

JUST MY OPINION

Roger R. West

As I write this early on Monday morning, all I can say is wow, to the past eight days! The American saga is getting thicker by the day. We have gone from an assassination attempt on President Trump, the naming of J.D. Vance as Trump's Vice President choice (excellent choice), to an awesome Republican Convention, and now crooked Joe dropping out of the Presidential race. You couldn't make this stuff up even if you tried.

The Democratic Party is experiencing internal turmoil to the degree never seen before. For the past four years they have covered Biden's ineptness and then boom, the debate shattered their cover-up for all the nay sayers. Biden's condition has been evident to anyone paying attention. It really shocks me that so many were clueless or just couldn't accept the truth. Accepting the truth is a very difficult process for the liberal left. They are famous for turning their heads and not reasoning evidence placed before them. However, this time it has blown up in their faces and there was no way to lie themselves out of it.

I have no idea on the outcome of who will be the chosen one to head the Democrat ticket for the Presidential race. But I can assure you it's going to be messy within the Democrat party. With Joe anointing the cackling VP Harris and the Democrat elites pushing for an open convention, all hades is going to breakout. If the Dems push the first female of color to the side, there is going to be a large block of voters that will refuse to vote for the new nominee's bid, just out of protest.

If they do so choose Kamala, her poll rankings are already in the toilet, therefore they have another completely different block of voters that will not support her election bid. What a mess they have created. They have a little more than 90 days to choose their new leader of their party, choose a person as their Vice President, put together their war chest and meet Donald J. Trump on November 5th at the polls. A hefty task no organization wants to endure. With that being said, there is one more question to be analyzed and answered. If Biden is not well enough to run for re-election, why is he able to remain the President until January 2025?

I think Newt Gingrich summed up the Democrat Party quiet well prior to the events of last week. He stated, "It's Barack Obama who corrupts the Justice Department. It is Hillary Clinton who routinely breaks the law and gets away with it. And now, we have Joe Biden who's learned. He's learned from Obama that doesn't matter what you do. If you're a liberal democrat you will not be prosecuted. He learned from Hillary that a person in high public office can get millions and millions of dollars. And they learned from watching Donald Trump, a true outsider willing to take on the entire system, could destroy their entire machine.

So, what you are seeing across the country is a desperate last-ditch effort by a corrupt machine to destroy their most dangerous opponent in a way which not only breaks the Constitution, destroys the rule of law and establishes a moment of bitterness, which I think will last for a generation or more. I think this is going to be a horrendous period and we just need to understand. The people who want to control America and dictate to the rest of us will break any law, lie about any topic, manipulate the system any way they can, and that includes a lot of the elite news media.

Like I've been saying, hang on...it's going to be an interesting ride.

As always...that's just my opinion!
