

Week Three Discovery and Enrichment

Montessori Shelves and Task Cards: Display and introduce sensorial material this week. Focus on the senses.

If you are using Task Cards this term, help your child complete the tasks on this week's card while remaining in a supporting role. Materials related to your task card studies should be placed throughout the prepared environment for your student to use freely.

Habit Building: Morning Routine

Morning Routines are comprised of habits of regularity, order, neatness, and personal cleanliness. For example: rise at a set time, air bed, get myself ready for the day, make bed, eat breakfast.

Morning Routines should be uncomplicated and completed with ease. If your child has already established these habits, reinforce them through discussion. If your child has not yet developed these habits, introduce one area of focus for this week

Observe, discuss, and display one work of art this week. Pay particular attention to composition, small details, patterns, light, or color.

Nature Study: Daily outdoor play, ongoing nature study, and interactions with living books enhance your child's relationship with the natural world.

Explore, discuss, and read about Tree Leaves this week.

Listening and Narration: Daily listening and narration builds habits of attention and thinking. Read and listen to a narration from the Bible and a selection of children's literature daily.
