BREAKFAST OSHA CITATION BRIEFING

All it takes is just one employee's misconduct and failure to follow the employer's safety rules and procedures for OSHA to issue a Citation and thousands of dollars (sometimes hundreds of thousands) in penalties against the employer. Learn the law involved, and tried and true methods to revitalizing your Company's health and safety programs, training and documentation to establish the "unpreventable employee misconduct" defense – one of the most important defenses on the books – for OSHA citations involving hourly and supervisory employee violations of your Company's safety rules and procedures.
