Goshen Farmers Market: Policy for Covid-19

Due to the Coronavirus Pandemic the Goshen Farmers Market is adding regulations to our Market guidelines. They will be in effect until the Coronavirus Pandemic has ceased to require the need for social distancing.
Overall safety of our fellow vendors and customers is our main concern.

The wearing of masks:

- Each vendor will wear a mask/face covering for duration of market.
- Customers will be required to wear a mask/face covering when entering market tent space.
- Any customer/vendor feeling ill should not attend market.

    1) Customers: please send a representative to pick up your produce.

    2) Vendors: if you have orders to fill, please arrange to have your products picked up by a market organizer.

Social Distancing of 6' or more:

We will be limiting the amount of people entering the market area. This can be worked out easily given our market is out-of-doors, vendor tents can be set up accommodating this, and, as for our customers, there will be signs at entrance to market tent area and signs instructing distance to be kept while customers shop.

- Vendors: should be spaced enough for social distancing of individuals walking between.

- Customers: will be limited to 1 party per vendor (of a number no greater than 2 people) and the rest can be in a waiting area arranged in a social distancing manner.

Handling of items purchased/ordered and receipt of payment:

- Each vendor will have a separate "pick-up and payment" table in front of their main table. Hand-sanitizer will be supplied for the customer's convenience (at this table).

- Once the order is placed, the vendor will put items on "pick-up & payment" table and the customer places payment (exact change only) in the payment box/jar provided.

- Each vendor will also have hand-sanitizer at his/her table – using after each order is filled.

Again, the overall safety of our fellow vendors and customers is our main concern.   All items that our vendors present to our customers must be held to this set goal.
