new Blue Sky Beach Clouds 24x48 oil on canvas, in my studio, email me for info

The weather is calm with a few passing clouds:
Welcome Spring!

I feel very fortunate, especially during the pandemic, to spend time at the North Carolina coast. A change of scenery from my usual urban/suburban life is priceless! Being near the ocean replenishes my well-being, provides inspiration and presents infinite possibilities to portray in my paintings. At the beach I take many photos and use them as references, but while painting in the studio it's my imagination that completes the scene.

Pandemic inspired: Great American Paint In

My painting, Beach Morning, is available online through the Great American Paint In. The founder of this unique project states their goal is “to document what is happening in America during these unprecedented times. Our vision is to build a marketplace where America’s greatest artists can share their pandemic experience through their art.”

New art on UGallery — inspired by the coast

Marsh Passage 40x40 $3175 UGallery, click art for link

Marsh Passage: The wetlands of coastal North Carolina offer wildlife a place of refuge and sustenance. The green summer grasses and the abundant activity of life within the marsh are wondrous to observe. This painting pays homage to this tranquil place.

Beach Cloud Colors 40x40 $3175 UGallery, click art for link

Beach Cloud Colors: Soft clouds in bold pastels dominate this colorful seascape. The beach and waves are bathed in light from the sky above. I hope to convey the ephemeral nature of clouds with my paintings. Like other artists before me, I believe the sky exudes the emotions of a landscape.

Quiet Sky Marsh 20x40 $1775 UGallery, click art for link

Quiet Sky Marsh: Inspired by the marsh landscape, I apply my imagination to give familiar scenes atmosphere and mood. I use color to indicate time of day — both early morning and evening are quiet times, when the sky is most beautiful.

Quiet Beach Walk 20x40 $1775 UGallery, click art for link

Quiet Beach Walk: I respect the ocean, its might during a storm and its healing power on a quiet beach walk. I find solace and inspiration from being near the ocean.
