

MIGHT HAVE SAVED ONE LIFE

DR. BENJAMIN H. BREAKSTONE.

Had consent been given, even as late as last night, Dr. Benjamin H. Breakstone, eminent Chicago specialist, would have performed an operation, separating the Siamese Twins, Rosa and Josefa Blazek, which might have prolonged the life of one, of the celebrated sisters. Under the Illinois law an operation objected to by relatives of the person most directly concerned cannot be performed, regardless of existing conditions. Such was the case with Rosa and Josefa. Their brother and the son of Rosa objected as strenuously as did Rosa herself and both died at an early hour this morning.
