

Rapt Art Quarterly NEWSLETTER February 2025

Hello art lovers,

I hope this letter finds you well. It has been an eventful Winter season. This is a fun 2nd expo at The Old Brogue/Katie's Cafe in Great Falls. Though it changes every 3 months and is so fun and lively. This piece was inspired by an early wintertime drive into DC, along the gorgeous Georgetown Pike. We turned a corner and the sunrise took my breath away! The clouds looked like spilled sorbet of orange and pinks and in the sky the faint rainbow of colors were visible. Magical nature!

For anyone who doesn't know the Old Brogue it is quite the cozy (winter fireplace and booths), dynamic (live music almost daily) and tasty (fish & chips to die for) time-honored establishment. And Katie's Cafe hosts the milder Saturdays' car show every week!

I am beyond thrilled to announce that I have been chosen to attend the 2 week art residency in the prestigious Château D'Orchevaux in France May of 2026! This is a dream come true and I will be surrounded by multiple forms of artists, living and breathing only art. One piece I create will even stay at the Château as a permanent part of their collection. More to come next year 😊

These are two of my latest works and different styles for me.

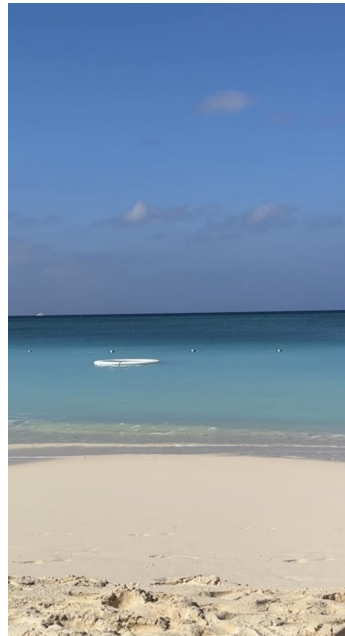

To the right you'll find flowers. Many clients have been requesting flowers so I am playing with form and, as always, textures.

And left, a new free flow of shapes which become family members, pets and life scenes. They just "appear."

A few of my latest travel inspirations. What colors do you think I'll use next? ;)

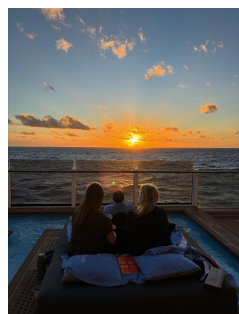

These top 4 are the wide variety of colors and textures I so admire in the Cayman Islands.

And these 4 are beauties from Bermuda. Those white rooftops enchanted me as all homes have them and the limestone material they are made of filters rainwater so they can use it!

This is a Bermudian weather stone, it made me laugh. Look closely :0 cheers, EB
