Congleton police urge residents to review home security as winter approaches

Congleton Local Policing Unit is urging residents to review their home security as winter approaches and the days get shorter.

While officers and detectives continue to investigate burglaries and bring offenders to justice, we would urge people to look at the steps you can take to make life difficult for thieves. Simply by always ensuring doors and windows are locked, even when you are at home, and remembering to remove keys from locks and keep them out of sight you can thwart thieves at the first hurdle. You can also use timer switches on lights when you're away which can help make your home appear occupied, while secure outdoor lighting and CCTV can act as effective deterrents.

Sergeant Vicky Welch from Congleton Local Policing Unit, said: "I'd urge you to stay vigilant and utilise our advice and guidance on protecting your home from thieves. It's vital you report any suspicious activity you see in your neighbourhood so we can check it out. By working together and looking out for one another, we can help reduce opportunities for criminals and keep our communities safe. If you see anything suspicious, report it to Cheshire Police online or by calling 101. In an emergency, always dial 999."

Tips to help reduce the risk of burglary:

- Windows and Doors – make sure all windows and doors are not only shut at night or when you're not at home but also locked. Don't leave valuable items or car keys on display. They just may well catch the attention of someone passing by. Fit mortice locks or bolts to all outside doors and gates and locks to all downstairs or easily accessible windows. Lock them even when you're at home – opportunist thieves will often just try doors in the hope they have been left open. Consider anti-snap lock barrels as we are seeing an increase in lock attack type offences.
- Alarms – Have an approved alarm system installed – ask your insurance company for advice. Always remember to activate it when you go out. Consider a CCTV system or video doorbell.
- Security Lights Internal and External – Fit an approved, motion sensor security light – this not only serves as a safety device for you but also as a deterrent to any potential burglars approaching the house. When you're not at home use automatic timer switches to turn on your lights when it goes dark to make it look like someone is in.
- Front Door and Letterbox – Consider chains, especially if you have no front door viewer. Use letterbox restrictors and don't leave car keys in sight as thieves sometimes use hook and canes in order to steal car keys.
- Driveway – Gravel driveways are noisy when you walk on them are a deterrent to thieves thinking of breaking into your house.
- Vehicles – make sure all windows, sunroofs and doors are locked when a vehicle is left unattended, even if just a few minutes. Remove valuables from vehicle completely.

- Wheelie Bins – Don't leave your recycling bins out as they can be used as a step to climb over a high wall or fence. Also think about your Christmas packaging, is this an advert for what new appliances your home has?
- Garden, Gates and Fences – Prevent intruders getting to the back and sides of your home by installing strong fencing or gates. Check for weak spots where a thief could get into your garden, for example, a low or sagging fence, or a back gate with a weak lock. A thorny hedge along the boundary can put thieves off. But make sure that passers-by can still see the front of your home so that a burglar can't work without being seen.
- Sheds – Put all your tools away so that they cannot be used to break into your house, and lock your garage and shed with security locks or padlocks. Consider anchoring heavy and expensive items such as a bike and lawn mowers to the floor to make it difficult for them to be stolen.

Macclesfield drug dealer jailed

A man from Macclesfield has been jailed after he admitted his involvement in the supply of class A drugs.

Aaron Bradley appeared at Chester Crown Court on Friday 18 September where he was sentenced to 45 months in prison. The 35-year-old, of Summerton Road, Macclesfield, had earlier pleaded guilty to being concerned in the supply of class A drugs (cocaine), and possession of class B drugs (cannabis). The case against him began on Friday 29 May, when police were called to reports of a disturbance at a hotel on Gawsworth Road, Congleton. Staff reported that the occupants were due to check-out at 12pm, but instead they had barricaded themselves inside the room. They also reported concerns over the behaviour of the couple, who had been repeatedly going back and forth to cars which attended the car park for a short period before leaving.

Officers attended and gained entry into the room where they located Bradley, along with a woman. The pair were arrested and during a search Bradley was found in possession of £740 cash. During a search of the room, officers also located a significant quantity of drugs-related materials, including several mobile phones, snap bags and digital scales. Following his arrest, a search was undertaken at Bradley's home address in Lyme Green, where officers recovered further drugs-related materials along with a large quantity of designer watches and footwear. Bradley was interviewed in relation to the discoveries, before being released on conditional bail. However, on Friday 26 June, Bradley was circulated as wanted by HM Prison and Probation Service, in relation to a breach of a community order. Following enquiries officers received information that he was residing at an address on Somerton Road in Macclesfield. Police attended the property on Wednesday 5 August and Bradley was located and arrested. While at the address, police discovered further drugs-related materials, mobile phones and a Suron style electric bike. Messages discovered on the phones seized during the investigation also showed that Bradley was actively involved in the commercial supply of cocaine.

Following the sentencing Detective Constable Jamie Roberts, said: "As a result of the evidence we have gathered during this investigation it is clear that Bradley was actively involved in the commercial supply of illegal drugs, and I welcome the sentence that has been handed to him. While Bradley is now behind bars, our campaign against drug dealers is ongoing and we're committed to doing all we can to stop drug activity on the streets of Macclesfield and make Cheshire a hostile place for criminals. We will always act on any information about drug activity provided to us and would urge anyone who believes this activity is happening near to them, to please contact us on 101 or visit www.cheshire.police.uk/tell-us."

Man jailed for rape and attempted rape in Congleton

A man has been jailed for raping and attempting to rape a woman in Congleton.

Lee Reszka, of Longridge, Knutsford, was found guilty of rape and attempted rape on Friday 3 July following a five-day trial at Liverpool Crown Court. The 35-year-old appeared at Liverpool Crown Court on Thursday 17 September to be sentenced to nine years in prison. In November 2023, Reszka had attended the victim's address on the pretence he was looking for a mutual acquaintance, knowing full well they were not present. While at the address, the victim allowed Reszka to use the toilet, however instead of leaving afterwards, he approached her and attempted to rape her. The victim managed to get away from him, but he then orally raped her before leaving the address. She then disclosed what had happened to friends and it was reported to police. A piece of clothing worn by the victim was forensically tested and DNA found on it provided a match to Reszka. The victim also had injuries consistent with the offences.

DC Neilson-Bird said: "Reszka made the conscious decision that day to attack the victim, knowing that she was alone. He used force to get what he wanted, ignoring her attempts to fight him off. Throughout the investigation Reszka maintained his lies and tried to mislead the police, changing his account as more evidence emerged. He continued to try and portray the victim as a liar who had fabricated the incident, putting her through the stress of a trial. But the jury has seen him for what he is and convicted him of his crimes."

"We would like to highlight the courage of the victim in this case for speaking about what happened to her, and we hope that Reszka's conviction will help to bring her some closure. Anyone who has been a victim of a sexual offence can contact Cheshire Police on 101 or report through the Cheshire Police website."

Cody Dobbs, 22, was the pillion passenger on a black Kawasaki Z650 D2 motorcycle that was being ridden along the A41 Liverpool Road when it was in collision in the early hours of Saturday 19 September. He was taken to hospital with serious injuries but sadly died days later.

Cody's family have now paid tribute to him. Cody's Father said: "We are all truly devastated of the loss of our beautiful son. Words cannot describe the sense of pain and loss to everyone, including all his friends and family. A young man with all his dreams in front of him, his life was so cruelly brought to a sudden and tragic end. Cody was such a joy with his smile, charisma, and caring nature to everyone he met. Not one person who met my son had anything other than respect and kind words to say about him. He was a big part of people lives, he will live on forever in our hearts and minds. He was an amazing chef and accomplished so much already at such a young age, we are all truly devastated."

"I would like to especially thank the ICU department at the Countess of Chester Hospital for taking care of our son during this difficult time, they have been absolutely amazing, and the level of care, compassion and support has been truly outstanding. Cody worked as a chef at the Clock Tower, Northwich, and regarded all his colleagues as a second family. In his memory, they have arranged a fundraising night. There will be a band and all his family and friends are welcome. This will be hosted at the Clock Tower, Chester Way, Northwich, CW9 5NF, on Friday 25 September from 8:30pm. All money raised will go to ICU at the Countess of Chester a local cat sanctuary, a cause close to Cody's heart. For donations, please contact the Clock Tower's managers, Hannah and Courtney. Once again thank you to everybody for their kind words and particularly all the support from the Countess of Chester Hospital and the absolutely amazing support from Cheshire Police."

Cody's Mother added: "It is with the greatest sadness that we confirm that our beautiful Cody has passed away as a result of the road traffic accident near Chester on Saturday morning. Cody was a boy with many chapters in his life, and he brought so much joy, love and so many precious memories into our lives. You are, and always will be, in our hearts and minds. They say it takes a village to raise a child, and this was certainly true for Cody. We would like to thank each and every person who played a part in his life, supported him, cared for him, encouraged him and helped him along the way. We are truly grateful to every one of you. His life was clearly taken far too soon, and we will forever cherish the time we were lucky enough to have with him."

"We would like to express our heartfelt thanks to the police for their kindness, compassion and professionalism, and to the dedicated staff at the Countess of Chester Hospital for the care and support they provided. We have been overwhelmed by the outpouring of kindness, love and support shown to Cody and to all of our loved ones during this incredibly difficult time. Our thoughts are also with the driver of the collision as we are very aware that their life will too be changed forever at such a young age. Such unbelievable loss touching people on so many levels. Cody will never be forgotten. He will remain forever in our hearts, and the memories, love and joy he gave us will stay with us always."

Residents urged to remain vigilant following courier fraud incidents

Officers are urging Cheshire residents to remain vigilant following a number of reports of courier fraud across the county.

In the past few days, there have been five reported incidents where elderly residents have been targeted by fraudsters posing as officers from the Coventry and Greater Manchester areas as well as from banks including Lloyds and Nat West. Scammers have contacted the victims by phone, claiming that they needed cards or money as part of a fraud investigation or to prevent them from being victims of fraud. Whilst in three of the cases no money or cards were handed over, one incident in Macclesfield resulted in an elderly lady handing over three bank cards to a courier.

Detective Inspector Paul Nolan, of the Force Intelligence Bureau said: "I would urge anyone who has elderly relatives or neighbours to warn them not to be taken in by this scam. Genuine police officers will never ask you to hand over any money or banking cards and will always be happy to prove their identities should you have any concerns about who they are. There are a number of ways to prevent fraud, and I would advise you make them familiar with these tips to keep them safe from fraudsters."

Here are some safety tips to help prevent courier fraud:

- Never provide personal or financial information to someone you don't know, especially over the phone.
- If you receive a suspicious call, hang up immediately.
- Contact your bank directly using a known and trusted phone number to verify any requests for money or sensitive information.
- Never withdraw large sums of money based on instructions from someone claiming to be from the police or a bank.
- If you think you have been a victim of courier fraud, contact the police immediately on 101 or Action Fraud on 0300 123 2040.
- Remember, genuine organisations will never cold call you asking for this information. If you're ever in doubt, hang up and contact the organization directly using a known and trusted phone number.

New Congleton CID team goes from strength to strength

Six months ago, Congleton Local Policing Unit formed its own dedicated Pro-active CID, and it has been going from strength to strength.

The team has delivered a significant impact across the Local Policing Unit consistently tackling serious and organised crime, disrupting drug supply networks, bringing prolific offenders to justice, and safeguarding local communities.

Eastern area crime manager, Detective Chief Inspector Dave Worthington, said: "The team of four detectives work under the leadership of DS Jim Hewitt and are clearly punching above their weight with the size of the team and the results they have had so far. The team's achievements are a testament to the dedication, professionalism, investigative expertise, and collaborative approach demonstrated by every member. Through intelligence-led operations, meticulous investigations, and effective partnership working, officers have secured substantial custodial sentences, dismantled county lines operations, and removed high-harm offenders from the streets."

From drug dealers to burglars, over the past six months the team have brought six offenders to justice totalling 10 and a half years in prison. A further six defendants are going through the court process in relation to drug dealing and burglary.

DCI Worthington added: "The team's dedication has resulted in the disruption of county lines and drug supply operations, significant quantities of Class A and Class B drugs being taken off the streets and criminal assets identified and seized. The team are continuing in their efforts to protect communities across Congleton, Sandbach and the wider Eastern area and we expect to see more defendants in court over the coming months. I hope it reassures residents that between CID and response and local beat officers we are collectively helping to make your towns safer to live and work in across the eastern area."

Crewe man sentenced for online child sexual offences

A man from Crewe has been jailed for online child sexual offences.

Rory Need appeared at Chester Crown Court on Monday 21 September where he was sentenced to six years and six months. The 37-year-old, of Rimsdale Close, Wistaston, was earlier found guilty of possessing indecent images of children, making indecent images of children, distributing indecent images of children, causing a child to look at images of sexual activity, causing a child to engage in sexual activity, and engaging in sexual communication with a child, following a three-day trial.

Cheshire Police arrested Need in March 2024 after officers received information from Dyfed-Powys Police relating to a Snapchat account which had been engaging in sexual communications with a 9-year-old girl. The account was linked to Need. His devices were seized and several of indecent images of children were recovered. Need was ultimately charged with multiple offences. On top of his custodial sentence, he must sign the Sex Offender Register indefinitely and is subject to a Sexual Harm Prevention Order.

Detective Constable Faye Taylor said: “Need is clearly a danger to children and has rightly been handed a prison sentence that reflects the severity of his crimes. He was well aware that his victim was underage, and as a 37-year-old man he knew what he was doing was wrong, but despite this he continued to cause significant harm. Through the use of social media, he specifically targeted a 9-year-old girl, plying her with sexualised messages and indecent images in order to fulfil his own sexual desires. Thankfully, as a result of the evidence we gathered, he has now been held accountable for his actions and will no longer be able to pose a threat to other children.”

Students urged to know the risks of ketamine during Freshers Week

Cheshire Police is encouraging students to understand the risks associated with ketamine as Freshers Week begins.

For thousands of young people, the start of the new academic year means moving away from home, meeting new people and enjoying university life. While Freshers Week should be an exciting time, it can also be a time when young people are exposed to drugs or choose to experiment with them. Officers are therefore encouraging students to make sure they know the risks associated with ketamine and to look out for their friends while enjoying nights out.

Ketamine is sometimes perceived as a relatively low-risk recreational or party drug, but its use can have serious consequences. Taking Ketamine can cause significant damage to the bladder and urinary tract and, in some cases, this damage can be irreversible. Ketamine use can also lead to dependence and have wider impacts on both physical and mental health.

Superintendent Amber Hodson, drugs lead for Cheshire Constabulary, said: “Freshers Week is an exciting time. For some young people it will be their first time living away from home, meeting lots of new people and having the freedom to make their own choices. We want students to enjoy that experience, but we also want them to stay safe. If you’re offered ketamine or any other drug on a night out, please stop and think about what you're taking and the potential consequences. Ketamine isn't harmless. It can affect your judgement and awareness, and it can lead to dependence and serious - potentially irreversible - damage to your health. Ketamine is also a Class B controlled drug. Possession can result in up to five years in prison, an unlimited fine, or both. Supplying or producing ketamine can carry a sentence of up to 14 years in prison, an unlimited fine, or both."

Anyone concerned about their own drug use or that of somebody they know can access confidential information, advice and support through FRANK and local drug and alcohol support services. For further advice and support visit: Ketamine Advice and Support | Cheshire Constabulary

Snapchat drug dealers sentenced

Two men who used snapchat to deal cannabis on a commercial scale in Chester have been sentenced.

Jack Moore and Kieron Dodd both appeared at Chester Crown Court on Friday 18 September for sentencing. Moore, 33, of Keats Terrace, Blacon Avenue, Chester, was sentenced to three years in prison, suspended for three years, for being concerned in the supply of class B drugs (cannabis) and possession with intent to supply class B drugs (cannabis). Dodd, 31, of Nant Peris, Treborth Road, Chester, was sentenced to two years in prison, suspended for two years, for being concerned in the supply of class B drugs (cannabis).

The investigation began in January 2026 when officers became aware of a Snapchat account which was advertising the supply of large amounts of cannabis in the Chester area on a daily basis. Following a number of enquiries officers were able to trace the account to Moore, further enquiries also showed that he was being assisted by Dodd. A decision was made to arrest Moore at his flat on Hunter Street, Chester, on Wednesday 11 March. However, following the arrest it became apparent that Moore was aware of the police investigation. He claimed to have 'dropped' his mobile phone and had posted a message on Snapchat stating that the account would be deleted and he would set up a new one soon. CCTV checks revealed that a man had left the property prior to police arrival with a large holdall, believed to have contained cannabis.

Dodd was also arrested following a warrant at his home in Nant Peris. A mobile phone was found at the address along with a small amount of cannabis. Examination of the phone later recovered messages indicating that he was linked to the supply of cannabis. Following questioning, both men were later released on bail pending further enquiries. Shortly after their release, officers became aware of two new Snapchat accounts which were again advertising the sale of bulk amounts of cannabis, both of which were linked to Moore. Rather than conduct a warrant, officers waited until Moore attended Blacon police station to sign on as part of his bail conditions. He was arrested at the station, and his iPhone was seized.

Moore was also found in possession of keys to an address on Saddlery Way in Chester. Officers subsequently executed a warrant at the property, where they recovered a vacuum packing machine. Searches were also carried out on two vehicles linked to Moore, resulting in the seizure of a large quantity of cannabis and other drug paraphernalia. After gathering a case file of evidence against the men, both Moore and Dodd were charged with being involved in the wholesale supply of cannabis in Chester.

Following the sentencing, Detective Sergeant Roy Wellings, of Chester Proactive CID, said: "Illegal drugs have a devastating impact on our communities, and we're committed to doing all we can to identify those responsible and ensure they are held accountable for their actions. In this case, Moore and Dodd thought they would be able to hide their activity by using social media to peddle their illegal drugs. The pair showed a clear disregard for the law, even carrying on with their criminal activity after their initial arrests. However, thanks to the work of our dedicated team of officers here at Chester Proactive CID, their illegal activities have now been exposed."

"While Moore and Dodd have not received custodial sentences, residents can rest assured that we will be monitoring their actions closely and they will be brought before the courts should any further offences be committed. Our fight against illegal drugs remains ongoing, and I urge anyone with any information about suspected drug related activity in Chester to get in touch."
