

MINI AUCTION MEETS GOALS, GARNERS NEARLY $3,000

Chairman Laura Greene sends thanks out to everyone who made quilts and helped in the set-up and completion of the quilt auction.

49 quilts were sold from $25 to $410, with the average price at $80. Donors of the quilts could designate which charity they wanted half of their quilt's earnings to go to.

A potential bidder consults over his selection. Did he get it?

The Tuesday Strippers Scenic quilt won Viewer's Choice, and Laurie Lile was determined to outbid any comers on it.

Joyce Gwinner's

Flag was chosen as Most Patriotic. Lisa Gurley's Caterpillar won two awards—Most Whimsical and Best Use of Color. Marilyn Cauldron's Wrightwood Country Club added to its fair ribbon with the viewer's vote of Most Wrightwood before being sold off.

PICNIC IN THE PARK BECOMES PICNIC ON THE PORCH

Far right, Darlene Packard poses yet another question from "Sew You Want to Be a Quilter" game.

Threatening rain pushed the picnicking ladies onto the Forest Service porch for their picnic. A handsome hiker enjoyed our hospitality as well, happy to get home cooked goodies after days of Top Ramen on the Pacific Rim Trail. After sampling all the delicious dishes, we moved into the assembly room to draw numbers and answer Darlene's questions: What was a combination of linen and wool called? What was fabric from Calcutta called? What block did President Roosevelt's dog inspire, and what was the name of the dog? What's another name for this Jacob's Ladder block? Each lady was able to swap panels when she correctly answered her question. After three difficult rounds, nobody went home with the panel she hoped for, and everyone had the challenge of making something pretty from their piece by next July's picnic.

WRIGHTWOOD LIBRARIAN Linda Felgar (left) shows off her 4 Ever Friends, made in appreciation for her many hours of babysitting the library after hours, so that our Board could meet there. Beth Stanton assembled and quilted the horses and presented it to Linda at the last board meeting.

Below center, Beth Stanton displays her just completed Phil Beaver's workshop piece, and far right, Lisa Bradford has an unusual take on a 9 patch.

UPCOMING PROGRAMS:

Don't forget Dinner with the Speaker, Melina Bula, at the Grizzly Café August 12. Her workshop, Fabulous Fusible Flowers, will be the following Saturday, August 16th, at the Methodist Church. This class is booked up.

September 9th will be Dinner with Sharyn Craig, and her workshop on Wednesday the 10th. The workshop is full, with people on the waiting list. You must pay your class fee at the next meeting to secure your spot, $20 for guild members, plus a $10 template charge to Sharyn. Supplies needed can be found on Sharyn's website, Sharyncraig.com (workshop 2). (I didn't see it there, but you can see a sample.) We will be doing the Royal Cross.

JOHN MARSHALL's Trunk Show gave ladies the opportunity to try on his haute couture hand painted garments. Here, John shows one of our quilting friends how to adjust his fabulous gown. It was silky and elegant and wonderful to touch, on sale for half price. Do I sound regretful? Oh, if only I had an occasion warranting such a garment!

Near left: Flo Sousa enjoys the lavish hand-painted detail on this kimono jacket—it was quite a show July 3rd in Hesperia.

MINI QUILT AUCTION VOLUNTEERS Joyce Gwinner handing out voter forms and pencils, and Fran Ouimette putting a few extra stitches onto the bidding paddles.

Thanks to the EZ Up canopies, the gals were in the shade.

NEWS AND NOTES

HOME TOUR COMMITTEE meets August 21 at Marlene Bowman's house instead of the date previously planned. Same time.

CIVIL WAR BLOCK OF THE MONTH DUE AUGUST.

CHILDREN'S WORKSHOP AUGUST 2nd, 1-4:30 pm at the Wrightwood Community Building. Children from the ages of 9-12 can come and create a quilt project with the help of guild members. The cost is $5. Call Nancy Fogo at 220-5862 for more information.

Nancy is still collecting quilts for the September Cancer Kid's Camp—her goal is one per kid.

WRIGHTWOOD FIRE WOOD Company has a pre-season special on wood—any orders before August 15 will be rewarded with $10 donated to our guild. Call 249-5093.

Refreshments are still need for October and November. Can you imagine a meeting without them? Call Marlene DeJong at 868-1673.

(Answers to Darlene's questions, page 2: linsy woolsy, calico, Scotty Dog, Fala, and Underground Railroad or Road to California or Off to San Francisco or Stepping Stones.)
