Nuclear Iran in a month, regional conflict in two?

On the cusp of nuclear capability, but not quite armed with a bomb, Iran would be able to hold the threat over its rivals' heads, while avoiding the harsh repercussions that would accompany actually arming itself

The Media Line | Published: 09.22.21, 00:03

Iran can enrich enough weapons-grade uranium within a month of deciding to do so, the Institute for Science and International Security estimates in a report published Monday.

The Washington-based think tank's estimation is based on data supplied by the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), the organization charged with supervising Iran's nuclear program.

The "worst-case breakout estimate," according to the report, is that Iran can produce enough uranium enriched to the necessary level and sufficient for one bomb in one month. Producing the fissile material needed for a second weapon would take the Islamic Republic less than three months to produce, and a third weapon would require two additional months of work.

Producing the enriched uranium needed for a weapon does not mean that Iran will have a nuclear bomb ready for use, however. A nuclear warhead will first have to be manufactured, itself a lengthy process. However, Iran is now closer to a bomb than it has ever been.

The progression of Tehran's nuclear program "has significantly quickened in the last six months," Col. (res.) Dr. Eran Lerman, vice president of the Jerusalem Institute for Strategy and Security, says. That, together with the effective removal of international supervision, which is now restored but without retroactive access, means the Iranian position has substantially changed.

Rafael Grossi, director general of the IAEA, "doesn't have any ability to supervise because the Iranians won't let him inspect retroactively" what took place when the IAEA's access was blocked, according to Lerman. "And the implication is pretty clear: what's done is done, and what they've managed to accumulate is already very substantial," Lerman says.

In 2018, then-President Donald Trump took the US out of the Iran nuclear deal, which he had criticized harshly. The agreement, officially called the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA), was reached during era of President Barack Obama, and stipulated limits and supervision to be placed on the Islamic Republic's nuclear program, in exchange for economic sanctions relief.

Following the US withdrawal from the agreement, Iran progressed rapidly with its nuclear efforts, including developing materials required only for military use. Tehran has insisted that it does not aspire to develop nuclear weapons.

The Biden administration has expressed a desire to revive the JCPOA by returning both the US and Iran to compliance with its conditions. Tehran would then reverse its progress and the US would in turn lift economic sanctions that have been a heavy burden on the Iranian economy. However, despite months of internationally mediated negotiations in Vienna, the conditions of a revival have yet to be agreed upon.

With Iran's nuclear program progressing rapidly, Lerman says "an understanding that the agreement has already lost its relevance has started to gain traction in Washington, I believe."

of the JCPOA by returning to strict compliance with the JCPOA. We are not at that point yet, but it's getting closer, and that's why we have been very clear that the ability to rejoin the JCPOA, mutual return, mutual compliance, is not indefinite."

Israel and other American allies in the region staunchly opposed the JCPOA when it was reached, and continue to oppose a return to the agreement "as is."

An author of Monday's report and head of the American think tank, former IAEA nuclear inspector David Albright, warned that Iran's apparent rush toward nuclear capabilities is an attempt to improve its position in preparation for an expected return to negotiations, which have been on hiatus since June when Iran elected a new president. "I believe that Iran is trying to advance as much as possible to come better prepared to the negotiations ... definitely, this is a negotiations tactic," Dr. Yoel Guzansky, a senior research fellow at Tel Aviv University's Institute for National Security Studies, says. More -<https://www.ynetnews.com/magazine/article/ry00yvvdw7y>

Man found shot dead in Negev, 3rd Arab victim of gun violence in two days

Communal killings have claimed the lives of 89 since the start of the year; police arrest suspect in Monday's shooting at a wedding, a friend of the groom's

A man in his thirties was found shot dead on Tuesday in a car in southern Israel's Negev desert, the third apparent victim of Arab communal violence in two days and the 89th since the start of the year.

The man's body was found in a vehicle near Ramat Hovav, south of Beersheba. The car's front had been smashed and it had been riddled with bullets.

Police are investigating and there were no immediate suspects.

The killing came a day after two other Arab men were slain in separate incidents, with the community plagued by a non-stop stream of murders.

On Monday, a man killed and five others wounded in a shooting that occurred at a wedding in the Arab town of Taibe, in the country's center.

On Tuesday, police arrested a 22-year-old resident of the city suspected in the killing of Alaa Sarsour.

The father of the groom told Haaretz that the suspect was a friend of his son's who had been a guest at the wedding and had eaten alongside other guests before pulling out a weapon and opening fire.

The murder came only hours after another young man was shot and killed in the northern Arab town of Zarzir. Police suspect that the shooting was a revenge attack between rival gangs, the Ynet news site reported.

Last week, two Arab men were shot dead in apparent homicides in northern Israel.

Tuesday also saw a police volunteer killed and an officer wounded at a construction site in Nahariya, when they were run over by a car after coming to check workers' permits. The suspect arrested has been reported to be a contractor and a well-known figure in Arab soccer.

Police minister defends response to community killings, says Shin Bet 'will assist' in efforts to root out murders

Public Security Minister Omer Barlev pushed back on Tuesday against criticism of the police response to the ongoing plague of violent crime in Arab Israeli communities, a day after two men were shot dead.

Following the two deadly shootings, one of them in the middle of a wedding, social media users began sharing the hashtag #Arab_Lives_Matter in English, Hebrew and Arabic to protest what they say is a lack of action by police to address the violence that has reached record levels in recent years.

In a series of tweets, Barlev blamed the problem on “decades of neglect, disregard and fear” by authorities to get involved in internal disputes in Arab society.

“Yes, #Arab_Lives_Matter matter, but whoever thinks that dozens of years of neglect will be solved in 100 days is delusional,” he wrote, in reference to the newness of the government he is a part of.

“Let’s put the cards on the table — this is not only a problem of crime families, this is a broad phenomenon that is led by extremists who have taken control of the Arab street.”

“Where were you, the leaders of the community?” he asked, while citing the large number of illegal weapons in Arab locales.

Stressing his commitment to addressing violent crime, Barlev said that catching the killers alone won’t solve the problem and noted government proposals for tackling the roots of the violence.

He also said that the Shin Bet, Israel’s domestic security and counterintelligence service, “will assist,” without further elaborating.

Barlev’s comments came as the hashtag became one of the most trending topics on Twitter in Israel, with one of the organizers of the protests writing that tweeting was “our only tool” to bring attention to the matter.

Fadi Maklada, from the northern town of Daliyat al-Karmel, said that Monday’s shooting at a wedding in Taibe touched a nerve among Arab and Druze citizens.

“Almost all of us were at a wedding in the past week and when we see it’s also not safe there it’s very worrying... we have no choice but to protest online,” Maklada told Kan news.

Maklada, who was an officer in the military’s elite 8200 intelligence unit, rejected assertions that the violence was linked to disputes between families and honor, arguing that “there is a real escalation that goes beyond Arab society, it is already harming national security.”

According to a tally by the Abraham Initiatives nonprofit, 88 Arab and Druze have been killed in homicides in Israel so far this year.

This year's homicide total is on pace to eclipse the 96 Arab Israelis recorded last year, when 96 Arab Israelis were killed in communal violence, by far the highest annual toll in recent memory. Dems nix $1 billion for Iron Dome from budget bill after progressive pressure

Sources say several lawmakers, opposed to money for Israeli defense, threatened to vote against bill that keeps US government funded; missile system set to get funded later

By Jacob Magid and TOI staff Today, 10:48 pm

Progressive Democrats on Tuesday pressured the party to remove $1 billion for Israel's Iron Dome missile defense system from a bill to keep the United States government funded.

The funds are widely expected to be approved, but at a later date. A Congressional aide, speaking to The Times of Israel on condition of anonymity, insisted that the Iron Dome funding would eventually be approved, but instead would be attached to the 2022 Defense Appropriations Bill.

The clause approving the $1 billion to restock Israel's Iron Dome interceptors — crucial to protecting Israeli towns from rocket attacks and which became somewhat depleted during May's Gaza war — had caused a hangup in the House of Representatives, as party leaders sought to push forward a bill to raise the debt ceiling.

House Speaker Nancy Pelosi must pass the bill by September 30 to keep the government funded through the start of December. She needs all hands on deck to pass the budgetary bill, and could not afford to lose progressive votes because no Republican is willing to support it.

Pelosi may have calculated that adding the Iron Dome funding would be a way to entice Republicans, but this did not bring any onboard.

A congress member told The Times of Israel that Congresswomen Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez and Betty McCollum pushed Pelosi to have the Iron Dome funding removed from the spending bill and managed to succeed through mediation from Congresswoman Rosa Delauro.

Congresswomen Rashida Tlaib, Ilhan Omar, Ayanna Pressley and Pramila Jayapal also threatened to vote against the bill if the Iron Dome funding was included, a Congressional aid said.

Poll finds nearly 80% of Palestinians want Abbas to resign

The death of Nizar Banat, a harsh critic of the PA who died after being beaten by Palestinian security forces during a late-night arrest in June, ignited protests in the West Bank and seen as cause of plummeting public support

Associated Press | Updated: 09.21.21, 19:38

A new poll has found that nearly 80% of Palestinians want President Mahmoud Abbas to resign, reflecting widespread anger over the death of an activist in security forces' custody and a crackdown on protests over the summer.

The survey released Tuesday found support for Abbas' Hamas rivals remained high months after the 11-day Gaza war in May, when the Islamic militant group was widely seen by Palestinians as having scored a victory against a far more powerful Israel while the Western-backed Abbas was sidelined.

The latest poll by the Palestinian Center for Policy and Survey Research found that 45% of Palestinians believe Hamas should lead and represent them, while only 19% said Abbas' secular Fatah deserved that role, showing only a slight shift in favor of Fatah over the last three months.

"This is the worst polling we've ever seen for the president," said Khalil Shikaki, the head of the center, who has been surveying Palestinian public opinion for more than two decades. "He has never been in as bad a position as today."

[\[Seems to be paralleling the disastrous results on the "bi-dum" group in DC. – rdb\]](#)

Despite his plummeting popularity and refusal to hold elections, the international community still views the 85-year-old Abbas as the leader of the Palestinian cause and a crucial partner in the peace process with Israel, which ground to a halt more than a decade ago.

His Palestinian Authority administers parts of the West Bank under interim agreements signed with Israel at the height of the peace process in the 1990s. Hamas drove Abbas' forces out of Gaza when it seized power there in 2007, a year after winning parliamentary elections.

Abbas' latest woes began in April, when he called off the first Palestinian elections in 15 years as Fatah appeared to be headed for another embarrassing loss. Hamas' popularity soared the following month amid protests in Jerusalem and the Gaza war, as many Palestinians accused the PA of doing nothing to aid their struggle against Israeli occupation.

The calling on Abbas to resign. His security forces launched a crackdown in response, beating and arresting several demonstrators.

The poll found that 78% of Palestinians want Abbas to resign and just 19% think he should remain in office.

It found that 63% of Palestinians think Banat was killed on the orders of PA political or security leaders, with only 22% believing it was a mistake. The PA recently announced that 14 security officials who took part in the arrest will stand trial. Sixty-nine percent of those polled felt that was an insufficient response.

Sixty-three percent of Palestinians support the demonstrations that broke out after Banat's death, and 74% believe the PA's arrest of demonstrators was a violation of liberties and civil rights, the poll found.

The PCPSR says it surveyed 1,270 Palestinians face-to-face in the West Bank and Gaza, with a margin of error of three percentage points. <https://www.ynetnews.com/article/bj7vjdvmvmy> [This is one of the most corrupt groups in the middle east. It is interesting that dingbat Trudeau in Canada thought he could secure more power by having an election and then did win but by a smaller margin than in the past. Perhaps he would have been better off using Abbas' approach and not had an election that he was potentially going to lose. – rdb]

Hamas proposes prisoner swap roadmap, Lebanese media says

Two options reported by Lebanese Al Akhbar news paper include the release of prisoners with blood on their hands in exchange for Israelis dead or alive in Hamas captivity; senior officials say no real progress on swap

Elior Levy | Published: 09.21.21, 14:32

Deputy Hamas leader Zahar Jabarin said his organization presented Egyptian mediators with proposals for a prisoner swap with Israel, Lebanon's Al Akhbar newspaper reported on Tuesday.

The government said that the return to Israel of the remains Hadar Goldin and Oron Shaul, both killed in the 2014 Gaza war and the release of two Israeli civilians held by Hamas – were a precondition for any long lasting cease fire agreement along the Gaza border and the rebuilding of Gaza after the 11 days of fighting last May.

In the first of two options reported by Al Akhbar, Hamas proposed a comprehensive deal that would include the release of all prisoners who were released in the deal to secure the release of Gilad Shalit in 2011, who were subsequently arrested again.

Shalit was held by Hamas in Gaza for five years. Among the prisoners were some convicted of murder.

In addition, Hamas demanded the release of all women and children incarcerated by Israel and of prisoners suffering from poor health.

According to the proposal, Hamas will then release the bodies of two Israeli soldiers killed in the 2014 Gaza war and the two civilians held in Gaza. [Sorry folks be releasing murderers for bodies simply doesn't make sense to me. – rdb]

The second proposal, that was reported by the Lebanese publication, was for a two-staged deal that would first see the release of women and children from jail, as well as the prisoners who were arrested after their release in the Shalit swap, Hamas would then provide information regarding Israelis dead or alive in its possession.

Only after the release of thousands of Palestinian terrorists among them those described as having blood on their hands, will the Israelis be returned.

Israeli sources told Ynet in recent days, that there was no breakthrough in negotiations to secure the return of Israelis held by Hamas.

According to Senior Israeli officials, Jerusalem opposes any release of Hamas prisoners with blood on their hands. Prime Minister Nafatli Bennett's discussed Israel's demand for the return of the soldiers and civilians in a meeting with Egyptian President Abdel Fattah Al-Sisi last week.

Participants in the talks included the Israel's coordinator for prisoners and MIA's along with National Security Advisor Eyal Hulata. Egypt's head of Intelligence Abbas Kamel, who acts as mediator between the Israeli government and the Hamas terror group, was also present. <https://www.ynetnews.com/article/ryo3cvdqy>

31 countries to boycott anti-Israel Durban IV Conference today – FM

The Foreign Ministry said on Tuesday that 11 countries plan to boycott the conference that have not yet made their plans public, in addition to the 20 that have announced they will not be attending.

By LAHAV HARKOV, HALEY COHEN SEPTEMBER 21, 2021 21:10

The Foreign Ministry expects 31 countries to boycott Wednesday's United Nations event marking the 20th anniversary of the World Conference Against Racism, which was marred by antisemitism and anti-Israel bias.

The Foreign Ministry said on Tuesday 11 countries that have not yet made their plans public plan to boycott the conference, in addition to the 20 that have announced they will not be attending.

Those 20 countries are Australia, Austria, Bulgaria, Canada, Croatia, Cyprus, the Czech Republic, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Israel, Italy, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Romania, Slovakia, Slovenia, the UK and the US.

This week's event, known as Durban IV, has the theme of "Reparations, racial justice and equality for people of African descent." Critics have called on the UN to entirely scrap the Durban Conference on Racism and form a new conference.

No Western country has sent a high-level representative, meaning a government minister, to speak at the conference – though the EU has – nor has any volunteered to lead a roundtable, which Israel views as a success at labeling the event as antisemitic.

At the original Durban Conference in 2001, the parallel NGO Forum adopted a decision labeling Israel an apartheid state, and activists distributed The Protocols of the Elders of Zion and flyers praising Hitler.

The 2001 Durban Decision, which the draft resolution for Wednesday's conference reaffirms, singled out the Israel-Palestinian conflict, not mentioning any other specific conflicts as racist.

During the 2009 and 2011 Durban Review Conferences, then-president of Iran Mahmoud Ahmadinejad denied the Holocaust, calling it a pretext for Israeli oppression of Palestinians.

On Sunday, under the banner "Fight Racism, Not Jews: The UN and the Durban Deceit," Israel's Ambassador to the United States and the United Nations Gilad Erdan, former US secretary of state Mike Pompeo, former US attorney-general Michael Mukasey, Oscar-winning actor Jon Voight and others spoke at a conference organized by Touro College, Human Rights Voices and the Committee for Accuracy in Middle East Reporting in America (CAMERA) in a powerful head-on plea to countries to pull out of the Durban IV conference and to stand up to today's antisemitism.

The virtual counter-event, which drew thousands of viewers, featured an eye-opening series of speakers from diverse religious and cultural backgrounds talking about what happened in Durban 20 years ago according to individuals who were present and why it's relevant now more than ever.

"All countries that are genuinely committed to combating racism should refuse to attend Durban IV and the 20th-anniversary carnival," said Anne Bayefsky, director of Touro Institute on Human Rights and the Holocaust, president of Human Rights Voices, and moderator of the conference. "That's why we held a counter-conference entitled 'Fight Racism, Not Jews.' The Durban deceit, the double-talk, the double-standards – and in particular, the discrimination – need to be exposed and rejected, period." More -<https://www.jpost.com/international/31-countries-to-boycott-anti-israel-durban-iv-conference-today-fm-679966>

Sudanese PM blames coup attempt on 'remnants from previous regime'

Abdalla Hamdok says plotters came from both inside and outside the military, had made 'extensive preparations' to overthrow transition government

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AFP) — Sudanese Prime Minister Abdalla Hamdok said on Tuesday that a foiled coup attempt, involving military officers and civilians linked to the ousted regime of longtime autocrat Omar al-Bashir, was the “latest manifestation of the national crisis,” referring to deep divisions during Sudan’s move to democracy.

In a televised speech, he said that the plotters had “made extensive preparations, which were showcased in the security breakdown in cities... blocking of national roads, closure of ports and persistent instigation against the civilian government.”

He also said that the plotters came from both “inside and outside” the military and blamed “remnants from the previous regime” seeking to thwart the country’s democratic transition. [Have they been taking lessons from Gen Miley? – rdb]

Information Minister Hamza Baloul said later that the coup attempt had been thwarted.

“Order has been restored and the leaders of the attempted coup, both military and civilian, have been arrested,” he said. “Authorities are pursuing supporters of the defunct regime” who took part.

Sudan’s Prime Minister Prime Minister Abdalla Hamdok (right) chairs a cabinet meeting in the capital Khartoum, on September 21, 2021. (AFP)

The military said that “most” of those involved had been apprehended, including 11 officers.

“The army regained control over the sites that perpetrators sought to seize,” it said. “Searches and investigations are still ongoing for others involved.”

State television had aired patriotic songs and urged people to “confront” the coup attempt.

In Khartoum, traffic flowed smoothly, including around the army headquarters, where protesters staged a months-long sit-in that eventually led to Bashir’s overthrow in a palace coup by the army in 2019.

Anti-coup demonstrations broke out in several cities.

At Port Sudan in the east, protesters raised Sudanese flags and chanted “No to military rule” and “No to coup,” eyewitness Mohamed Hassan said.

Students took to the streets and shouted similar slogans in the eastern city of Gedaref, another eyewitness, Amal Hussein, told AFP.

‘We will not allow a coup’

Britain, Norway and the United States voiced “strong support” for Sudan’s government.

“The Troika... rejects any attempts to derail or disrupt the Sudanese people’s efforts to establish a democratic, peaceful, and prosperous future,” they said in a statement.

The United Nations condemned any attempt “to undermine the democratic political transition.”

Sudan has had a long history of coups, including since Bashir’s ouster, but those were small-scale and immediately foiled.

Officials have often blamed Bashir’s Islamist supporters of being behind them. Bashir, a one-time general, came to power on the back of an Islamist-backed military coup in 1989.

Since his ouster, the ex-president has been jailed in Khartoum, awaiting trial over the coup that brought him to power.

He is also wanted by the International Criminal Court on charges of war crimes, crimes against humanity and genocide for his prosecution of a deadly scorched-earth campaign against ethnic minority rebels in Darfur.

During a visit to Khartoum last month, ICC prosecutor Karim Khan signed a cooperation deal with the transitional authorities that marked another step towards Bashir facing trial in The Hague.

In an address to troops on Tuesday, powerful paramilitary commander Mohamed Hamdan Daglo said, “We will not allow a coup to take place.”

“We want real democratic transition through free and fair elections, not like in the past,” said the commander, widely known as Hemeti. More - <https://www.timesofisrael.com/sudanese-pm-blames-coup-attempt-on-remnants-from-previous-regime/>

Taliban appoint hardline battlefield commanders to key Afghan posts

The appointments add to the roster of hardliners in the main group of ministers.

Afghanistan's Taliban rulers announced several senior appointments on Tuesday, naming two veteran battlefield commanders from the movement's southern heartlands as deputies in important ministries.

Main Taliban spokesman Zabihullah Mujahid said Mullah Abdul Qayyum Zakir will be deputy defense minister, while Sadr Ibrahim was named deputy minister for the interior. Both men had been expected to take major positions in the new government but neither was named in the main list of ministers announced this month.

The two were identified in UN reports as being among battlefield commanders loyal to the former Taliban leader Mullah Akhtar Mansour who were pressing the leadership to step up the war against the Western-backed government.

The appointments add to the roster of hardliners in the main group of ministers, which included figures like Sirajuddin Haqqani, head of the militant Haqqani network, blamed for a string of attacks on civilian targets.

But the appointments also appear to reflect concern within the Taliban to secure unity by balancing the regional and personal differences that have surfaced as the movement transitions from a wartime guerrilla force to a peacetime administration.

According to a UN Security Council report from June, both Zakir and Sadr commanded significant forces of their own, called mahaz, that traditionally operated across several provinces.

They were considered so powerful and independent that there were concerns within the leadership that this could stoke tension over the loyalties of certain groups, particularly in the south and southwest of the country.

Zakir, a former detainee in the US military prison at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba, was a close associate of late Taliban founder Mullah Omar. He was captured when US-led forces swept through in Afghanistan in 2001 and was incarcerated in Guantanamo until 2007, according to media reports.

He was released and handed over to the Afghan government and was widely tipped to become defense minister in the new government before Mullah Omar's son, Mullah Mohammad Yaqoob, was appointed to the post.

Sadr, a former head of the Taliban military commission from the southern province of Helmand, will be deputy to Sirajuddin Haqqani, whose family comes from the eastern borderlands with Pakistan.

Amazon, Facebook & Uber pledge to hire Afghan refugees to support US economic ‘vision’

21 Sep, 2021 18:07

Retail giant Amazon has vowed to hire refugees from Afghanistan as part of a program with other major companies including Facebook, Uber, and UPS to get refugees into the US workforce.

Some 34 companies joined the Tent Foundation's Coalition for Afghan Refugees and have pledged to train, hire, and "help integrate" refugees into the American economy, the Tent Foundation announced on Tuesday. [So how many of these people have terrorist backgrounds? – rdb]

The companies include Facebook, Uber, UPS, Pfizer, Chobani, Trip Advisor, Western Union, Hilton, Gap, Mastercard and Amazon – the latter of which will train and hire Afghan refugees to work in its controversial warehouses and transportation centers.

"This effort will empower Afghans beginning a new life in America – in support of the US government's long-term vision of economic and social integration," the Tent Foundation declared.

Chobani CEO Hamdi Ulukaya, who founded the coalition, said in a statement that "every part of our society must play its part to welcome our Afghan brothers and sisters," adding, "They have stood by our side, and we must stand by theirs."

"The moment a refugee gets a job, it's the moment they stop being a refugee" and "can start a new life," Ulukaya said, calling on more American businesses to join the coalition.

In a press release, the Tent Foundation praised Amazon's "remarkable efforts" to include refugees in its US workforce, hiring people from all nationalities at its fulfilment and transportation centers, and "training and placing high-skilled refugees in corporate roles across different business teams."

In a statement of its own, Amazon boasted that it "continually hires immigrants and refugees across the company" and is committed to expanding those efforts, noting the "imminent need" for Afghan refugees.

The United States reportedly evacuated over 65,000 Afghans during its controversial military withdrawal from the country last month – at least 24,000 of which have arrived in the US.

Amazon – which has successfully fought to stop the unionization of its workers – has faced heavy backlash in recent years due to allegations of inhumane employee treatment.

In 2017, an undercover journalist for The Mirror reported that Amazon employees were being treated like "animals" and worked to exhaustion, while in 2018, another journalist claimed Amazon warehouse employees were urinating in bottles to avoid missing their work targets, as bathroom breaks were so strictly timed and facilities were far from work stations.

Hundreds of Amazon workers protested the alleged "inhuman" conditions on Black Friday in 2018. Despite such reports, Amazon has denied ill treatment of its workers, tweeting in March, "You don't really believe the peeing in bottles thing, do you? If that were true, nobody would work for us."

In the same month, however, a leaked Amazon memo showed that the company knew of its drivers defecating into bags while undertaking deliveries. <https://www.rt.com/usa/535464-amazon-hire-afghan-refugees/>

New AUKUS nuclear bloc won't just battle China, it will take West into confrontation with Russia too, Moscow's security chief says

21 Sep, 2021 14:00

Get short URL

A new geopolitical deal that will see the US and UK team up with Australia to station nuclear submarines deep down in the Pacific Ocean is a hostile step aimed not only at Beijing, but at Moscow too, a top Russian official claims.

Nikolay Patrushev, the secretary of Russia's Security Council, told the Argumenty i Fakty newspaper on Tuesday that the pact between the three nations, known as AUKUS, will inevitably be yet another military bloc aimed at containing and confronting the two strongest non-Western powers.

According to the interview, Patrushev compared the pact to QUAD, a strategic dialogue format between the US, India, Japan, and Australia, designed to strengthen Washington's position across Asia. According to him, the group is "a military-political bloc with a pronounced pro-American character."

"Just the other day, another military bloc was formed in the region – the American-British-Australian AUKUS, which pursues the same goals," the top official went on. According to him, the new deal, which will see London and Washington hand over the technical know-how for Canberra to develop and deploy nuclear-powered submarines, is a threat to "the entire security architecture in Asia."

France, which saw its long-delayed multibillion-dollar deal to supply Australia with a fleet of new submarines canned as a result of the new pact, has hit out at the decision. Over the weekend, Paris ordered its ambassadors in Washington and Canberra home as part of a furious response to the move, with the French envoy to Australia accusing his host country of "treason in the making." Jean-Pierre Thebault said that all options were on the table in terms of a diplomatic response after his nation was “stabbed in the back.” https://www.rt.com/russia/535435-aukus-china-confrontation-patrushev/

'Evil at highest level': HHS whistleblower claims massive cover-up of vaccine risks

Hidden-camera probe: 'Everything that we've done so far is unscientific'

By Art Moore Published September 21, 2021 at 3:39pm

HHS registered nurse Jodi O'Malley in an interview with Project Veritas CEO James O'Keefe (Video screenshot)

An employee of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has presented video recordings to Project Veritas of colleagues privately voicing alarm about the safety of the experimental COVID-19 vaccines, alleging a cover-up of "evil at the highest level."

Jodi O'Malley, a registered nurse at the HHS-run Phoenix Indian Medical Center in Arizona, told Project Veritas CEO James O'Keefe in a video featuring the recordings that she's seen dozens of people with adverse reactions to the vaccines come to the facility, but the cases are not being reported.

"You have the FDA, you have the CDC, that are both supposed to be protecting us, but they are under the government, and everything that we've done so far is unscientific," she said.

O'Keefe asked the nurse if she is afraid her employer, the federal government, will retaliate.

"Yeah," she replied. "I'm a federal employee. What other federal employees do you see coming out?"

O'Keefe followed: "But you put your faith in God."

"Amen," she replied. "At the end of the day, it's about your health, and you can never get that back – and about your freedom, and about living in a peaceful society, and I'm like, 'no.' No. This is the hill that I will die on."

She acknowledged that with a 12-year-old child at home to care for, among other things, there is much to lose, "but you know, what kind of person would I be if I knew all of this – this is evil."

On Tuesday, the acting CEO of the Phoenix Indian Medical Center, Holly Elliott, responded to the Project Veritas report, acknowledging that "some of the information contained in this video is distressing."

"We take all complaints seriously and will investigate," she said.

'Shove it under the mat'

O'Malley recorded another nurse on hidden camera saying most incidents aren't being reported to the Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System, known as VAERS, because physicians complain it takes too much time.

She also recorded emergency room physician Dr. Maria Gonzales wondering aloud why HHS won't take into account the natural immunity that comes from infection.

"The problem in here is that they are not doing the studies," Gonzales said to O'Malley. "People that had [COVID-19] and the people that have been vaccinated – they're not doing any antibody testing. Everybody is quiet with that. Why?"

O'Malley told Gonzales of a 30-year-old man who came to the center with congestive heart failure after receiving a second shot.

"He's probably got myocarditis!" Gonzales said. "All this is bull----. Now probably myocarditis due to the vaccine."

The physician added that "they are not going to blame the vaccine."

Gonzales said doctors are violating the requirement to report adverse events and, instead, "want to shove it under the mat."

In her interview with O'Keefe, O'Malley said she's "seen dozens of people come in with adverse reactions." One was a healthy 15-year-old who presented with blood clots three weeks after receiving his first dose of the Pfizer vaccine.

'I think they want people to die'

The incident that prompted her to become a whistleblower, she said, was when a coworker who had served the entire pandemic treating COVID patients in the ICU was forced to take the vaccine despite her religious beliefs.

"It's like nobody – nobody should have to decide between their livelihood [and] being 'a part of the team in the hospital,'" O'Malley said.

Another registered nurse, Deanna Paris, told O'Malley on hidden camera "it's a shame that they're not treating people like they're supposed to."

O'Malley told O'Keefe: "I think they want people to die."

Paris affirmed that the vaccine side effects are not being reported to VAERS, because "it takes over a half an hour to fill out the damn thing."

O'Malley underscored the importance of reporting adverse effects, pointing out that the experimental vaccines, which came to market at least five times faster than ever before, are in Stage 3 clinical trials.

"Normally, Stage 3 clinical trials is where you gather your data," she pointed out.

"If we're not gathering that data and reporting it, then how are we going to say that this is safe and approved for use?" she asked.

The estimated study completion date of the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine, for example, is January 2023. For cohorts such as pregnant women, the clinical trials won't be completed until 2027.

See the video:

'I am not going to lose my job over this'

O'Malley recorded an exchange with Gonzales and another ER physician, Dr. Dale McGee, who defended the government's handling of vaccine research.

"So how come after 18 months, we haven't had any research? Isn't that fishy to you?" O'Malley asked.

Gonzales back her, saying "it is fishy."

McGee replied "it's not that it hasn't been done. It hasn't been published, that's why."

Gonzales retorted: "It hasn't probably been done because the government doesn't want to show that the darn vaccine is full of s---."

O'Malley's whistleblowing also addressed the blocking of off-label COVID treatments that many physicians around the world have found to be effective, particularly hydroxychloroquine and ivermectin.

A pharmacist confirmed to O'Malley that that she's barred from prescribing ivermectin, even though its use for COVID-19 is supported by more than 100 studies and the testimonies of governments such as the Indian state of Uttar Pradesh.

"I am stuck. I am told that you are absolutely not to use it under any circumstances whatsoever for somebody with COVID, unless you don't want to have a job," said pharmacist Gayle Lundberg. "I am not going to lose my job over this." <https://www.wnd.com/2021/09/evil-highest-level-hhs-whistleblower-claims-massive-cover-vaccine-risks/>

Teen Says She Went Into Walgreens for a Flu Shot, She Walked Out with a Sick Surprise

By Michael Austin September 20, 2021 at 11:45am

When Savannah Courtad walked into her local Walgreens only a few days ago, she simply wanted a standard flu shot.

After arriving early and filling out the necessary paperwork, a nurse approached Savannah and asked which arm she would like it in.

Then, the nurse made one little comment that immediately told Savannah something had gone terribly wrong.

"She gave me the shot and as I was leaving told me to come back for my 2nd dose in 21 days," Savannah wrote in an Instagram post on Friday.

Savannah hadn't been given the flu shot. It was the COVID-19 vaccine.

Spoke to an Arizona woman who went to get a flu shot at a large pharmacy chain.

They gave her the Covid jab instead. They apologized for the "mix-up."

She's devastated. She didn't want the Covid shot.

If you are getting a flu shot double check the vial BEFORE you get jabbed.

— Kari Lake for AZ Governor (@KariLake) September 19, 2021

"I quickly rushed to the counter," Savannah wrote. "The lady at the counter reassured me saying that I definitely received the flu shot, I was probably just given the wrong card. She talked to the nurse that gave me the shot and confirmed that no the card was not wrong."

This isn't a story about some crazed anti-vaxxer — Savannah said she was at Walgreens to get her flu vaccine. Like many Americans, she felt uncomfortable receiving the COVID-19 injection.

Once she did receive it, allegedly against her will, the staff didn't have much to offer in terms of apologies.

"They proceeded to say 'sorry we are super busy', 'things like this happen sometimes', and kept repeating 'we all make mistakes,'" Savannah wrote.

"I appreciate the fact that they at least apologized, but this is more than just a 'little' mistake!"

"Nurses can't just go around injecting people with the wrong shot. I never gave consent for the COVID-19 vaccine to be injected into my body. Regardless of one's position on this vaccine I would hope that we can all agree that having something injected into your body should be your CHOICE."

Savannah's story begs the question: How many Americans have been placed in this same predicament?

How many people, hesitant to receive the vaccine for personal reasons, were given a dose without their consent?

This is quite possibly the worst nightmare for anyone who does not want the COVID vaccine. What if it was someone who could not receive a dose for medical or religious reasons?

Even more important than any of that is this: If the vaccine-mandating left gets its way, Savannah's story won't be an uncommon one.

In fact, if the left gets its way, everyone will be getting a COVID-19 vaccine dose whether they like it or not.

And, unlike in Savannah's story, it won't be an accident. <https://www.westernjournal.com/teen-says-went-walgreens-flu-shot-walked-sick-surprise/> [IF you get a regular flu shot be very careful!!! – rdb]

Unvaccinated Bolsonaro forced to eat pizza on NY sidewalk ahead of UN gathering

Brazilian president apparently falls foul of city's COVID indoor dining rules; entry to UN HQ for General Assembly will run on an honor system with no proof of inoculation needed

NEW YORK — Brazilian President Jair Bolsonaro ate pizza on the sidewalk in New York ahead of the UN General Assembly, likely because he doesn't meet the city's COVID-19 vaccine requirements for indoor dining.

The Big Apple currently requires anyone wanting to eat inside to provide proof of at least one shot and Bolsonaro says he is not vaccinated.

"Luxury dinner in New York," tweeted Brazil's secretariat minister Luiz Eduardo Ramos alongside a photo of Bolsonaro enjoying a slice outside with several members of his delegation.

Tourism Minister Gilson Machado also posted a photo of Bolsonaro with slice in hand, writing on Instagram that it was pizza and Coca-Cola for dinner.

"Bolsonaro likes to play humility... but it is not a question of taste," said Brazilian columnist Reinaldo Azevedo, pointing out New York's vaccine requirements.

The city began enforcing a vaccine mandate last week, requiring proof of at least one shot for many indoor activities, including dining, entertainment venues and gyms.

The local government wrote to the president of the United National General Assembly stressing that the debate hall for this week's high-level meeting was a convention center, meaning all delegates must be vaccinated.

The UNGA president, Abdulla Shahid, initially backed the requirement but then backtracked, ruling that entry to the UN headquarters for the debate will be run on an "honor system," with no proof of vaccination required.

As is tradition, Brazil's president is due to give the first speech at the session on Tuesday.

Bolsonaro, heavily criticized for his handling of the pandemic, has said that he would be the "last Brazilian" to receive a COVID-19 vaccine, 222 million doses of which have already been administered in his country.

He arrived in New York City on Sunday evening, with Brazilian media reporting that he had to use the back door to enter his hotel to avoid demonstrators shouting "Get out Bolsonaro!" at the main entrance.

Scientists Want to Replace Injections by Turning Plants into Edible mRNA Vaccines

Katherine Hamilton - 21 Sep 2021 301

Scientists at the University of California-Riverside will be studying how to turn plants into "mRNA vaccine factories," the school announced last week.

The National Science Foundation (NSF), which is partly funded by the federal government and created by Congress in 1950, awarded the school a $500,000 grant in August. The goal of the study is to find a way "to grow edible plants that carry the same medication as an mRNA vaccine," WFLA reported on Saturday.

"Ideally, a single plant would produce enough mRNA to vaccinate a single person," Juan Pablo Giraldo said in a statement. He is an associate professor in UCR's Department of Botany and Plant Sciences and is leading the research.

The study will reportedly be done in collaboration with scientists from UC San Diego and Carnegie Mellon University.

"We are testing this approach with spinach and lettuce and have long-term goals of people growing it in their own gardens," he continued. "Farmers could also eventually grow entire fields of it."

The project overall has three goals, according to the school:

- Showing that DNA containing the mRNA vaccines can be successfully delivered into the part of plant cells where it will replicate
- demonstrating the plants can produce enough mRNA to rival a traditional shot
- determining the right dosage.

Turning mRNA vaccines into edible plants is one solution to the challenge of always keeping mRNA vaccines cold during transport — plant-based mRNA vaccines would ideally be able to be stored at room temperature.

Giraldo said the key to making edible mRNA vaccines are chloroplasts — "small organs in plant cells that convert sunlight into energy the plant can use."

"They're tiny, solar-powered factories that produce sugar and other molecules which allow the plant to grow," he said. "They're also an untapped source for making desirable molecules."

In the past, Giraldo was able to show that chloroplasts can express genes that are not naturally a part of the plant. For this project, he is working with UC San Diego professor of nanoengineering Nicole Steinmetz to "utilize nanotechnologies engineered by her team that will deliver genetic material to the chloroplasts," according to the school.

“Our idea is to repurpose naturally occurring nanoparticles, namely plant viruses, for gene delivery to plants,” Steinmetz said. “Some engineering goes into this to make the nanoparticles go to the chloroplasts and also to render them non-infectious toward the plants.”

The $500,000 mRNA project is set to begin on January 1, 2022 and end in December of 2023, according to the NSF grant database.

Giraldo is also co-leading a related project using nanomaterials to deliver nitrogen, a fertilizer, directly to chloroplasts, where plants need it most. The NSF granted Giraldo and his colleagues $1.6 million “to develop this targeted nitrogen delivery technology.”

“I’m very excited about all of this research,” Giraldo said. “I think it could have a huge impact on peoples’ lives.” <https://www.breitbart.com/politics/2021/09/21/scientists-want-to-replace-injections-by-turning-plants-into-edible-mrna-vaccines> [This is just terrifying! Half of abortionists at Texas chain quit

Rest remaining 'if legal counsel is pre-emptively secured'

By WND News Services Published September 21, 2021 at 2:46pm By Anne Marie Williams, RN, BSN Live Action News

Nine out of 17 abortion providers on staff with Whole Woman’s Health abortion chain in Texas quit when the Heartbeat Act went into effect on September 1, according to the Guardian.

As is common in many states, the “vast majority” of Whole Woman’s Health abortion providers were ‘circuit rider’ abortionists who did not reside in Texas, hailing instead from different parts of the country. For most of them, the stakes simply became too high to continue working in Texas.

Whole Woman’s Health’s CEO and founder, Amy Hagstrom Miller, lamented that “Just because we are complying with SB8 doesn’t stop extremists from saying that we are defying SB8. Even with compliance, there is a reasonable amount of threat that our staff and our doctors have to weigh. There is still so much risk to [the abortionists].”

The Guardian reports that of the eight remaining providers, “[j]ust one of them has agreed to stay on with no questions asked” and “the remainder have agreed to stay on, but only with modifications to their schedules and if legal counsel is pre-emptively secured.”

The national abortion chain’s four active locations in Texas include Austin, McKinney, McAllen, and Fort Worth, where abortion providers hustled 67 abortion patients through in just 17 hours — an average of one abortion performed every 15 minutes — an act applauded by the abortion industry. Besides losing abortion providers themselves, several of the Texas WHW locations have experienced manager resignations as well because of the Heartbeat Act.

Marc Hearron, senior counsel for the pro-abortion Center for Reproductive Rights that is challenging the Heartbeat Act in court, commented that fear of litigation is a powerful motivator for Texas abortion providers when considering whether to keep practicing or pack up. He said, “Even if abortion providers win in every single case brought against them [under SB8], that burden of having to have a lawyer to defend yourself, traveling all over the state to do so – that alone threatens to shut down abortion providers.” More - https://www.wnd.com/2021/09/half-abortionists-texas-chain-quit/

Retired state Supreme Court justice cites 'evidence' of 2020 election wrongdoing

Finds officials apparently didn't follow the law

By Bob Unruh Published September 21, 2021 at 6:36pm

There's another crack in the façade that has been supported by establishment politicians and legacy media following last year's presidential election that there was nothing wrong, no mistakes, no fraud, nothing to see.

Michael Gableman, a retired Wisconsin state Supreme Court justice appointed to review that state's election integrity, has confirmed what could end up being a significant problem.

That is that there apparently is "some evidence" state officials did not follow established state law last November.

That's when Joe Biden narrowly won the state by a comparative handful of votes. He did the same in several other swing states that also revealed suspicious circumstances and through those tabulations won the White House.

It was during 2020 that multiple jurisdictions across the country simply ignored or changed state laws regarding mail-in ballots to accommodate COVID-19, even though the Constitution allows only state lawmakers to make such changes.

Multiple lawsuits were prompted by the suspicion circumstances of the ballot counting, and they failed. But several states now are in the process of auditing, or beginning to audit, their results.

Further, that there was outside influence is evident through the fact that Mark Zuckerberg of Facebook megawealth turned over some $350 million to mostly leftist vote counters for them to run their counting operations in November.

The Washington Examiner reported Gableman is part of a team leading a GOP-backed investigation into the state's election.

He's suggested he'll subpoena election officials who don't cooperate with his investigation. Wisconsin Assembly Speaker Robin Vos turned to Gableman with the work, giving him the authority to hire full-time investigators.

"Some evidence has been produced previously that shows some election officials acted unilaterally in deciding not to follow established state law," Gableman said in a video released Monday. "We will request from those officials and others with potential knowledge of unlawful actions and will compel them if necessary to produce documents and testimony that will allow the public to gain a comprehensive understanding of how their elections were managed."

State lawmakers in Wisconsin authorized up to $680,000 to fund the investigation. <https://www.wnd.com/2021/09/retired-state-supreme-court-justice-cites-evidence-2020-election-wrongdoing/>

Commentary:

The Unvaxxed ARE Following the Science

By Lex Greene/September 21st, 2021

I'm going to keep this one very short and get right to the most critical point today!

STOP THESE FATAL VACCINES IMMEDIATELY!

We have been lied to every day since day one of the so-called COVID19 pandemic. When we were told to put on a mask, we read the mask manufacturer's WARNING on the side of every box, which states unequivocally that none of these masks are designed to, or capable of, preventing the spread of any virus. We also read the damage done to human beings who breathe carbon dioxide all day, behind that mask. We followed the real science.

When we were told to voluntarily self-quarantine, we read up on the benefits of quarantining healthy people and quickly learned that never in the history of medicine worldwide, have healthy people ever been quarantined for any reason. We also learned that human beings are not designed to be cooped up for weeks, months and years, for very real and well-known physical and mental health reasons. We followed this science too.

We looked up "corona virus" and quickly realized that this medical label covers a wide variety of "common colds" and flus.

"Coronaviruses are found in avian and mammalian species. They resemble each other in morphology and chemical structure: for example, the coronaviruses of humans and cattle are antigenically related. There is no evidence, however, that human coronaviruses can be transmitted by animals. In animals, various coronaviruses invade many different tissues and cause a variety of diseases, but in humans they are only proved to cause mild upper respiratory infections, i.e. common colds. On rare occasions, gastrointestinal coronavirus infection has been associated with outbreaks of diarrhea in children, but these enteric viruses are not well characterized and are not discussed in this chapter." (Source)

We researched and found that "COVID19" is allegedly a new "variant" of SARS1 \(2002-2004\) which was very quickly and quietly eradicated in the USA with the Fauci and FDA authorized use of Hydroxychloroquine, Zinc, Vitamin D and a powerful anti-inflammatory. This is the very therapeutic treatment denied the American people in 2020 and 2021 and still denied the people today. Meanwhile, we were told to stay indoors, away from the sun, which is a natural source of Vitamin D.

We tried to follow this science, but the "experts" denied the American people access to this known cure for SARS.

Throughout all known science, the best defense against illness is the natural immune system. "Herd immunity" has most often been achieved by allowing humans to acquire a mild version through normal human contact, until a majority of society had built natural immunity to the illness. When I was a kid, mothers would rush their kids down the road to the neighbor's house on first news of someone catching the mumps, chicken pox, or measles, so that all of the kids in the area would become immune for the future. It's called "natural herd immunity." Past doctors used to tell mothers to do this.

This science was prohibited by today's "experts" as well, as they put the entire world on isolation and self-quarantine to prevent natural immunity from occurring.

Once today's "experts" prevented natural herd immunity through their insane W.H.O. and CDC guidelines, they rushed to market so-called "vaccines" (mRNA DNA gene manipulation injections) under the guise of herd immunity via inoculation.

But the unvaxxed watched as those so-called vaccines didn't prevent infection, spread, illness or even death from COVID19. The REAL experts on the subject were trying to warn the entire world NOT to follow the herd into a death march...but were being threatened and silenced by the government experts responsible for creating COVID19 in the Wuhan "gain of function" lab, and then selling $$$ billions $$$ in fatal vaccines to the government.

We (the unvaxxed) simply refuse to follow the mad scientists behind all of this, like Fauci, Gates, Soros, and many others. We ARE following the real science, instead.

As of this writing, NONE of the "vaccines" in use today are FDA approved. However, Hydroxychloroquine and Ivermectin have both been approved for human use for more than 40-years now and prescribed for human patients millions of times since. This is the science "we the unvaxxed" have been following the whole time, while those with a herd mentality simply failed to do their own research and have followed Simon says...towards the cliff!

But most importantly, We the Unvaxxed, have followed this indisputable science...

Tens of thousands of Americans have already died after taking any one of the "vaccines" currently in use. Millions of others suffer life altering adverse effects from ALL of these vaccines. READ THEM FOR YOURSELF HERE. This is why the top two FDA officials over review and approval of all vaccines just resigned, after refusing yet again, to approve any of the COVID vaccines or boosters.

As I have warned in previous columns, the so-called "Delta variant" is coming from these vaccines, as the UK now seems to confirm in this video report.

The simple fact is, no one who has received any of these "vaccines" had the opportunity to offer their "informed consent" because they have been fed outright lies, and denied access to the REAL SCIENCE associated with the "vaccines" the Biden Administration is working around the clock to FORCE ON EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD in the USA.

No intelligent human would ever take one of these vaccines after reading these adverse event reports. No decent human being would ever suggest anyone else take one, much less force them on anyone, after reading these VAERS Reports. I feel sorry for those who have been duped into following the herd instead of following the science. Hopefully, there will be a means to reverse what lays in store for their future.

This mass genocide MUST END NOW! Every American must stand together in critical mass, or we will not survive the escalating deprivation of the Natural Human Right to LIFE!

China's Vast New Nuclear Build-Up

When "China is 'Untouchable' in Terms of Military Power"

by Judith Bergman September 21, 2021 at 5:00 am

China is significantly increasing its nuclear weapons capabilities. Several recent reports show that China is constructing 120 missile silos for intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBMs) near Yumen in Gansu, up to 110 silos near Hami in the eastern part of the Xinjian region and up to 40 silos in Ordos in Inner Mongolia. ICBMs are defined as missiles with a minimum range of 5,500 kilometers, and primarily designed for nuclear weapons delivery.

"The silo construction at Yumen and Hami constitutes the most significant expansion of the Chinese nuclear arsenal ever," according to Matt Korda and Hans Kristensen, in a report on the Hami field for the Federation of American Scientists. "All told... discoveries indicate that China might be constructing nearly 300 new missile silos," they wrote in September.

"The number of apparent missile silos under construction is similar to the total number of nuclear warheads in the current Chinese stockpile; it exceeds the number of missile silos operated by Russia; it is approaching the number of silos operated by the United States; and it constitutes the largest silo construction since the United States and Russia established their ICBM forces during the Cold War."

In May, China's Global Times, a Chinese state-owned newspaper, quoted Chinese military experts urging the government to increase the number of nuclear weapons. Song Zhongping, a Chinese military expert and TV commentator, told the Global Times:

"Considering that the US deems China its top imaginary enemy, China needs to increase the quantity and quality of nuclear weapons, especially submarine-launched ballistic missiles, to effectively safeguard its national security, sovereignty and development interests,"

Also according to Global Times, "Some military experts said China should increase the number of its most advanced intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM), the DF-41...." Road-mobile, it has an operational range of up to 15,000 km -- making it able to reach the US -- and reportedly can be armed with up to 10 nuclear warheads.

Also important for China, Song Zhongping told Global Times, is strengthening sea-based strategic nuclear deterrence. He added that its most advanced submarine-launched ballistic missile (SLBM) could effectively counter the US threat.

Needless to say, what the PRC regards as a "threat", as in the word "imaginary" above, can be highly subjective.

China's newest SLBM, the JL-3, reportedly has a range of more than 10,000 kilometers, meaning that it could reach different parts of the US mainland, depending on the location of the launching submarine. This missile, an upgrade of the JL-2, is not yet operational, but has been tested three times. China is currently working on the next-generation submarine - the 096 Class -- expected to carry up to 24 JL-3 missiles. China presented its latest nuclear-powered submarine, the Type 094A, at the PLA Navy's 72-year anniversary in May.

According to a recent report by the Center for Strategic and International Studies:

"If launched from waters near China, the JL-2 would have sufficient range to strike nuclear states in the region, such as Russia and India, but would be unable to reach the continental United States. It could, however, threaten Guam, Hawaii, and Alaska."

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken expressed his concern over China's apparent nuclear buildup at the recently concluded ASEAN Regional Forum. State Department spokesman Ned Price said after the meeting:

"The secretary... noted deep concern with the rapid growth of the PRC's [People's Republic of China] nuclear arsenal which highlights how Beijing has sharply deviated from its decades-old nuclear strategy based on minimum deterrence."

Admiral Charles Richard, Commander of United States Strategic Command, warned in August:

"China's explosive growth and modernization of its nuclear and conventional forces can only be what I describe as breathtaking. Frankly, that word, breathtaking, may not be enough... There's been a lot of speculation out there as to why they are doing all of this. I just want to say right now, it really doesn't matter why... What matters is they are building the capability to execute any plausible nuclear employment strategy — the last brick in the wall of a military capable of coercion."

Although Chinese officials have not addressed the claims, Global Times, known for channeling Beijing's line, has been publishing a number of articles in which it addresses the issue. In one article, published in late July, Global Times concluded:

"Americans should know as clearly as the Chinese do about what level of nuclear power China really needs to build. It would be a nuclear force strong enough to make the US -- from the military to the government -- fear... The dynamic equilibrium will be achieved when the radical elites in the US completely lose the courage to even think about using nuclear weapons against China, and when the entire US society is fully aware that China is 'untouchable' in terms of military power."

"There is no information from Beijing on whether it is strengthening its nuclear buildup in the face of a realistic threat from Washington" Global Times' editor-in-chief, Hu Xijin, wrote in a more recent piece.

"But even if we were doing that, it would have nothing to do with Southeast Asian countries, or even with Japan and Australia, because China's nuclear policy also includes another firm commitment of not using or threatening to use nuclear weapons against any non-nuclear-weapon state. Once China substantially strengthens its nuclear forces, its only purpose will be to deter the US... we must be prepared for the possibility that a war could eventually occur in the Taiwan Straits or the South China Sea."

In May 2020, in social media posts, Hu Xijin, according to Asia Times, openly called on China's military to more than triple its nuclear bomb and warhead stockpile to 1,000.

China's nuclear buildup must be seen in the context of the Chinese Communist Party's ambition to have, in President Xi Jinping's own words, "a world class military", as well as its ambition to achieve global domination.

The Pentagon wrote in its 2020 comprehensive report on China's military power:

"Although the CCP has not defined what a 'world-class' military means within the context of the PRC's national strategy it is likely that Beijing will seek to develop a military by mid-century that is equal to—or in some cases superior to—the U.S. military, or that of any other great power that the PRC views as a threat."

As Center for American Progress noted in 2019:

"In June 2018—immediately following Trump administration withdrawals from the Iran nuclear deal and the U.N. Human Rights Council—President Xi delivered a major foreign policy speech in which he stated that China would 'lead the reform of the global governance system.' That speech marked Beijing's first official deviation from the 'never claim leadership' principle Deng Xiaoping established in 1989 when laying out the regime's post-Tiananmen survival strategy. ... Going forward, the international community should expect China's ambitions and activities to increase substantially, particularly if the United States continues to disengage from the multilateral arena and provide maximum maneuvering room."

Such ambition makes little practical sense, unless China achieves at minimum nuclear parity with the US. While China's official nuclear policy is that of "minimum deterrence" and a "no-first-use policy", there is no reason why the international community should trust such officially communicated doctrines. China continues to strengthen its military space capabilities, despite its public stance against the weaponization of space. China is widely known for breaking its pledges, as evidenced by, among other things, its militarization of artificial islands in the South China Sea, or its crackdown on Hong Kong in contravention of the UN-registered treaty on the territory. According to Admiral Charles Richard, if you add up all of China's modernization efforts, "what you get is something that is inconsistent with a minimum deterrence posture."

"Their actions have long belied a posture more aggressive than their official policy — you've got to look at what they do, not what they say...China has correctly figured out, you can't coerce a peer — in other words, us — from a minimum deterrent posture."

Forced Jobs, Health Fascism and Medical Apartheid

By Kelleigh Nelson/September 21st, 2021

We could lower the rise in population by 10-15% through vaccines, healthcare and reproductive services. — Bill Gates

Propaganda works best when those who are being manipulated are confident that they are acting on their own free will. —Joseph Goebbels

The CDC is now listing vaccinated COVID-19 people as Unvaccinated deaths if they died within 14 days of the vaccine. —Dr. Simone Gold

Unless we put medical freedom into the Constitution, the time will come when medicine will organize an undercover dictatorship. To restrict the art of healing to one class of men and deny equal privilege to others, will be to constitute the Bastille of medical science. All such laws are un-American and despotic and have no place in a Republic. The Constitution of this Republic should make special privilege for medical freedom as well as religious freedom. —Benjamin Rush, M.D. Signer of the Declaration of Independence

The restrictive protocols on safe and inexpensive drug treatments for COVID-19 are in place for two reasons, to depopulate the entire world and to enrich Big Pharma and their globalist friends.

There's talk of boosters but there were fireworks at the recent "Vaccine" Advisory Committee meeting. The 18-member committee voted 16 to 2 against approving the booster shots, although later they did give their endorsement on approving them for people 65 and older. They seem to want those they refer to as "useless eaters" to die off first, saving Medicare and Social Security for illegal aliens.

In a recent interview with British funeral director John O'Looney, he said that during the COVID "pandemic," he saw no more deaths than he'd seen the previous years. However, after Big Pharma's jab came out, deaths skyrocketed like he'd never seen before and the top causes were blood clots, strokes, heart attack, and multiple organ failure. He stated unequivocally that Delta is a vaccine injury.

Meanwhile, thousands of people injured by the jab are calling Project Veritas wanting to tell their stories. James O'Keefe of Project Veritas reads a few of the emails in this video following a short clip from Tucker Carlson.

O'Keefe video here.

Conspiracy and Collusion

Yes Virginia, there is a conspiracy.

Rep. Thomas Massey (R-KY) tells us that Facebook's fact checker is funded by an organization that holds $2 billion of vaccine maker stock. Thomas Massey consistently scores 100% on New American Magazine's Freedom Index.

In 1995, Dr. Archie Kalokerinos' interview in the International Vaccine Newsletter, stated, "My final conclusion after forty years...the unofficial policy of the World Health Organization and the unofficial policy of 'Save the Children's Fund' and almost all those organizations is one of murder and genocide. They want to make it appear as if they are saving these kids, but in actual fact they don't. I am talking of those at the very top. Beneath that level is another level of doctors and health workers like myself, who don't really understand what they are doing.”

West Virginia Governor Jim Justice stated on September 3rd, 2021 that WV is seeing a positive increase of 26% of people who are fully vaccinated over the last eight weeks. And a 21% increase in break through cases requiring hospitalization for people fully vaccinated. WV has also seen a 25% increase in deaths of people who are fully vaccinated over the last eight weeks. What is not shown in the link is that he tells people to get the boosters. We know that if a “vaccine” doesn't even protect for a year and doesn't have more than a 50% chance of saving people that it is worthless.

COVID case rates are exploding in areas with high clot-shot rates. Several scientists and physicians have openly stated that the Delta strain is from those who've had the jab...that it enhances the virus. A preprint paper by the prestigious Oxford University Clinical Research Group, published Aug. 10 in The Lancet, found vaccinated individuals carry 251 times the load of COVID-19 viruses in their nostrils compared to the unvaccinated. Link

Sharyl Attkisson reported on a study of why vaccinated people are getting so sick. It's called Antibody Dependent Enhancement (ADE). We've heard this from several physicians and scientists. According to scientific study, the ADE risk was well known prior to the Covid-19 vaccines being allowed on the market.

Scientists say that with ADE, after people get vaccinated for an initial virus, infection by a subsequent variant or strain of the virus can result in “increased viral replication and more severe disease, leading to major safety risks.”

The vast majority of people who are getting injected for Sars-coV-2 will die within a few short years from heart failure, warns Dr. Charles Hoffe, M.D., a medical practitioner in British Columbia, Canada. Hoffe explains that he is observing in his patients who took an mRNA jab from either Pfizer-BioNTech or Moderna that their capillaries are now plugging up, which he says will eventually lead to a serious cardiovascular event.

Sars-coV-2 mRNA shots are programmed to turn a person's body into a spike protein “factory,” and Dr. Hoffe says that over time these mass-produced spike proteins cause progressive blood clotting. No fewer than 60 percent of people who take an mRNA injection will suffer from these blood clots – and in the end, an overwhelming majority will end up six feet under due to the damage caused.

Dr. Robert Malone, the inventor of messenger RNA says to please ask yourself, “Why is the USA requiring vaccination for all with an outdated vax, when many have already been infected, recovered and developed natural immunity? Stop. Think. Why the censorship? Why the mandates? Why the constant propaganda push?”

Woke editors of 220 leading medical, nursing and public-health journals from around the world, including The Lancet, who lied about Hydroxychloroquine, the New England Journal of Medicine and the British Medical Journal are calling for action on climate control. They're warning that current efforts aren't enough to address health problems resulting from rising global temperatures caused by emissions of carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gases. What utter rubbish!

COVID-19 unvaccinated get ratted out everywhere by neighbors, friends and even family, but at St. Paul's Catholic Church in Lexington, Kentucky, two priests were ratted out prior to the close of mass by their Bishop, John Stowe. I'm not sure these two priests would be covered from their “boss,” as “employer” under HIPAA, but it would be nice if they could sue their Bishop.

President Joe Biden recently announced that all nursing home employees must be vaccinated against COVID-19. Failure to comply could result in nursing facilities losing Medicare and Medicaid funding. This vaccine mandate will further exacerbate the shortage of nursing home workers, lead to the shutting down of many long-term care facilities and have severe adverse effects on America's frail and elderly citizens. Since the jabbed carry 251 times the load of COVID-19 viruses in their nostrils, they will easily spread the Delta strain throughout nursing homes.

Advisers to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration voted on September 17th to recommend COVID-19 vaccine booster shots for Americans 65 and older and those at high risk of severe illness, after overwhelmingly rejecting a call for broader approval.

The panel also recommended that the FDA include healthcare workers and others at high risk of occupational exposure to the virus that causes COVID-19, such as teachers. Link

Despite the narrowed scope of the proposed authorization, the panel's recommendation would cover most Americans who got their shots in the earliest stages of the U.S. vaccination campaign.

“Today was an important step forward in providing better protection to Americans from COVID-19,” White House spokesperson Kevin Munoz said. “We stand ready to provide booster shots to eligible Americans once the process concludes at the end of next week,” he said.

The FDA advisory panel declined to endorse Pfizer BioNTech booster shots for age 16 and over.

Pfizer actually claims their COVID jab is safe and effective for ages 5-11. Why? Children don't get COVID!

Pfizer's COVID jab could be rolled out to babies as young as six months in America this winter under plans being drawn up by the pharmaceutical giant. The company intends to apply for authorization to immunize American infants within the next two months. Why? So, they're permanently damaged or dead?

Mississippi nurses report a toxic work culture growing between the jabbed and un-jabbed. A huge division is taking place in the medical arena.

It has gotten worse. Leo Hohman's recent article exposed a Cartersville, Georgia hospital who weaponized Biden's vax mandate, and held a couple against their will for days. The couple's daughter had power of attorney, but the hospital would not release the couple to the daughter unless she could prove she was jabbed.

All three COVID vaccines have changed their names. "The Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine is Comirnaty, the Moderna vaccine will be named SpikeVax, and the AstraZeneca vaccine will be named Vaxzevria," Health Canada said in a tweet Thursday.

Fascism

The 19th century notion that God was dead led to man becoming an untamed beast in the 20th century. The 21st century is reaping the rewards of predatory evil and harvesting the fruits of their demonic labors using the top factor of "fear." "Ye shall not surely die."

Don't take that jab!

Remember the Nuremberg Codes of 1946 which came about after the horrors of the Holocaust. Dr. Peter McCullough says, "Never put risk on someone else by telling them, 'I took it, you should too.' Whenever we take an injection, the risk is on us and only on us. The principle of autonomy says, 'Under no circumstances will anyone have anything forced into their body in any form of pressure, coercion or threat of reprisal.'"

"Pressure means any type of peer pressure from teachers, athletes or schools. Coercion means, 'You take it or you're going to lose your job.' Threat of reprisal means, 'If you don't take it, then I'm going to go get you.'"

He tells in the video link that military men are being held down and given the jab when they didn't want it. "A needle in every arm" is the mantra. He exposes that at Houston Hospital there are 200 nurses who have contraindications for taking the jab, pregnancy, allergic reactions, blood clots, etc., but the hospital still fired them all.

Tucker Carlson's September 20th show exposed that Navy SEALs are being threatened to immediately take the COVID jab giving them little time to mount a defense. There are only 2,500 of them and their training is extensive and expensive. Hundreds of them are saying they don't want the jab because they live in close quarters, have had COVID and have natural God-given immunity. Others have religious or moral reasons but are told none of these reasons count. Military readiness is being destroyed by forcing these unnecessary inoculations. Davis Younts is their military defense lawyer.

Dr. McCullough tells us there are six cornerstones of ethics and research and they are covered by the Office of Human Protection and Research in the United States. First comes the Nuremberg Code, second is the Declaration of Helsinki which is a set of ethical principles regarding human experimentation developed for the medical community by the World Medical Association. It is regarded as the cornerstone document on human research ethics. Fauci has said that "vaccine" immunity is far better than natural immunity, but Dr. McCullough explains we've had thousands of jab failures, but not one failure with God's natural immunity.

The good doctor commented that small businesses, military and so many others should choose those who've recovered and have natural immunity to run the businesses, to be on the missions...we need those who are "naturally immune." The CDC when they conduct the "vaccine program" never ask if someone is naturally immune! They never ask if they had COVID-19. Once again, denying God's handiwork of natural immunity in His Creation. He also stated that 25 to 30% of those who were inoculated should not have had it as they had natural immunity.

Please don't miss Dr. McCullough's important video where he is speaking to a church audience in Michigan. He gives us stats from the CDC's website, none of which we hear from our Pravda media. He tells them, "If you've had no repercussions from the COVID jab, thank the Lord."

UK Professor and M.D. Sucharit Bhakdi's short four-minute video is telling. He explains that like his colleague, Dr. Peter McCullough, using the clinical combination of drugs for Sars-coV-2, they can reduce the death rate lower than the seasonal flu. In the UK, they're now starting to jab children and the BBC is promoting this with Boris Johnson.

Totalitarianism has become the norm and our God-given freedoms are being shredded. After the "stealing of America," one party gained control of the entire political system. Opposition parties are prohibited, individual opposition is outlawed, and they're flexing their muscles with unconstitutional control over both our public and private lives.

During the Nuremberg trials, even the media was prosecuted and put to death for lying to the public. The propaganda spewing mainstream media have brainwashed Americans with lies since the 1964 Supreme court decision in NYTs v. Sullivan.

Victor Frankl, the great psychiatrist, neurologist and author who survived the Holocaust, wrote this stinging critique:

The gas chambers of Auschwitz were the ultimate consequence of the theory that man is nothing but the product of heredity and environment—or, as the Nazis like to day, “Of Blood and Soil.” I’m absolutely convinced that the gas chambers of Auschwitz, Treblinka, and Majdanek were ultimately prepared not in some ministry or other in Berlin, but rather at the desks and in the lecture halls of nihilistic scientists and philosophers.

Ideas do have consequences, and today we are facing some of the most demonic brought to us by Bill Gates, Anthony Fauci, Big Pharma, the Rockefeller Foundation, Soros and Klaus Schwab to name just a few.

Hitler was a thoroughly demonized being whose body was but the shell for the spirit that inhabited him. Those named above, politicians who have usurped their authority and trashed our Constitution, the medical industry who has failed to help rather than injure, sports figures who won't stand for our flag, abortionists who murder and then make money selling little one's body parts, actors who spew their venom against anyone who loves freedom and yes, even our pulpits have been filled with demonic entities.

Our once beautiful venerated Judeo-Christian heritage and society is being desecrated, stomped on and destroyed. Our Jewish brothers and sisters are especially targeted and have been throughout history. Christians have suffered the similar attacks, but now these attacks are openly carried out in the streets of America. The God we both worship is hated by the enemies of freedom.

These entities seem to own and run everything. Read Jim O'Neill's Monolithic Monopoly an investigative report regarding the primary shareholders of top companies, Vanguard, Blackrock and State Street.

Health fascism has arrived.

Jab Mandates

Tens of millions of Americans face being fired, kicked out of school, removed from our military, refused medical care, for having faith in the immune system God gave them to overcome a virus with a 99.75% survival rate for the overwhelming majority of the population.

A hospital in upstate New York won't be delivering newborns after six employees in the maternity ward resigned instead of taking the jab. There is a good side to this. My daughter gave birth to all five of her children at home with a mid-wife. None of her babies received the dozens of vaccines they immediately give newborns; vaccines which have been linked to an increase in autism, now affecting one in 82 children.

Biden has ordered COVID-19 jab mandates for federal employees and for workers in private companies. His unconstitutional and dictatorial mandate could affect 100 million Americans and applies to federal employees, health care workers, companies that contract with the government, and private companies that have 100 or more employees. The mandate allows for weekly COVID-19 testing as an alternative to getting the vaccine. Newsweek reported Biden has exempted federal judges, congress and their staff and the postal workers. There's one other group Biden has assiduously avoided targeting with his vaccine pronouncements: illegal immigrants. Why? Because the CDC endorsed giving them ivermectin.

“As part of this effort, the Department of Defense, the Department of Veterans Affairs, the Indian Health Service, and the National Institute of Health (NIH) will complete implementation of their previously announced vaccination requirements that cover 2.5 million people.”

How nice! Unbelievable...for a flu bug with a 99.75% recovery and for those with comorbidities, the recovery rate is 94.68%. We don't need a clot shot and we certainly don't need this “warp speed” experimental jab being given to everyone from infants to the elderly. We need the clinical drugs so many top-rated physicians and scientists around the world have used to save their patients.

Teens are 50 times more likely to have heart disease after COVID jabs than all other FDA approved vaccines in 2021 combined. The CDC admits this is true but still recommends the jab!

The VAERS COVID data from September 9, 2021 should frighten anyone away from this medical apartheid. There is a dark history of experimentation on black Americans, our military, prisoners and the general population. We are seen as guinea pigs ripe for experimentation and this COVID jab is no different.

There are now 675,591 reports on the Vaccine Adverse Effects Reporting System (VAERS). It takes physicians 30 minutes to fill out the questionnaire, with risk of losing their license to practice if they do it improperly. This is the primary reason only one percent is reported.

Corona Investigative Committee Summary

Attorney Dr. Reiner Fuellmich, an experienced trial lawyer licensed in Germany and California and co-founder of the Corona Investigative Committee, summarizes their findings in a 40-minute interview.

Video here.

Conclusion

Political cartoonist, Ben Garrison commented that livestock are involuntarily medicated, but we're not livestock. The government considers America's masses their chattel and are grinding our God-given rights under their bootheels. Medical apartheid has arrived, just not for Biden's fellow comrades.

Gab President, Andrew Torba tells us, "Companies without mandates will perform better and get all of the best talent. Doctors will start private practices. Families will begin to homeschool their children. Blue states and major cities will see a mass exodus unlike anything in American history.

All we have to do is say no and start building a new society for ourselves.

We need to take control of our own destiny and do what needs to be done to protect our families and preserve our values and indeed our own humanity."

Foreign Ministry: 'Butcher of Tehran' continues to fool intl. community'

Israel responds to speech by Iranian president at UN General Assembly. 'Intl. community must prevent any possibility of them getting nukes,'

Arutz Sheva Staff, Sep 22, 2021 12:04 AM

Israel's Foreign Ministry responded to the speech given by Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi at the United Nations General Assembly Tuesday, "Iran's ayatollah regime constitutes a clear and immediate threat to the Middle East and world peace," the ministry said,

"The new government in Iran, headed by the "Butcher of Tehran" Raisi, and consisting largely of ministers suspected of terrorism and on global sanctions lists, is the extremist face of a regime that has brought harm to Iranian citizens for over forty years, which encourages and finances terrorism, and which is destabilizing the entire Middle East.

"Raisi continues to fool the international community in a speech filled with lies and cynicism.

"The international community must condemn the Iranian regime and prevent any possibility of nuclear capabilities and weapons falling into the hands of these extremists," the ministry's statement concluded.

Florida expected to divest from Unilever next month

Florida's top pension investment officer says state has not received 'meaningful response' from Unilever after Ben & Jerry's boycott.

Gary Willig, Sep 21, 2021 11:10 PM

The top pension investment officer of the state of Florida stated that the state will likely divest from Ben & Jerry's parent company Unilever next month after the ice cream company announced its boycott of Judea and Samaria, Reuters reported.

Ash Williams, chief investment officer of the Florida State Board of Administration, said at a webcast meeting Tuesday that officials had not "seen any meaningful response from Unilever."

Unilever caused an uproar with its controversial July 19 announcement that it will stop selling the Ben & Jerry's ice cream in Judea and Samaria.

New Jersey and Arizona have both announced that they will divest from all investments in Unilever following its boycott of Judea and Samaria.

Texas, Illinois, Maryland, and Rhode Island are also considering divesting from Unilever.

In addition, a number of supermarket chains have announced that they will no longer stock Ben & Jerry's products following the controversial decision. They include Glatt Express Supermarket, Seasons, Morton Williams Supermarkets, Gristede's Supermarkets, and others. <https://www.israelnationalnews.com/News/News.aspx/313816>

2 Hatzalah ambucycles stolen on first day of Sukkot

2 ambucycles stolen in Jerusalem neighborhood, 3rd theft attempt foiled in Tel Aviv. 1 ambucycle recovered so far.

Arutz Sheva Staff, Sep 21, 2021 11:53 PM

one of the stolen ambucycles courtesy

Two United Hatzalah ambucycles were stolen from two different Jerusalem neighborhoods, and a third attempted theft took place in Tel Aviv over the first day of Sukkot.

One of the ambucycles stolen was recovered by a joint effort by the organization, the IDF, and the Israeli police, after it was tracked to the Palestinian Authority town of ad-Dhahiriya (Dahariya) south of Hebron. The second vehicle has yet to be recovered.

In Tel Aviv, thieves attempted to steal one of the organization's ambucycles but were deterred by the internal security system and protocols put in place by the organization to safeguard the vehicles.

In addition to being secured by a thick metal chain that is put in place by its driver overnight and a series of other protocols put in place by the organization, each United Hatzalah ambucycle is secured and tracked utilizing advanced technology from Ituran Location and Control Ltd. Ituran's tracking technology was responsible for locating the stolen vehicle in Hebron on Tuesday.

"These were the third, fourth, and fifth attempts this week to steal United Hatzalah ambucycles," said President and Founder of United Hatzalah Eli Beer. Unfortunately, this has become somewhat of a plague affecting the work of our volunteers who rely on these vehicles to respond to medical emergencies and save lives. These are the first two attempts in a while to have been successful and in both cases, the protocols put in place by the organization were circumvented, something that the thieves did not succeed at doing in the other three instances, including today in Tel Aviv. Thanks to our partnership with Ituran, and our collaboration with the IDF and the police, both of whom responded to the situation quickly and effectively, we were successful in recovering one of the ambucycles and we will work tirelessly until we recover the second."

"It is the worst feeling to wake up and walk outside and instead of seeing my ambucycle chained up and parked where it normally is, to simply see a cut chain and no ambucycle. I was not able to respond to any medical emergency over the holiday because of it and there were quite a few in my neighborhood," said Avraham, the United Hatzalah volunteer EMT whose ambucycle was stolen. <https://www.israelnationalnews.com/News/News.aspx/313818>
