An Evening of Games, Prizes and Laughter

What do shaped pasta, dried beans and a perpetually feigned misunderstanding of the word "Sets" have in common? If you have been a member long enough and/or attended last month's general meeting you know that Quilto is the common factor.

Callers Nancy Fogo and Carol Poisal kept players on their toes by changing up the play with different patterns.

Corinne Baker shows off the Quilto grand prize: a basket of fat quarters as her sister, Flo Souza, looks over her shoulder.

Tradition dictated that the final game of the evening was "blackout". Tension mounted as players' cards filled and were left with only one or two open spaces.

Corinne Baker emerged as the winner of the final "blackout" round and the grand prize of a basket full of fat quarters. Tracey Gwinner also had a satisfyingly lucky evening, winning at least two raffle prizes and one Quilto prize. Congratulations!

Cutting Up for Good Cause at February Meeting

Prepping to make charity quilts is on the agenda for the upcoming February meeting. Bring supplies to cut fabrics: cutting mats, rotary cutter, rulers, scissors and , if possible, bring a pattern that will be suitable for unknown fabric options (think of it as a challenge to come up with something that meets that criteria). Fabric will be provided.

The meeting is February 14th at 6:30pm.

Show & Tell

Kathy Lee Smith brought this Dresden Plate from her collection. The double prairie points made an unusual and beautiful border. Flo Souza and Kandi Harrower hold the quilt.

Flo Souza made this Day & Night table runner from an Eleanor Burns pattern.

Lynn Crawford and Marlene Bowman display Lynn's blue 2011 Mystery Quilt.

Kim Small's 2011 Mystery Quilt is in a green and gold colorway.

Lynn Crawford also showed off her shades of brown and gold 2010 Mystery Quilt (above, left). Stephanie Neal (center) made this appliquéd bouquet that speaks of Valentine's Day. Harriett McGlothlin's bird blocks (right) are set slightly askew. Another little bird tells us that Harriett is celebrating her 80th birthday this month!

Kim Small's redwork quilt includes a large collection of snow people.

President's Message

Wow! what a great turnout we had for Quilto. It always amazes me that so many of us come back year after year to laugh over the same jokes. Must be that we all are kindred spirits! I hope you had a chance to take in some classes at Road to California and to view all the amazing quilts. I saw several by Patt Blair, who will be giving a workshop in April. I'm looking forward to that.

Welcome to our newest members Jami Lynum-Young and Mary Jones. Thank you Jami for taking on the Sunshine committee. Please let Jami know if anyone in the guild needs a little sunshine sent their way. Also, welcome back to Lora Steinman. We've missed you and glad you are back.

As I mentioned at the January meeting, in February and March we are going to tackle the wonderful supply of fabric that Debbie Stefan found us for our charity quilts. With all the expertise among us we should have a really productive meeting. So bring your cutting mats, rotary cutters and rulers. If you have any good patterns in mind we can use them too.

See you in February. Happy quilting!
