

EVOLYN AND FERROVIE DELLO STATO FORM A STRATEGIC ALLIANCE TO OPERATE FROM THE UK TO MAINLAND EUROPE VIA THE CHANNEL TUNNEL

- The alliance between Evolyn and Ferrovie dello Stato represents the union of two powerful industrial partners who will combine experience and business vision to offer a modern, efficient and highly competitive alternative in high-speed rail transport connecting the United Kingdom with Europe.

Madrid, April 8, 2025 - Evolyn and Ferrovie dello Stato today announced a strategic alliance to launch an innovative high-speed train service connecting London and Paris via the Channel Tunnel.

This ambitious project, which will involve an estimated investment of 1.1 billion euros, aims to provide a sustainable, modern and efficient transport alternative for the nearly 20 million passengers who travel between the UK and mainland Europe every year.

Ferrovie dello Stato is Italy's leading railway group and a key player in European transport, with a presence in several countries on the continent. Through its subsidiaries, it manages high-speed trains, regional transport and logistics services, driving connectivity and modernisation in the railway sector.

Evolyn, backed by the Cosmen family, has a solid track record in the management and expansion of major transport projects.

This combination of experience and business vision will allow us to offer a modern, efficient and highly competitive high-speed transport service adapted to the needs of today's travellers.

The alliance of Evolyn and Ferrovie dello Stato Italiane has the ambition to become the innovative alternative choice for travellers from the United Kingdom to mainland Europe, seeking to provide the best quality services at competitive prices.
