TRACK & FIELD

*Times and marks for USC Track Athletes
1894 to 2018*

INTRODUCTION

This supplement booklet to the media guide is my effort to document every athlete who competed for the University of Southern California Track Team. Needless to say, I know everyone is not listed, but I did try. This booklet is a free download, but if you really like what you see here, I/we (Trojan Force) would be more than happy to accept any donation you'd like to send. That info will be at the end of this introduction.

WHERE TO START?

I wrestled with how to organize all this data knowing that the next person would have chosen a different format. But here it is, such as it is.

With a men AND a women's program we're looking at some 6,000+ names who can be accounted for that competed for USC. This number doesn't take into account all the relays as there are names on some of the relay teams that did not show up in any other results that I was able to find. Every effort was made to find a mark or time for every track athlete, but this just wasn't possible. Athletes listed with no marks or times were the 2nd and 3rd place finishers in posted meet results.

This booklet covers the years 1894 to 2018 for the men; the women's supplement is still being "written" and I hope to have it done by the end of summer 2018. The early marks were gathered from posted results in the newspaper and the El Rodeo yearbook. The T&F archives in Heritage Hall and older media guides were also a great benefit.

The narratives for each event are my perspectives to provide a little background information or history. These are intended as consumer pieces, not academic pieces so my reflections could miss some information or be wrong about other points. The NCAA Meet is also a reference point when talking about our athletes here. The Olympic Games will also be referenced.

INTRODUCTION

I decided to add photos for each event and this might have taken me hours and hours to sort out. I mean really, who do you leave out??? So I chose the path of least resistance and used the photos I could access the easiest. No slight was intended by the exclusion of any of our track athletes.

QUICK NOTE ON SOURCES

I just love the digital age. Without it I don't know if I would have been able to do a quarter of this research. So much was online that I didn't have to do a lot of traveling. One does tend to go a little buggy after looking through 80-some-odd years of newspaper clippings.

MARKS AND TIMES

My apologies if this is a little redundant, but times listed to tenths (i.e. 9.7; 22.3; 4:21.5; etc.) commonly means that the times are hand-timed. Times listed to hundredths are typically electronic times. Times can be converted from hand to electric, but I decided to stay away from doing that and have listed those converted times that were already published in past media guides.

Also, no wind-aided times and marks are included in these lists. This can be a real crap-shoot for some of these early dual meets because who knows if the wind was blowing or not. There are a few converted distances in the shot put that I normally wouldn't do, but did so to include the athletes with a mark as opposed to not having any mark.

All marks posted are by athletes while enrolled at USC. No pre- or post-USC marks have been used to the best of my knowledge.

CHANGES IN T&F HISTORY

The track & field environment hasn't stayed static over the decades as equipment and training has improved vastly. Here's a brief run-down:

- Improved performances over the last 100+ years are because of the new synthetic tracks (remember, it used to be dirt, cinder or even crushed brick tracks);
- Concrete throwing circles (I can't even imagine throwing from a dirt circle);
- Synthetic runways;
- Safer and softer landing pits for the vertical jumps. Can you imagine vaulting 18ft to land in a sawdust pit? Or even a SAND pit??
- The idea of starting blocks was also a new idea. If you've seen the movie "Chariots of Fire" you'll recall the sprinters had small trowels that they used to dig out holes for their feet to start a race.
- Hurdles have been referred to as barricades in today's vernacular, but back in the day these things were actual barriers that you didn't want to hit. They were made out of wood and heavy.
- Pole vault poles have especially come a long way from the days of wood and bamboo poles
- Training. Training now for track & field has become highly specialized and is no longer a "this-is-the-way-I-did-it" sport. To coach T&F athletes these days one has to attend clinics or courses in techniques and training. It helps if you were a former athlete, but that isn't necessarily a requirement.

Imagine a Fred Kelly or a Charley Paddock, et. al. benefitting from today's advances in T&F?

THE COACHES

Not a bad group for the past 110 years

INTRODUCTION

SOME THANK YOU'S

I did have some help and support in all this and I appreciate their input and backing.

- Dave Tuttle at SID gave me access to the track archives in Heritage Hall. It was a little surreal to realize that many of the files I was leafing through were created by Dean Cromwell, Jess Mortensen, and Vern Wolfe.
- Larry Knuth, former USC coach for giving me several media guides from the 50s and 60s. These were great for adding names and marks to the lists.
- Coach Caryl Smith Gilbert, current Director of the USC Track program. She has always given me positive feedback and support. She has been great!
- Ron Allice, for green-lighting this whole digital quest to get USC T&F out there on the web back in the late 90s. Bill Tisdale got this off the ground back then.
- Sam Nicholson, Sam has become my (everyone's) go-to person when needing information on some of our past athletes. I've bothered Sam many a time with those questions. Sam gets authorship credit as well for he contributed to every event in this supplement.
- LA84 Library, thank you '84 Olympics for using that extra cash to create this place. The people there are great and were very helpful in finding a lot of this past information.

I think (hope) that's everyone.

TROJAN FORCE

This supplement is an extension of the Trojan Force, the booster group for the USC Track program. It's a labor of love, but we ain't too proud to accept any donation if you feel so moved. You can send that to:

The Sprints

THE 100 / 200

Before professional sports stole the limelight, track and field was ‘king’ and USC was the reigning monarchy. USC was Sprinter U. before it became Tailback U. with Howard Drew leading the way by setting World Records (WR) in the 100 and 220 in 1914.

USC sprinters over the following 30 years would claim another 9 WRs in the 100y. A sample progression:

| Time | Name     | Year |
|-------------|-----------------|-------------|
| 9.6         | Howard Drew     | 1914        |
| 9.6         | Charley Paddock | 1921        |
| 9.5         | Charley Borah   | 1926        |
| 9.4         | Frank Wykoff    | 1930        |
| 9.3         | Mel Patton      | 1948        |

The 100m proved a steeper hill to climb for USC sprinters as Charley Paddock set a School Record (SR) of 10.2 in 1923 and no one would surpass that mark until 1975!! (James Gilkes)

SPRINTING TID-BITS

Howard Drew was the first athlete to be called the “Worlds Fastest Human” and was labeled by sports writers as “the first of the great black sprinters.” USC’s “Worlds Fastest Humans” only started with Howard as Charley Paddock and Mel Patton would also be crowned “Worlds Fastest.” Both set world records for 100m & 200m (Charley in 1921; Mel in 1949) and both are Olympic champions (Charley at the 1920 Games; Mel in the 1948 Games).

At the 1920 Olympic Games in Antwerp, Paddock received much attention in the press by jumping across the finish line. He continued to jump in a few races after the Olympics to please his fans, but stopped doing it because he felt it slowed him down.

THE 100 / 200

A NOTE ON TIMING

Times that appear in tenths (9.9; 21.3; 4:02.1; etc) represent hand-timed results. Times appearing in hundredths (9.92; 20.12; 1:43.48; etc) represent electronic-timed races.

To the best of my research on this, the '72 Olympics were the first games to use electronic timing in T&F (for the NCAA Championships, it's 1975). Photo-finish cameras however have been in use since at least the '36 Olympics.

THE 200

What has been fascinating in researching USC T&F is to see track and field evolve through the years. The 220 is one such race as it used to be run as a straight race. That's one long straightaway.

The straight 220 races were run almost always in the United States, because the USA was the only country that had 220y straightaways at both the high schools and colleges. In the LA Coliseum, the 220 starting line was in the tunnel. At the USC-Illinois meet in 1948, the fans roared when Mel Patton came out of the tunnel with a huge lead of almost ten yards ahead of Herb McKinley.

Adding in that curve does have an impact on the race. Using Mel Patton's times as a quick study, Mel ran the straight 220 in 20.2 and the curve 220 in 20.8. Kinda makes you wonder how fast these athletes today could run a straight 200.

Taking into account both the 100 and 200, USC sprinters have won 89 All American awards and 12 NCAA titles to go with their 13 Olympic medals.

The 400

The 440 / 400

Like the 100 and 200, the 400 has seen USC runners make a lasting impact in track and field on the world scene. Quincy Watts held the Olympic 400 record of 43.50 for 24 years until this recent Olympics and may just lose his SR if current Trojan Michael Norman keeps up the pace he is currently on.

USC has an impressive NCAA legacy in the one-lapper with 62 All American awards and 13 NCAA titles, but is just .03 seconds shy of 15 titles. Lionel Larry had two heartbreak losses missing 1st place in 2007 by .02 sec and by .01 sec in 2008. Our Olympic numbers stand at 9 Olympians and 2 gold medals.

The Never-Give-Up Award would have to go to Bryshon Nellum. Between injuries and being shot, Bryshon seemed to be in school for like 10 years (he wasn't). His determination finally paid off with an NCAA title and Olympic silver in 2012.

I don't know how many 4X All-Americans there are in the 400, but I thought it pretty special and worthy to note Edesel Garrison's accomplishment in this feat.

One other item of note that I did not know and it centers around a one-turn 440 which was contested from time to time. I've asked several track experts about this and this race was conducted at the California HS State meet and at the NCAAs.

As best as I can guess, that's two really long straightaways with a curve in the middle. I'm not sure why you'd do a race like that. Oh well.

The 800

The 880 / 800

Once we get past the one-lap races, USC has a bit of a drop-off. We've had some good middle distance people, just not in the same numbers as the sprints and 400.

As you look through the list you'll see quite a few recognizable names that have worn the Cardinal & Gold. It would seem that the 60s was our heyday for middle distance before scholarship limits took hold. USC had its own version of "Tinker to Evers to Chance" in the Bess, Carr, Buck, Link combo that ran many a relay or two.

As I touched on briefly, scholarship limitations really were the beginning of the end for the traditional dual meet as schools would no longer attempt (or were unable) to field every event adequately.

We've had 21 Trojans earn All-American honors and 5 Olympians run the 800.

A list of bests by decade

The Distances

The Distance Races

I decided to combine all the distance races because it was an easy (lazy?) thing to do. The distance races of old are the Mile (now the 1500); the 2 Mile (now the 3000); the 3 Mile (now the 5000); and the 6 Mile (now the 10,000). The 3K Steeplechase seems to have always been metric. My guess is that it was only run for the Olympics and not commonly contested in regular dual or invitational meets. Also, the mile still remains contested as it has still holds mythical meaning in track and field.

OLE OLESON

USC may have attracted distance runners in the past, but nowadays we just don't see milers and other distance people seeking out USC as a destination like they might an Oregon or a Colorado.

The Trojans are not without their success as they have garnered 19 All-American awards; 4 NCAA titles and 6 Olympians.

Lou Zamperini would be our best known Trojan distance runner given the recent movie about his experiences in World War II. What many may not realize is that Lou was a 2X NCAA Champion in the mile. This was prior to the war.

A special note needs to be made for Julio Marin. In 1963 he won the 3 mile AND 6 mile at the NCAAs. That's one, tough double.

High Hurdles

110H / 120H

The short hurdle race gets us back to one of USC's strong events as our hurdle legacy is just as deep as our sprint legacy.

Before the NCAA meet was even a thing, USC had two hurdle gold medalists to its credit in Fred Kelly and Earl Thomson. Along the way USC has garnered 14 Olympic hurdlers who have won 8 Olympic medals. On the NCAA front we have earned 54 All-American honor and 12 Championship titles.

Arguably, SC's hurdler of note would be Jack Davis. Jack won four NCAA hurdle championships (3 high hurdles-'51,'52,'53, 1 low hurdle-'53); a 2nd in the 200m ('52); and a 3rd in the 220LH ('53), which in 1952 would lead USC to a NCAA Championship. At 54 points. Jack leads all USC track athletes in total NCAA Championship points scored. Jack would go on to set a world record of 13.4 ('56) in the high hurdles and finish second in both the 1952 and 56 Olympic Games in the 110m hurdles.

One small tidbit on the two difference hurdle distances, the time conversion is very small when converting times as 120 yards is only 10 $\frac{3}{4}$  inches longer than 110 meters.

One other small note on the short hurdles, you didn't want to be hitting these things when you ran the race. You'll note in the photos that they're bulky, heavy and have a base that really doesn't let them get knocked over.

Intermediate Hurdles

220LH / 440IH

The longer hurdle race has been a real mixed bag over the years, but has finally settled onto the 400 intermediate hurdles. These are 36" hurdles (women's are 30").

The 220yLH was the commonly contested race back in the day when the 400H were run only during Olympic years (what I'm calling orphaned Olympic events). In addition to the 220yLH, I've also found results for 200mLH (not sure why they went metric), 330IH and the 440LH.

The 1959 NCAA meet was the last time the 220 lows were contested, though the race remained in other meets until the mid 60s. For a handful of years in the early 60s, colleges would run the 330IH. Not sure why that was because the NCAA went to the 440IH in 1959.

USC's 220LH accomplishments are 39 All-American awards and two NCAA titles. Once the 400IH distance was made the official race, USC has collected 22 All-American honors and four NCAA titles. Eleven Trojans were Olympic hurdlers, winning 3 gold medals.

DOING A DOUBLE

Running a hurdle race is tough enough, but doubling up in another race is an amazing feat. It isn't done that often and scoring in both races is rather impressive. Here are some USC notable doubles:

- Rex Cawley - 1963 NCAAs: 1st pl. 440H; 2nd pl. 440
- Ryan Wilson - 2003 PAC-10s: 1st pl. 110H & 400H
- Kai Kelley - 2008 NCAAs: 6th pl. 110H; 7th pl. 400H

220LH / 440IH

USC's top 10 hurdlers are all sub-50 sec.

The High Jump

HIGH JUMP

As I go through each of these events, it's rather impressive how USC has left its imprint on track and field. The high jump is no different.

Viewing the high jump over time has been intriguing. The earliest mark I could find was in 1895 by Reed Miller (5' 1) and improve to 5' 4 two years later by Austin Martin. These heights aren't noteworthy as the top jumpers during this time were over 6' 0, but SC would soon be turning heads. Itris Ward cleared 6' 2 in 1911 and it wasn't until 1947 before we had someone clear 6' 6 (Tom Follis). However I should note that Henry Coggeshall had cleared 6' 5 $\frac{7}{16}$  in 1927 and Duncan McNaughton cleared 6' 5 $\frac{3}{4}$  in 1932.

The 7' 0 barrier was cleared by Charlie Dumas in 1956, but the story therein requires telling. USC had another premier jumper in Ernie Shelton and the race was on to being the first person to jump 7' 0. Having jumped 6' 11 $\frac{3}{4}$  himself, Ernie was no dark horse in this contest. As fate would have it, Dumas would be that first 7 footer, a height Shelton would never achieve. Despite this crushing blow to Ernie I think it prudent to note that he was a 3X All-American and 2X NCAA Champion in the HJ and had an unbeaten streak of 55 meets. While Dumas was at USC from 1958-60, his record jump came while he was still at Compton College.

USC's high jumping history can't go without noting the feats of Jesse Williams, the current school record holder (7' 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ ) and 4X NCAA HJ Champion (2 outdoor; 2 indoor) and the jumps of Randall Cunningham, a 2X NCAA Champion (1 outdoor; 1 indoor).

By the numbers, USC jumpers account for 43 All-Americans, 13 NCAA titles, 13 Olympians and 6 Olympic medals.

HIGH JUMP

One of the interesting things about putting together a track list like this is finding names of athletes in events where they “don’t belong”.

Here's a small sampling of some ‘misplaced’ high jumpers:

|              |       |      |   |
|--------------|-------|------|---|
| Howard Drew  | 5' 5  | 1915 | (WR sprinter and Olympian)                |
| Earl Thomson | 6' 0  | 1916 | (110H Olympic champion)                   |
| Bill Bayless | 6' 0¼ | 1949 | (Shot putter)                             |
| Paul Salata  | 5' 9  | 1944 | (USC FB & creator of Mr. Irrelevant Week) |
| Jim Lea      | 5' 8  | 1951 | (2X NCAA 400 champion and Olympian)       |
| Luther Hayes | 6' 2¼ | 1960 | (2X NCAA TJ champion and USC FB)          |

The Pole Vault

POLE VAULT

As I look through our stats, I would say that from 1930 to 1990 USC owned the pole vault. It's not the Trojan vaulters won every single time, but Trojan vaulters were always a factor. 68 All-American awards and 17 NCAA titles is quite the feather in USC's cap.

I found early marks of 8' 0 and 8' 10 from the 1890s until we get to 1907 when Carl Wirshing vaulted 10' 4. A decent jump, but still a couple of feet below the national leaders. This would change rather quickly as Charlie Richardson cleared 12' 4 in 1910 which would have won the national meet if he had competed in it.

Lee Barnes soared to 14' 1½ in 1928 which set the table for a 14' 4¾ vault by Bill Gruber. USC's first set of "Heavenly Twins" of Earle Meadows and Bill Sefton would raise the bar to 14' 11. These were all WR marks and this select group account for 7 NCAA titles and 8 All-American honors. All were Olympians.

The 15' barrier was next cleared by Ron Morris (15' 2½) as he and Walt Levack would be USC's next "Heavenly Twins". Ron would win silver at the 1960 Games.

POLE VAULT

Mel Hein and Mike Flanagan would comprise our third set of “Twins” in 1962-63.

By 1967 Troy had two 17' vaulters in Bob Seagren and Paul Wilson, the first pair of 17' vaulters in college history and USC’s fourth iteration of the “Heavenly Twins”.

Our latest “Twins” pairing came in the 1986-87 seasons with Steve Klassen and Eric White.

I’ve had a little bit of fun with all this and maybe took some liberties in embellishing the whole “twins” meme, but these 5 sets of vaulting twins are responsible for 9 NCAA titles, 21 All-American honors and 4 Olympic medals.

A WORD ABOUT VAULTING POLES

When talking about changes in equipment it’s intriguing as different events go completely unchanged (shot put) to radically modernized (pole vault poles).

Here’s a brief comparison to illustrate this change in vaulting poles:

| Material used for pole | Years used    | Best mark w/ pole |
|-------------------------------|----------------------|--------------------------|
| Wood (hickory or ash)         | 1863 through 1906    | 12 ft. 4 $\frac{1}{2}$   |
| Bamboo Poles                  | 1907 through 1956    | 15 ft. 7 $\frac{3}{4}$   |
| Metal/Steel Poles             | 1957 through 1960    | 15 ft. 9 $\frac{1}{4}$   |
| Fiber Glass Poles             | 1961 through present | 20ft. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$    |

When you add in the better runways and landing pits of today, the vault has been transformed also completely. The vaulters in the 1800’s through 1920’s often had to land in sand pits which really required them to land on their feet. There was no landing on their backs like they do now.

LONG JUMP / TRIPLE JUMP

I'm going to go off on a tangent here for the long jump as I want to make some comparison observations about the event. This really doesn't pertain to USC specifically, but thought it worth some consideration.

So, here we go. If anyone of a certain age is asked about the long jump, invariably Bob Beamon's jump at the '68 Olympics will probably come up. And why not. The WR at the time was 27' 4 $\frac{3}{4}$  and Beamon skipped past the 28s and jumped 29' 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ .

My reason for heading down this path on the long jump is that this event has seen the smallest amount of improvement over time as compared to the other events. I'm not picking on anybody, it's just an observation. Let me expound.

I'm going to use 25' as a benchmark because that is still a good jump these days, though not really a world-class jump. The first 25' leap was in the 1920s (1921) and 26' would soon follow in 1928. 27' wouldn't be achieved until 1961 and then Beamon's crazy jump in 1968. I'll bet he had flubber on his shoes.

Like I said, I'm not picking on anyone, but it's curious that the long jump went static for such a long period of time that even a jump from 1921 would still be competitive today. I'll bring this 'bird-walk' to an end with some arbitrary comparisons to illustrate that no marks from other events in the 1920s would still be competitive today.

|------|---|-----------|---|--|
| 100  | - | 10.4      | - | 10.04 (10.4 would have been the 21st best time)            |
| 1500 | - | 3:51.0    | - | 3:43.03 (3:51.0 would have been 12th pl.)                  |
| 110H | - | 14.4      | - | 13.49 (14.4 would have been the 23rd best time)            |
| HJ   | - | 6' 8      | - | 7' 3 (6' 8 would have been the 20th best jump)             |
| PV   | - | 14' 1 1/4 | - | 18' 4 1/2 (14' 1 1/4 would not have advanced to the NCAAs) |
| LJ   | - | 25' 1     | - | 26' 5 (25' 1 would have been 6th pl.)                      |
| SP   | - | 52'       | - | 69' 10 (52' would not have advanced to the NCAAs)          |
| DT   | - | 163' 0    | - | 209' 2 (163 would have been the 24th best throw)           |

For USC, Jess Hill jumped 25' in 1929 to be the first Trojan at that mark. There have been 30 Trojan jumpers who have made or bettered that marks since Hill's leap in 1929. USC has produced 44 All-Americans yet only 3 NCAA titles which doesn't quite match the ratio of AAMs & titles of the other events.

Triple Jump

The triple jump was another of those 'orphaned' Olympic events that only showed up in the NCAA meet during the year of the Games. It wasn't until 1959 that it became a regular event at the NCAAs.

USC triple jumpers have won 16 All-American awards and 4 NCAA titles. Only two have made it to the Olympics.

ONE LAST WORD

One potential problem with both the long and the triple jump (and the easiest to solve) is the possible injury caused by sand landing pits. In a lot of high schools and even at some colleges the pits are not dug up prior to each meet to soften the landing. Difficult to imagine this, but coaches will often keep their top sprinters and hurdlers away from long jumping to avoid injuries. It is also easy to injure a heel on the take-off of both events.

The Throws

SHOT PUT

USC's history was established early when Bud Houser won the gold in the shot and discus at the 1924 Olympics. But shot put history really pivots around Parry O'Brien and his revolutionary change he made in throwing technique.

Briefly explained, the old style was a sideways-facing hop of sorts as a thrower would hop/slide across the ring to throw. Parry rotated his upper body so that his back would be to the front of the ring. This 180° turn of the torso allowed for more torque and power to be delivered into the throw.

From 1910 to 1950 the world shot record went from 51-0 to 58-10. O'Brien's new technique allowed him to move the shot record from 59-0 to 63-2 in just six years, a time span when he would dominate the world in the shot. Parry would be the first to throw the shot 60ft; set 10 different WRs in the shot; win 118 consecutive meets which include two NCAA titles, 18 National Championships, 2 Olympic gold and 1 silver medals.

Normally that would be a tough act to follow, but USC had another shot star coming through the ranks: Dallas Long. Dallas would go on to break Parry's WR and six more besides. A 3X NCAA champion, Dallas won gold at the 1964 Olympics.

Like with other T&F events, the shot put has gone through another transformation with the advent of the spin technique in throwing. The spin has practically replaced the glide in the shot at the top level of throwers. The spin has also allowed shorter athletes to be successful in the shot as they are able to generate speed in the throw to compensate for their lack of leverage.

SHOT PUT

USC's Noah Bryant used speed and his incredible strength to win two NCAA Championships.

USC throwers would rack up 34 All-American honors, 10 NCAA titles, 12 Olympians and 7 Olympic medals (5 of which are gold).

The DISCUS

Our history of throwers at USC is quite beyond compare. In nine consecutive Olympics (1924-1964) USC won 15 medals (18 if post-graduate Trojans are counted). Trojan discus throwers have also won 36 All-American awards and 8 NCAA titles.

But it's not just the numbers that give Trojan athletics it's life, but the stories behind the accomplishments. Here are just a few of those tidbits:

Anybody know where Associates Park is on USC's campus? No? Well now you'll need to know because it holds some very specific Olympic history. In Associates Park are USC's Olympic Trees. Gold medalists from the 1936 Games were given oak saplings to take home and plant as a reminder of the Games. Ken Carpenter's sapling was planted in Associates Park and is still there. Another sapling was planted for Frank Wykoff & Foy Draper, but we lost that tree to root rot and it was replaced. There are plaques at both of these trees. Go find them.

Have you seen the rendering for the new USC Track & Field building to be constructed?? It's a beauty. It's the handy work of Joe Antunovich '71. Joe is #5 on the All Time discus list at 198'-10.

The DISCUS

When is the first person to throw the 2K discus 200ft. not the first person to do so?? In 1958 Rink Babka launched a throw that carried beyond the sector, over the track, and into a ditch. The throw measured 201ft but because of the drop in the ditch of about two feet and the trajectory of the discus, officials did some recalculating to take that into account and Rink was credited with a 198'-10 throw.

From the ‘you’re-never-to-old’ file, there’s no reason to hang it all up just because you’re out of school. At age 62 Ralph Fruguglietti ('76) #4 on USC’s All Time list at 202'-0, threw the 1K disc 175ft to win the M60-64 National Masters Championship last year (2017).

(This is Sim Iness. Notice he's throwing from a dirt/grass ring)

JAVELIN

USC's javelin history was quite robust from 1920 to the 1960s and has since been on a hit-&-miss cycle. 20 of our 23 All Americans come from this time period, as well as the two NCAA titles.

In 1986 the javelin was redesigned because throwers were throwing the thing too far (the WR was up to 343-9). That, plus the large number of flat throws (which weren't considered legal throws) and the "fix" was ordered for the javelin.

The redesign moved the javelin's center-of-gravity forward which would cause the spear to come back down to earth sooner. The first WR coming out of the gates with this new design was 281-2, some 60 feet shorter than the old record.

That 60 foot gap has already been halved as the current record now sits at 318-1.

The HAMMER

Being a downtown campus there are some T&F events that seemingly just do not have a natural ‘urban’ fit. There’s a thread of truth to this with distance races and the hammer.

The hammer is not a new event to USC, but there is quite a gap in our hammer competition history. From 1894 to 1927 the hammer was a regularly contested event that went into hiding for about 70 years when it saw a big resurrection in the 90s. There was a sprinkling of throwers during that in between time period, but if it’s more than five I’d be surprised. You can parse this out looking over the list.

The first hammer record of note was a 140-7% toss by Charlie Richardson in 1907. A decent throw, but still 20-25ft behind the national leaders. Our next thrower of note won’t be until 1952 when Hillard Torgan throws 139’ 4½ to move into the #2 all-time slot and it won’t be for another 12 years until the hammer record of 1907 is finally broken by Dennis Wynn at 142-10½. USC’s legacy is fairly a tame one at this point, but that will change in 1984. John Wolitarsky explodes the hammer record set by Wynn with a toss of 214-9. Record keeping for the hammer was a bit spotty back then (hammer statistics don’t even show up in track media guides until 1982), so some of this could still change up little. Stay tuned.

So, it’s 1986 and most of us are scratching our heads because USC has a 225ft hammer thrower in previously mentioned John Wolitarsky. Andy Tolputt would follow John, but prior to this I can only account for three throwers from 1927 to 1984. THREE! How crazy is that?

This would change in a big way beginning with the hire of Coach Dan Lange and the recruitment of Balazs Kiss and seemingly overnight, USC became a destination school for the hammer. In four years, Kiss & Lange would rack up 4 consecutive NCAA titles; set school, PAC-12 and NCAA records; and one of those Olympic doo-dads in 1996, a gold medal.

The HAMMER

USC's hammer throwing legacy may be a bit newish, but it has garnered some rather impressive depth in a brief period of time. John's 225ft throw of 1985 has been surpassed 7 times since the arrival of Coach Dan. How many schools out there have 225-10 as their 8th best throw?

To illustrate USC's 'hammer gap' I thought a little pre- and post- comparison would be in order.

THE DECATHLON

USC's decathlon list is an interesting mix of athletes spanning 80 years of time.

Key to the Decathlon are the scoring tables used for ascribing points to the different times and marks that decathletes reach. It's important to note that the point totals on our list here are from the tables at that time of the competition. No conversions were attempted by me to modernize the older decathlon scores.

SCORING TABLES

So, what about these scoring tables? I had to do a Wiki search on this because I'm pretty ignorant when it comes to the decathlon. The particulars of all this can be found on Wikipedia if you need that kind of detail. I'm just going to hit the highlights here. There is some real sophistication involved in these tables that I can't do justice here.

1912 was the first Olympiad for the decathlon and between then and 1984 the scoring tables would be changed 5 times. The baseline for these early tables were previous Olympic marks or world records. The biggest challenge was to find a way to assign points to a mark without there being 'favoritism' to any specific event.

One problem that needed to be addressed was that the tables were giving a distinct advantage to decathletes who were really good in one specific event, but less than stellar in the other events. This became a disadvantage to the well-rounded athlete who might be good at many events, but not a specialist at just one.

It's all quite sophisticated and complicated.

USC decathletes have earned 5 All-American honors over the years.

The Relays

THE RELAYS

I'm not sure where to start with the relays, it's such a mixed bag of runners and awards over time.

Once the dual meet became the standard form of competition for track and field, the selection of events would come next. Nothing out of the ordinary here as the typical events were contested, but the relay "of choice" was either a 4x440 or the 4x220. The mile relay would become the common relay race yet the 4x110 wouldn't see regular duty until the 60s.

I don't know why it played out this way, but the 4x4 was the relay run at all the meets. Looking at the dates on our list the earliest 4x4 with a time is 1902 compared to the 4x1 which was 1925 and there's about 4 times as many 4x4 races recorded as the 4x1 for those pre-1950 days. Most of these early 4x1 times are from invitational and relay meets, not dual meets.

This finally gets us to USC and the success it has had in running relay races which have been some of the best in the world. Setting a WR in a relay race is actually quite rare as these records are usually set by national teams in large meets like the Olympics or World Games.

Since 1912, when the first 4x1 WR was recognized only 6 non-national teams have set world records (USC having done so twice; 1931 & 1967).

THE RELAYS

The 4x4 relay is ‘owned’ by the nations (specifically the USA) as USC and Stanford are the only two college teams to have set an outdoor WR. One curious note on this, USC did set two indoor WRs this year (3/10/18), but because of some bureaucratic mumbo-jumbo USC was only “granted” a world best mark with the WR going to Texas A&M.

As for the NCAAs, it wasn’t until 1964 when the relays were added to the Finals. USC has registered 40 All-American relay teams, 10 of those NCAA Champions.

When it comes to WRs it gets a little cumbersome attempting to sort this all out cleanly. The Cliff Notes version on this is 105 Trojans have been a part of a WR-setting relay at some point since 1912. This number includes athletes whose attendance at USC was either pre- or post-student.

EPILOGUE

Hope this supplement has been a pleasure to read. My reflections might have missed some details, but the intent was to document everyone who has competed for the USC Track & Field program.

I will try to make corrections so if you notice any typos or other errors, please drop me an email.
