BETTER ENVIRONMENTS TO ELEVATE EDUCATORS

Celebrating Black History Month!

This February, we reflect on and honor the profound impact and invaluable contributions Black individuals have made throughout history and continue to make today. As we move through the month, we celebrate the achievements, resilience, and vibrant cultural heritage of the Black community.

At the BEEE Foundation, our commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion remains steadfast. Black History Month is a time to deepen our understanding of the triumphs Black people have achieved, the systemic challenges they have faced, and the ongoing efforts needed to create a more equitable future.

Throughout this month, we will shine a light on the stories of Black creators, elevate their voices, and foster meaningful conversations about the importance of diversity and unity. Together, we can honor the legacy of the past, celebrate the accomplishments of the present, and inspire progress for generations to come.

Join us in commemorating Black History Month and embracing the power of unity, understanding, and change.

Classroom Confessionals

As educators and teachers in training, we all experience the daily stress of working in education. Classroom Confessionals is a dedicated space where you can anonymously share your thoughts, challenges, and experiences. This is an opportunity to connect with others who may be facing similar struggles, fostering a sense of community and support.

It's pretty sweet when my former students remember something important to them, whether it's a game they enjoyed or a difficult situation.
