

Telephone Poles Transported

Toltecs, transmitters, mechanical sentinels figures righted from ceremonial resting places carry the spark and current of our time

Stoically, they stand - observing their flying kin drones, satellites, wireless communicators bridging continents, binding the world

In a web of awareness – horrified we watch as blue and yellow become the new colours of courage

Right against might might slowed by strength determination, this is our land!

Right, full, the world is watching as Ukraine teeters on a precarious edge arms stretched with unexpected strength

Right over might
This is our land!

In acknowledgement of the rightful determination of our Ukrainian brothers and sisters.

Peace – in and out,
Shelly Siskind