Operation Lawmaker rolls into Warrington and sees further arrests and illegal bikes seized

Officers working under Operation Lawmaker continue to keep their hands on the throttle in their pursuit of removing dangerously ridden illegal bikes and apprehending offenders from Cheshire's roads as twelve are seized and several are arrested and reported with following the latest deployment in Warrington.

On Tuesday 7 October, officers working under Operation Lawmaker were deployed across Warrington as part of their on-going commitment to targeting the illegal and dangerous use of off-road motor vehicles and non-road legal vehicles. Throughout the afternoon, officers from Warrington Beat Management Team, Motorcycle Operations, Northern Problem-Solving Team were deployed to numerous areas including the town centre, Orford, Poplars and Hulme, Fearnhead and Padgate. Thanks to their work, and with the support of colleagues from the National Police Air Service who joined the teams for a portion of the operation, twelve vehicles were seized during the deployments.

Officers also arrested two men on a moped who failed to stop for police in Orford. The pair were arrested on suspicion of theft of a motor vehicle, with the driver also being arrested for failing to stop, driving without insurance and driving over the specified limit of a controlled drug. As well as this, a further two off-road motorbikes were seized due to having no insurance in Orford Park, along with a driver who was spotted operating a large tipper-style vehicle being reported for driving whilst disqualified.

Other results included:

- x6 TORs being issued
- x4 drivers being summonsed to court
- A PG9 dangerous vehicle condition report being issued

Officers were also approached by many members of the public whilst vehicles were being seized to comment positively on the action taken in their local areas.

Police Sergeant Matthew Salmon, of the Neighbourhood Policing Guarantee, said: “These are great results that will, undoubtedly, have a positive impact on the members of local communities whose lives are continually disrupted by the dangerous and anti-social riding of off-road and non-legal road vehicles. Combating ASB is a key pillar of the Neighbourhood Policing Guarantee with Operation Lawmaker showing our continued commitment in Cheshire to tackling this issue.

“The driving exhibited by these individuals causes not only a nuisance and disruption to local residents, but it also poses a considerable risk to other road users, pedestrians and riders themselves and any passengers riding with them. In Orford Park where we seized two bikes, these could easily have caused damage to football pitches and other public facilities that people have a right to use.

“Our officers continually carry out high-visibility patrols in hotspot areas at key times of the day across our towns, targeting that intent on causing a nuisance and generally disregarding road safety. Anyone with information regarding the riding of non-legal or off-road bikes or quad bikes in pedestrian areas or on our roads should contact Cheshire Constabulary on 101 or give the details via the website.”

Alternatively, information can be reported to Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111 or via the Crimestoppers website.

Widnes man who raped a woman following night out jailed

A man from Widnes, who took a woman back to his home following a night out and raped her, has been jailed.

Dennis Kiwia appeared at Liverpool Crown Court on Monday 29 September, where he was jailed for four years. The custodial sentence comes after Kiwia was found guilty of the rape of a woman over 16 at the conclusion of a five-day trial on Friday 15 August 2025.

The court heard that on Saturday 23 December 2023, the victim, a 19-year-old woman, was on a Christmas night out with friends in Widnes. The group had been drinking at a pub in the town centre, with the victims' friends later going home for the night, leaving her sitting alone as the venue began to close. However, Kiwia was also in the premises with her.

CCTV footage taken from the night of the incident showed the 39-year-old calling the victim over and to sit with him and, after doing so, the pair struck up a conversation and Kiwia taking 'selfie' photographs with her on his phone before leaving the venue. Further footage would show the victim appearing unsteady on her feet as she got up to leave the venue, with Kiwia seen walking arm-in-arm with her as they walked across the outside car park to his car.

The victim would later tell police that she awoke on Christmas Eve morning in Kiwia's address, in the Albert Road area of Widnes, without any clothes on, unsure as to how she got there. Quickly leaving Kiwia's address, she returned home to speak to a parent regarding how she believed she was raped, as she could not have been able to consent to any sexual intercourse. The incident was then reported to Cheshire Police and Kiwia was promptly arrested by CID officers and brought into custody.

During interview, he told investigating officers that he had been drinking at the same venue as the victim and had spoken to her on the night in question. He went on to say that he helped her into his car following the closing of the venue and offered her a lift to her home, but claimed that she told him to take her to his home. He then told officers that the pair engaged in consensual sex before falling asleep in the early hours, with the victim then waking up later that day and deciding to go home alone – despite him offering a number of times to take her there himself. Despite his claims, Kiwia was subsequently charged. Throughout the entire investigation, we would maintain he was innocent.

DC Gemma Nicolson, of CID Reactive North, said: "Dennis Kiwia's inability to accept any accountability for his actions not only prolonged justice being served, but it forced also the victim to relive the entire ordeal all over again during his five-day subsequent trial. Kiwia maintained he was the innocent party in this case, where, in fact, he took advantage of a vulnerable young woman nearly 20 years his junior who had simply been out enjoying the Christmas festivities with her friends for his own pleasure. We treat all reports of rape and sexual assault with the utmost seriousness and place the needs of the victim at the very heart of our investigations, ensuring they are supported throughout every step of enquiries and any following court proceedings."

Woman jailed following Macclesfield stabbing

A woman who stabbed her partner at a house in Macclesfield has been jailed.

Leanne Melling appeared at Chester Crown Court on Monday 6 October where she was sentenced to five years in prison. The 34-year-old of Ripon Close, Whitefield, had previously pleaded guilty to a section 18 assault.

The court heard how Melling and the victim were in a relationship at the time of the incident, which occurred in the early hours of Sunday 19 January. The couple had been arguing throughout the day and in a bid to deescalate the situation, the victim decided to go to sleep in a separate room. Undeterred, Melling followed the victim, intent on continuing their dispute. However, when the victim didn't comply, Melling took a knife and stabbed the victim to his abdomen. In an attempt to disarm her, the victim also sustained a serious stab wound to the hand.

Thankfully, the victim managed to gain possession of the knife, throwing it across the room before fleeing. He held the door closed from the outside, locking Melling in and preventing any further attacks. He then called 999. Officers quickly attended the address and Melling was arrested at the scene and later charged in connection with the incident. The victim was treated by paramedics before being taken to hospital where he received treatment for his injuries.

<https://youtu.be/7QmNzzMHeFY>

Following the sentencing, DS Steven Kaminski, who led the investigation said: "This was an extremely violent attack which left an innocent man seriously injured and fearing for his life. Melling's actions during this incident are completely unacceptable, and the sentence handed to her is reflective of the horror she inflicted on the victim that day. While the victim will never be able to forget what happened, I do hope that the swift conclusion of the case, and the sentence handed to Melling, will provide him with some closure and the opportunity to move on with his life."

DC Oliver Neilson-Bird said: "No one should be treated this way in any relationship, and I would like to commend the victim for his bravery in coming forward and engaging with our investigation. I hope he can now rebuild his life and move on from this truly traumatic experience. This case highlights domestic violence can affect anybody, and I would encourage anyone who has been a victim to please get in touch. You will be listened to and we will provide you with the support you need."

To report any incidents of domestic abuse contact Cheshire police on 101, or report online via the website, in an emergency call 999.

Man charged with weapons offences following incident in Widnes

Whitley, of Smithy Lane, Merseyside, has since been charged with possession of a knife in a public place and making threats to a person with an offensive weapon. He appeared at Warrington Magistrates' Court on Tuesday 7 October, where he was remanded in custody to appear at Liverpool Crown Court on Tuesday 4 November. The charges relate to an incident that occurred in the Lincoln Square area of Widnes on Saturday 4 October.

Over 30,000 vapes, cigarettes and tobacco products seized during joint HMRC, trading standards and immigration operation

Officers from the Constabulary's Foreign National Offender (FNO) Unit and Protecting Vulnerable People Exploitation Teams (PVPE) joined immigration, HMRC and Trading Standards colleagues in targeting stores across Warrington linked to immigration crime and the sale of illegal tobacco, vapes and cigarettes.

On Thursday 2 October, officers from the FNO unit working alongside their colleagues from the PVPE team, were deployed across Warrington under Operation Machinize - an ongoing coordinated operation launched by the National Crime Agency tackling money laundering, the criminal use of cash-intensives in high street businesses and immigration crime. Officers and their partner colleagues visited two shops in the Marsh House Lane area and uncovered sizable amounts of illicit and illegal products in the form of loose tobacco, illegal cigarettes and vapes.

Additionally, these illicit products had been hidden in sophisticated concealments out of sight within the shops. However, thanks to the assistance of a specialist tobacco detection dog from Wagtail UK, the products were quickly identified and seized by officers. A self-storage shipping container located near the Pink Eye roundabout in Warrington town centre was also revealed as another hiding place for illegal products, with nearly 4500 illegal vapes being found inside and subsequently removed.

In total, officers seized:

- 28,840 illicit cigarettes
- 22.65kg of illicit tobacco
- 4499 illegal vapes

The combined total of items seized from across the two shops equated to an estimated street value of £38,000. An illegal worker was also arrested by Immigration teams, and, later, a second person working within a shop on Orford Lane was arrested by officers on suspicion of public order offences.

DI Upile Mtitimila, of the force's Protective Vulnerable People Unit, said: "We work hard to tackle criminals operating in our communities and, while many businesses across Warrington are operating within the law, we have seen that there are a brazen few who, wrongly, think they can get away with distributing products that remain illegal for a reason. However, as this operation has shown, there really is nowhere to hide when we work in step with our partner organisations with a common goal in mind: keeping Cheshire a hostile environment for crime."

"These excellent results are a testament to the tireless work of our officers and wider community partners who day in and day out work to tackle organised criminals, as well as those who exploit the most vulnerable people in our society. With that in mind, we cannot take action like this without your support. Intelligence submitted to us from members of the public is vital to our investigations, so I would encourage anyone with any information or concerns about illegal activity in their area to get in touch and let us do the rest."

Warrington Borough Council's cabinet member for licensing, Cllr John Kerr-Brown, added: "The criminals involved in the trade of illicit tobacco and illegal vapes are often highly sophisticated and well-organised. This isn't a matter of a few rogue shopkeepers - many operations are part of wider criminal networks that use advanced methods to evade detection and maximise profit. We urge members of the public to avoid purchasing from establishments known to sell illegal tobacco or non-compliant vaping products. Supporting these businesses fuels criminal activity and endangers public health. We're grateful to partners for their support to tackle this criminality."

Man jailed for harassing woman in Northwich

A 23-year-old man has been jailed for two years after pleading guilty to harassing a woman in Northwich.

Brandon Banner from Beech View Road, Kingsley appeared at Chester Crown Court on 2 October to be sentenced after pleading guilty to harassment – breaching a restraining order, and sending false communication with intent to cause harm. Banner was subject to a restraining order preventing him from contacting his victim, but in the early hours of 27 August 2025, the rear windows of two cars parked on a drive at an address in Northwich were smashed.

A call was also made to North West Ambulance Service (NWAS) in the early hours saying that a 23-year-old man had been assaulted at the same address and that they were unconscious and not breathing. Paramedics attended but couldn't find anyone. Banner was spotted nearby holding a bottle of whiskey and talking on the phone. They asked if he was the person who rang the incident in. He denied this and appeared intoxicated.

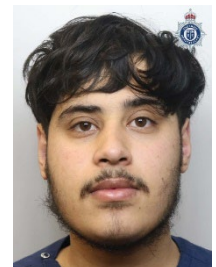

Officers attended the address and discovered the call to NWAS was false and nothing to do with the occupants. The number used to ring the ambulance service was linked to Banner. Ambulance control located where in Northwich the mobile phone call was made, which turned out to be the same location as Banner. Police found Banner sitting on a grass verge with a bottle of whiskey and arrested him for the offences.

PC Isabel O'Brien said: "Banner knew he had a restraining order against him yet spent the night waging a campaign of harassment against the victim without thinking of the consequences. Hopefully, he now understands the consequences are time spent in prison."

Man jailed following Crewe burglary series

A man from Birmingham has been jailed following two burglaries at homes in Crewe.

Shafiollah Amiree appeared at Chester Crown Court on Monday 6 October where he was sentenced to four years and six months in prison. He was also given an extended driving ban of five years and three months. The 24-year-old of Birchdale Road, Birmingham, had earlier pleaded guilty to two counts of burglary, three counts of theft of a motor vehicle and two counts of driving while disqualified.

During the sentencing the court was told how Amiree's crime spree began in the early hours of Sunday 1 June 2025, when he broke into a house on Parklands Drive, Weston. Once inside the address he searched through the cupboards and stole the keys to a grey Audi which was parked outside the address. He then fled the scene in the vehicle, which was later recovered in the Birmingham area. Then, on Sunday 22 June he returned to the area, this time breaking into an address on Park Drive, Wistaston, from where he stole a BMW and a Ford Focus. The Ford Focus was later located in Tunstall, Staffordshire.

Investigations into the incidents were launched and during their enquiries officers recovered ANPR analysis which showed the stolen Audi and stolen BMW were both in the Birmingham area shortly after the incident. Further analysis showed that both of the stolen cars had been travelling in convoy with a white BMW which was registered to an address on Birchdale Road, Birmingham Officers attended the address in Birmingham at 8am on Monday 24 June and the white BMW was parked on the driveway. Amiree was located inside the address and was arrested after matching the appearance of the driver from the ANPR footage recovered by officers. His phone was also located at the address and subsequent analysis placed him in the area at the time of both burglaries. After recovering a catalogue of evidence, Amiree was charged in relation to both of the incidents. He was also charged with two counts of driving while disqualified, due to the fact that he had been banned from driving for three years on Wednesday 9 April 2025.

Following the guilty plea, DC Jamie Roberts, said: “As this case demonstrates, if you commit crime in Cheshire, you will be caught and you will be brought to justice. No matter where you are from, there are no borders, and our officers are committed to travelling the length and breadth of the country to ensure that those who cause harm in our communities are held accountable for their actions. I hope that the sentence handed to Amiree will provide some reassurance for the victims in this case and allow them to move forward with their lives. I also hope that this case acts as a warning to anyone else who is thinking of coming to Cheshire to commit crime.”

'Kardashian of Cheshire' jailed for fraud and indecent images

A man who described himself as Cheshire's very own Kardashian has been jailed for fraud, theft, and possession of indecent images.

Jack Watkin, 26, formerly of Wilmslow Road, Alderley Edge funded his fantasy Instagram influencer lifestyle by defrauding businesses and individuals to a total value of more than £200,000. Watkin appeared at Chester Crown Court on 6 October to be sentenced after pleading guilty to eight counts of fraud by false representation and one count of theft. He was also found guilty of one count of possession of indecent photographs, three counts of making indecent images, one count of possession of extreme pornographic images, one count of possession of a prohibited image of a child, possession of an indecent photograph of a child, and another two more counts of making an indecent image of a child. He was sentenced to six years in prison.

The court heard how Watkin's used the lure of designer handbag brand Hermes as a ruse to trick people into giving him the money he needed to afford his extravagant lifestyle. The sought-after handbags can't be purchased over the counter. You must be invited to buy a Hermes handbag which makes it a lucrative investment as the resale value can be much higher than the original price. The victims were told by Watkin's that he had the contacts that could give them access to the handbags and that they could split the profits made on resale. They handed over their money in good faith, but when no bag or sign of any money from the investment opportunity arose, they would begin to ask for their money back, but he always had excuses. He duped one woman into handing over thousands thinking she was investing in the much sought after luxury handbag when she was in fact paying his bills at the Dorchester Hotel in London. She, like the others never received the handbags or their share in the profits of their resale.

The investigation was launched after the woman who inadvertently paid for his luxury hotel bill contacted the Metropolitan Police back in 2022 when she became suspicious of Watkin's continued excuses. The case was subsequently referred to Cheshire Constabulary's Economic Crime Unit, who launched a full investigation.

<https://youtu.be/I0LFBqFhnVs>

Their enquiries unearthed a string of victims and a breath-taking amount of luxury goods, and hotel bills that Watkin's afforded by swindling his six victims. During the investigation detectives also found indecent images on his mobile phone for which he was found guilty at a previous hearing for possession of indecent images, extreme pornography and prohibited images.

The phone that was seized on his first arrest in March 2024 had 637 indecent images, and a further 274 category A indecent images of children. Officers also found he made 307 category B indecent images of children, 158 category C indecent images of children, possessed six extreme pornographic images of animals, and five prohibited images of children. On his second arrest, when he was met at Macclesfield train station by officers in October 2024, his new phone was forensically downloaded and this had five category B and two category C indecent images of children as well as five category B indecent images of children. They also found he had made two category C indecent images of children.

<https://youtu.be/G8fix8Ea7Pw>

DC Gareth Yates, of Cheshire Constabulary Economic Crime Unit said:

"Not only did Watkin's deceive his victims by befriending them and taking thousands from them, but he was also hiding a depraved secret habit, sickening his victims further after his hideous secret was uncovered when his mobile phones were downloaded by specialist officers. Watkin's deluded himself that he was a successful rich kid influencer, but in reality, he was stealing money from wealthy individuals under the guise of 'business opportunities' to fund his expensive habit of fast cars, luxury goods, including Versace crockery, and designer footwear and clothing.

"It was never going to end well, and his downfall was inevitable. Eventually his lies caught up with him and he is now facing the consequences of his deceit, and his perversions. Whether his other victims come forward with their losses, only time will tell."

Images recovered from Watkin's social media accounts
