

2010 Aid for AIDS Africa

12th Annual Ghana Humanitarian WELLNESS Tour

Starting AUGUST 12th until AUGUST 23rd

Hello Friends and Supporters!

Once again Aid for AIDS Africa (AFAA) is planning another Humanitarian trip to Ghana. Our focus is on WELLNESS. We are inviting all who want to support health and healing in Ghana. Come share your experiences and talents however you can. We will find a place for your abilities and the resources you choose to bring. We will present life affirming educational talks via the media and directly to the Ghanaian community through forums and clinics at selected venues. We are not limited in any way as to what we can do in this regard. So, join us and offer what you do best to help us manifest the holistic intention our board has set in motion through this humanitarian effort. Our focus this year will be providing informational and hands-on services in the following three areas:

1. Supporting HIV Support Groups especially children living with HIV
2. Recovery and Treatment for Addiction
3. Strengthen our connection to the Spiritual Communities

These are tools for Wellness. Other related areas of support are welcomed such as medical providers, health educators, Spiritual practitioners, psychosocial and physical therapist.

Aid for AIDS Africa recognizes the need to support people living with HIV/AIDS as a primary focus, however, this must include the health of the entire family even the marginalized parts of the family such as children, substance abusers and people with alternative lifestyles. This is why we have chosen to focus on the areas mentioned. Stigma and fear have caused many living with HIV to be abandoned by their families and also by themselves. We will provide recovery from HIV related workshops sharing our experiences of LIVING with HIV/AIDS. Through education and the example of the experiences of others, we are providing an opportunity to choose again. Choosing a healthier response to life challenging issues is our goal. It is our belief that HIV support groups and peer advocacy can best exemplify this concept. AFAA will continue to build support for these groups by helping to develop programs and establishing exchange programs with African and American HIV service providers.

New to our experience since 2004 is working with the Recovering community from addiction which is in it's infancy in Ghana. The 1st 12 Step meeting dealing with addiction was initiated by members of that fellowship who traveled with us as part of our 2004 humanitarian mission. Since then we have delivered thousands of dollars of recovery literature and recorded information as seeds for recovery in Ghana. Since our visit last year a recovery related HOUSE (Hopeful Way) has opened through our friends in NA and AA and is requesting support to keep the focus on recovery. Both NA and AA will hold meetings in this facility. It can also house members of these fellowships traveling to Ghana providing an opportunity to support the development of the 12 step program process. AFAA members will also support organizations working with HIV and recovery from addiction with workshops such as anger management and Living Clean. We have observed HIV and addiction are closely related and are fueling the new infections in Ghana. We will help people recovering from addiction deal with depression and withdrawal from the various drugs available in Ghana including crack, heroin and alcohol.

Traveling on outside of the capital city of Accra, we will visit the Village of Hope, (made famous by Oprah Winfrey) a children's home (orphanage) where many of the children are orphaned due to HIV and addiction. We will also visit the slave castles in Cape Coast as well as the rainforest made famous for the Ariel walkways through the canopy of the forest trees. This experience can only be found in 3 places on the planet. In addition to this we will have a fun day with music and dancing on a Volta River cruise.

We have included in our trip, visits to Children's Homes, AIDS service organizations and HIV support groups as well as the faith-based organizations. We will also be working with our partners at the government hospitals at Korle-Bu Teaching Hospital and the Ghana Police Hospital. Also traveling with us will be people living with HIV/AIDS and recovering addicts. We will support each other in this vision of Wellness we hold as a reality for Ghana through raising the conscious awareness of our oneness with Perfect Health.
