A parody and homage to horror anthology television programs, mainly The Twilight Zone, the special comprises five episodes, being the 12th episode of the thirteenth season of SpongeBob SquarePants, the first half of the fourteenth episode of The Patrick Star Show, and the second half of the twenty first episode of the first season of Kamp Koral: SpongeBob's Under Years. The special was announced on July 22, 2022, at Nickelodeon's San Diego Comic Con panel[1] and premiered on January 13, 2023. Premise The Tidal Zone is a showcase of stories set in the SpongeBob Universe with a continuous theme of absurdist and abnormality, hosted by the French Narrator who provides the opening and closing narration of each segment. Throughout the special, GrandPat Star is using a time machine in the form of a closet to find his way back home and occasionally appears in each segment. Release The special was announced at Nickelodeon's San Diego Comic Con panel on July 22, 2022. It was originally scheduled to air on November 25, 2022,[2] but it was delayed due to unknown reasons. On December 13, 2022, the special was rescheduled to January 13, 2023.[3][4] Reception David King of BubbleBlabber.com called the special decent, saying that "It's hard to believe a long-running franchise like this hasn't had anything like this that isn't a Halloween special. I give it points for creativity at least for "out-weirding" itself, and given the popularity that Spongebob has obtained for decades, I have the feeling we might get more of these in the future."[5] References ^ "SpongeBob Universe Announces First Major Crossover Special for Nickelodeon". comicbook.com.

Retrieved from " Bob the SpongeRocky the Shrimp The Intertidal Zone is an unpublished educational comic book written and illustrated by Stephen Hillenburg in 1984. He created it to teach his students about tide pool animals while he was working as a teacher at the Ocean Institute. The book and its sea creature characters were instrumental to Hillenburg's later creation of SpongeBob SquarePants. History[] Stephen Hillenburg made The Intertidal Zone in the mid-1980s to teach children about different sea creatures. He worked as a marine science educator at the Ocean Institute in Dana Point, California. While working on Rocko's Modern Life, Martin Olson found pages from the book and liked them. He suggested that Hillenburg develop The Intertidal Zone into an animated series, which became SpongeBoy Ahoy! (later retitled SpongeBob SquarePants). Hillenburg was interviewed about the book for SpongeBob Comics No. 1. He said, "I drew it while teaching at what is now called the Ocean Institute, to help explain the life of organisms living in tide pools along the Southern California coast in an entertaining way." He named Robert Crumb and Paul Driessen as influences on the visual style of the comics. Format[] The book was co-hosted by two sea creatures: a shrimp named Rocky and Bob the Sponge, a very early version of SpongeBob.

Each issue featured ocean facts and illustrations of tide pool creatures. Starfish, snails, scallops, and anemones were some of the sea creatures that appeared. Gallery[] Trivia[] The Intertidal Zone is mentioned in the "General Trivia" for SpongeBob SquarePants on Amazon Video.
It mistakenly states that Hillenburg drew The Intertidal Zone in college; he actually illustrated the book while teaching at the Ocean Institute. A similar recurring comic strip entitled Flotsam & Jetsam would later be featured in various issues of SpongeBob Comics.
