

JUST MY OPINION

Roger R. West

I always write my column on Mondays. The paper has to be 99% complete Tuesday evening so we can have it at the printer Wednesday morning. So as I sit here I have no idea what we are facing as you read this concerning the outcome of the election.

One thing I do know is that regardless of the outcome, God is ultimately in control. If it be his will for America to remain a free republic, then we will. However, if He feels that enough is enough and our nation that was founded upon God's word has moved so far to the paganist left that a disciplined reminder is needed, be sure He can and will do that also. Throughout time, God has had to remind his people that they have lost focus of Him and had to be reminded of such. Trust me when I say, America is not greater than God. Never has been and never will be.

All one has to do is turn on the television or go to a movie and you will see firsthand the anti-God content and rhetoric. Try and find any wholesome program, they are far and few between. Pay attention to the commercials; take note of how the white male is being portrayed in most commercials as weak dumb sissy type individuals. Take note at how many commercials display children misbehaving by disregarding what the acting parents are saying to them, or kids running through the house with muddy feet, throwing food on the floor and the parents just smile like that's just fine as they get out the latest and greatest mop or vacuum and the home is clean and happy within seconds. I can assure you if I had run through the house as a kid with muddy feet, or had thrown spaghetti on the walls or floor, my world would not have been a happy one for quite some time.

As our country has moved away from God and disciplined control of our lives, our country has become more evil by the day. So the one thing more important than our votes we cast is to pray to God for our country's welfare and seek forgiveness for allowing evil to overwhelm our goodness. May we all Bless God that in return He may Bless America once again.

As always...that's just my opinion!
