

An Ensemble That Pleases.

(Scranton Republican.)

It will interest many in Scranton to know that, in all probability, Miss Adela Breakstone, of Wilkes-Barre, teacher of elocution at Wyoming Seminary, will teach a class in this city this season. Miss Breakstone is a great favorite in Scranton, as her reception last spring at the concert of the Seminary Glee club in Elm Park church and later on at the concert of the Lyric club, testified. As a teacher she is unexcelled in this region, and as an elocutionist she ranks easily with Miss Marshall, Miss Davis, Miss Weescott and others in the first class. To a voice of unusual sweetness is added a most charming stage presence, which with a total lack of staginess, make up an ensemble which pleases immensely. Miss Breakstone is a graduate of the Emerson College of Oratory, of Boston, Mass.
