

Anthony J. Rumore Named Executive Vice President of Secureone Security

Phoenix resident honored with promotion by the national security firm.

PHOENIX - Oct. 7, 2016 - PRLog -- Secureone Security Services, the Chicago-based security services company with locations throughout the United States, has named Phoenix employee, Anthony J. Rumore, as Executive Vice President.

President and CEO of Secureone, James McGovern, says, "Anthony Rumore has been a tremendous asset to the company, taking on various roles and tasks to ensure we are the best company operating in the areas we service. Under his guidance and dedication, we have truly become an industry leader in national security operations."

With nearly 20 years in the security industry, Anthony Rumore offers his immense and practical experience to all of the Secureone staff and clients. His professional experience intertwined with his military background offers an authentic and no-nonsense approach to extremely diligent security. He has held various roles within the industry including managerial and regional operational positions, as well as business development, sales and marketing. Prior, he was a NYC police officer and in the United States Military for seventeen years. As a member of the Military Police, he served in Bosnia and Iraq, and was also a first responder in New York at 9-11. In the Military, he facilitated security course training, trained Iraqi police and U.S. National Guardsmen, managed dignitary personal security detail and directed international security patrols. "I am thrilled with being promoted to Executive Vice President of Secureone," says Anthony Rumore. He continues, "I have immense respect for the business and leaders in the company, and have vast hopes and goals for this new endeavor."
