3.

In northern Sinai, however, a high level of risk remains - level 1.

The issue arose during a meeting between Prime Minister Naftali Bennett and Egyptian Intelligence Minister Abbas Kamel, in which Bennett updated the latter on the decision.

The National Security Council noted that the COVID-19 guidelines remain in place and it is recommended to avoid leaving Israel unless it is necessary.

For the past two decades, the terror alert in southern Sinai has been at its highest, but many Israelis have chosen to vacation there nonetheless.

The travel warning that was posted on the website of the National Security Council said, "In view of ISIS Sinai district's activity in the northern part of Sinai, there is a fear that the organization's activists will try to harm various targets, including tourism destinations in southern Sinai that many Israelis visit. It should be recalled that the organization's leadership has threatened Israel and Israelis several times in the past."

Meanwhile, Defense Minister Benny Gantz also met on Wednesday with Kamel. The two discussed the need to strengthen regional stability, the common war on terror and the importance of safeguarding common security interests.

Gantz thanked Kamel and thanked Egyptian President Abdel Fattah Al-Sisi for Egypt's positive activity in the region, and stressed the importance Israel sees in achieving long-term quiet in southern Israel and promoting a solution to the issue of prisoners and missing persons held in the Gaza Strip. <https://www.israelnationalnews.com/News/News.aspx/312021>

Poll: New Hope erased

Channel 20 poll predicts 54 seats for parties in pro-Netanyahu bloc. The Likud has 32 seats, and Yesh Atid has 18 seats.

Arutz Sheva Staff, Aug 19, 2021 2:15 AM

A Channel 20 poll, conducted by the Maagar Mohot research institute led by Professor Yitzhak Katz, shows that if elections to the Knesset were to be held today, the Likud party would win 32 seats, an increase of two seats from what the party received in the last election.

The poll also shows that Gideon Sa'ar's New Hope party does not pass the electoral threshold.

Yesh Atid would win 18 seats according to the poll, followed by Blue and White with 11 seats and Shas with 8 seats. Prime Minister Naftali Bennett's Yamina party would win 7 seats, according to the poll, the same number it won in the last election.

Yisrael Beytenu and Bezalel Smotrich's Religious Zionist Party would win 7 seats each.

Meretz wins 6 seats in the poll. The Arab parties, Mansour Abbas' Ra'am and Ayman Odeh's Joint List, each win 5 seats. <https://www.israelnationalnews.com/News/News.aspx/312023>

Trump: Afghanistan 'most embarrassing moment in our country's history'

Former President Trump calls withdrawal from Afghanistan a "defeat" and says that other countries are laughing at the United States.

Arutz Sheva Staff, Aug 18, 2021 9:50 PM

Former President Donald Trump told Fox News that the American withdrawal from Afghanistan under President Joe Biden is “a mess like nobody’s ever seen before. This is the most embarrassing moment in our country’s history.”

During an interview on “Morning With Maria,” Trump called what is happening a “defeat” and said that other countries were laughing at the United States.

“It’s a military defeat. It’s a psychological defeat. Russia and China, North Korea, everybody – they are all watching this disaster and they’re laughing at us, and they’re having a good time. Everyone is laughing. It’s not funny for us but it’s funny for them.”

Trump said that all the non-military personnel should have been evacuated first, rather than the chaotic manner in which the US left the country.

“You don’t take the military out first. You take the military out last. This is like the captain jumping off the ship as the ship is sinking and he just says ‘I’m getting out of here. Just forget the passengers,’” Trump said. “You’ve got to get your people... out first. Then you take your equipment out. And after you take your equipment out you bomb the hell out of the forts, so nobody else can use them. I was going to do that.”

He added that under his plan, US military planes would have destroyed all the evacuated American bases in two hours. He lamented that the bases were now under control of the Taliban.

“The people have to come out of the country first, then you have to get all of your equipment. We have billions of dollars of equipment. Brand new Blackhawk helicopters, they have everything,” Trump said.

He made the comparison with the situation former President Jimmy Carter faced in 1979 during the Iran Hostage Crisis.

“Jimmy Carter with his hostages - he lost because of it. Jimmy Carter with his hostages is a peanut compared to what’s happening here. They have 40,000 people, not to mention all the other Afghans who we were supposed to help, and you know our country can’t take in hundreds of thousands of people.”

Trump claims booster shot is a “money making operation for Pfizer”

Former president questions the need for a booster, alleging financial motives may be behind push for a third shot. Arutz Sheva Staff, Aug 18, 2021 10:15 PM

Former President Donald Trump during an interview with Fox host Maria Bartiromo said that the COVID booster shot “sounds like a money making operation for Pfizer.”

“Think of the dollars involved. An extra shot. That’s tens of billions of dollars. How good a business is that,” said Trump. “If you’re a businessman and you say, ‘Let’s give them another shot.’ That’s another 10 billion dollars of money coming in.”

Trump added that “the whole thing is crazy.”

“You wouldn’t think you would need a booster. You know when these first came out they were good for life. Then they were good for a year or two. And I could see the writing on the wall. I could see the dollar signs in the eyes of that guy that runs Pfizer, you know the guy that announced right after the election that he had the vaccine.”
