

Title: SEEDS

Genre: Dramedy

Jackson dreams of being like the Black Panther, coming to save his sick parents and impoverished neighborhood.

So when a fairy shows up and teaches Jackson to grow and command plants in a magical garden, he uses his newfound powers for good to heal his community.

But the South African Black greedy store owner, who disdains American Blacks and thinks the garden in black magic, has other plans.

When the store owner fails at destroying the garden, he convinces Los Angeles' mayor to seize the land with eminent domain and wipe out the healing plants. Jackson's dreams are crushed, and he turns to a gang for kinship, and away from his impotent parents and the guidance of the fairy.

Will Jackson turn to violent revenge with his powers? Or rise up to become a true hero for his community?

If you like the concept of "Seeds," I'd be happy to send you the script which garnered a "Recommend" from Extreme Screenwriting.

All the best,
Elissa Kerhulas

Contact Info:

Phone: 323-363-4935

Email: elissakerhulas@gmail.com

www.elissakerhulas.com

<http://linkedin.com/ElissaKerhulas>

BIO: Elissa is a published author and graduate of the ScreenwritingU Master Screenwriting Certificate Program and has received "Recommends" on her scripts.