RE: Shehab Saher Elrefai

I am delighted to provide an academic reference for Shehab whom I have known as a student on the Human Rights Program that I taught at Qatar University during the Fall semester 2022. The only thing to say about Shehab regarding his application is that in my humble view, he is more than a perfect match for the high international standards and impeccable reputation of your College. He would make a very significant contribution to the program.

Shehab is exceptional and has no comparison among all the students that I have taught in my twenty-five year career in the United Kingdom including at Warwick University, Leeds University, Oxford Brookes University, and at Brunel University London where I was Director of Postgraduate Studies for seventeen years until I left to join Qatar University in 2019.

I would rank Shehab in the top 0.5% of the over 10,000 students that I have worked with in my career. In one sense he is a living encyclopedia and is capable to articulate arguments from various viewpoints. In another sense he is always so far ahead of the rest of the class in his understanding and application of concepts and ideas under consideration. This sometimes makes him impatient to wait for his peers to see the issues under discussion.

As a person, Shehab is confusingly modest, affable and cultured in the highest order. You may infer from this that I unreservedly recommend him for admission

Sincerely,

Professor, Benedict Abrahamson Chigara, MCI Arb (London), FHEA (UK), FInst.LM (London) FGoA (Washington), FReachSoc. (London), Ph.D. (Nottingham), LL.M with Distinction & Best Performance Award (Hull), BA Joint Hons. Law & Psychology (Keele), Professor of Public Law, Qatar University. Formerly Full Professor of Law, Brunel University London (2003-2019), Lecturer in Law - Warwick University (2001-2003), Leeds University (199-2001) and Oxford Brookes University (1998-1999). Visiting Professor, Justus Liebig University Giessen, Germany; Research Fellow, Brandeis Law School, University of Louisville, Kentucky (USA). Shehab ELRefai Recommendation letter

To whom it may concern

This is to recommend the application of Shehab Saher Elrefai.

I met Shehab as he sat in my course "introduction to Sociology" during the Fall term 2022. The class was composed of 51 students.

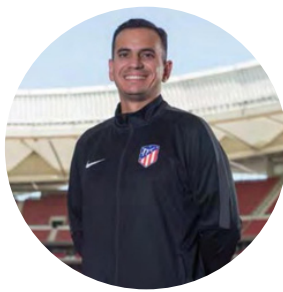

Shehab's high sense of discipline was evident as he hardly if ever missed classes. He followed the discussion with a good sense of attention and interest, and engaged his peers in productive discussions. Shehab is motivated to seek answers to major questions in public life in general and conceptual issues in academic circles. His willingness to offer answers and accept counter arguments was a good proof that he has thought and read about the issues concerned. He always demonstrated intellectual curiosity and appreciated insights offered in the curriculum. He cooperated with a team to conduct a research project. I hope this opportunity of joining your college will give Shehab a further opportunity to learn and master skills to leading teams of students to work on issues of common interest.

Shehab is cooperative, energetic and highly motivated. This is the way he has been with instructors, supervisors and peers. He has a capacity to discuss ideas and issues critically. Yet, this trait does stand in the way of his working with others, although he shows a great interest in learning from others. Shehab has all the attributes of a high achiever and I am sure he will continue being a very successful student and professional.

Shehab is motivated and capable of winning high grades. In the course he was among the best 10 students as he gained a straight A. This was possible because of the rich experiences he gathered from travels, readings and explorations. Shehab is a highly motivated student and has gathered enormous experiences from his travels, readings and explorations. I am sure he will have excellent contributions to your college.

I highly recommend Shehab and wish him the best in all his future endeavors.

Sincerely,
Dr. Mohammed Tabishat PhD

To whom it may concern,

I know Shehab very well, as a person and as a player, both sides are an example of discipline, consistency, generosity, and humbleness for everyone.

As a player, I can say only good things. He has it all... talent, physical power, strong self-discipline, takes so much care about nutrition, sleeping enough hours, meditating, and doing complimentary fitness and technical training when the team is not working, as well as the street football natural skills that are usually found in someone from Brazil, Egypt, or Argentina. Shehab is the kind of player that thrives when he is in the right environment because he is smart, he takes and makes the best when he is surrounded by good coaches, facilities, and teammates.

Specifically about his style of play, after long experience watching many players in Spain and coaching the last 4 years in Levante UD and Atlético de Madrid, I can say that he is a spectacular striker. He has great mobility between center backs, he is tall and strong and does a powerful trajectory/movement to attack the ball during cross passes, also he can surprise on the 1v1 because he has great ball control & dribbling skills, and finally if he has the space and time he can be deadly with shooting on goal.

I highly recommend him as a player to any kind of team and level.

I was about to work with a professional football club in Egypt last year and I contacted Shehab to initiate negotiations and bring him to my team, but the pandemic situation became more difficult at the last moments and my team decided not to compete on a professional level for that season, then I moved to coach another team Sweden and offered him to join me there as well if he would like.

As a person I can say that Shehab is a very cultured person, you can talk with him about any matter, he knows a lot about many things. He is a very social & open-minded person. I met him during his trip to Spain where we stayed in the same hotel and I realized that he was talking to everyone, it was a very multicultural environment (a Backpackers Hostel) and every day he was talking with someone from a different culture, religion, nationality or language. I also remember when he joined me to some Spaniard traditional activities and took videos and made interviews with my friends, it was amazing to see someone so interested to understand Spanish culture.

To whom this may concern

Trust this finds you well

We write this letter to express our recommendation for the football player Shehab ELRefai, who had participated with Regional in 2019.

Shehab is a very hard worker on the pitch and is a team player. He settled in very quickly and has a great positive attitude. He is an intelligent player who always seeks to improve, asking the coaches for feedback and advice after the sessions. Shehab also benefits from having a good physique for an athlete and keeps himself in good shape and fitness.

Therefore we would like to recommend him to join your esteemed university and wish him all the best with his ambitions

This letter was issued upon request of the player to pursue his educational aspirations

We appreciate your kind support in this regard

To whom it may concern

I have the distinct pleasure of recommending Mr. Shehab Elrefai for any program at your university. I have known him for almost a year as a student. In my Advanced Academic Writing course (ENG 204) Shehab proved himself to be a very responsible and motivated young man who approaches any analytical task with an exacting eye that is thorough and meticulous.

His research paper on the Egyptian Economy and Tourism was not only immensely interesting but also a thorough academic work of high caliber. The presentation of the research was no less enthralling which earned him the respect of his classmates and his professor alike.

Being a very congenial person with a great sense of humor, Shehab is extremely popular among his classmates and professors alike. Overall, he is a very pleasant individual to work with. I have no doubt that he would continue to excel in his studies and win honors. To conclude, I would like to recommend Shehab strongly as a candidate for any program of his choice.

Truly,
