Since you write in these workbooks, we cannot give them to someone else next year, so just keep them for now! You will, however, be turning in your science textbook so it can be given to a lucky seventh grader next year when you're an eighth grader! Your job for

	This week you have an opportunity to make-up missing work. Go back to Google Classroom to see what work you have not completed from weeks 6 – 9. Make sure you have attached it when you sent it. Just turning it in without attaching it will not give you credit. Also, check your emails to see if you sent it to me. If it is missing, complete it with great effort, make sure the title of the assignment is on the top and your name. Send to me by Sunday May 31st 8:00 am.

Religion (optional):

Congratulations, students! 8th grade is in sight!

Next year, we will dive into the History of the Church! How did we go from a small band of disciples to over 2 billion Christians worldwide, with over half being Catholic? We will also learn about what the Church is, and answer the question “why do we do this “faith” thing all together?”

It will be challenging, but I am confident it will also be interesting and rewarding. I’m really excited to jump into the next year with you!

But before we get too ahead of ourselves, let’s take a moment to be grateful for all we have learned this year.

For this final week, I encourage you to think of one, two, or three things you are grateful to have learned this year. They can be from any class, or from outside of the classroom. When you have these things in mind, bring these to God in prayer. Thank God for these things you have learned. Then ask him to reveal to you, in your heart, how you might grow closer to him this summer.

This could be through prayer, scripture, or service to others (maybe right now, to your family). I would encourage, above all, prayer. Remember, prayer is just having a conversation with God. Be honest about how you’re feeling—when things are great, and when they aren’t so great. Let God be a part of your life. Ask Jesus to show you his ways.

If you don’t have a habit of prayer right now, try to develop one this summer; if you do have a habit of prayer, try something new in your prayer life (for example, take time to read scripture, and ask God how he may be speaking to you through it).

		Know that you all remain in my prayers, and that I miss you very much! You are good, you are known, and you are loved! In Christ, Mr. Munsen
Other	Tech (optional): Ask someone to race against you on nitrotype. https://www.nitrotype.com/	Science: You must return your science textbook, if you have one, to school on Wednesday or Thursday. Please watch this week's video for more instructions on this!	SSR (optional): Read for 20 minutes each day. Have a great summer! We miss you and are praying for you! - Mrs. Mason
