Tiger, tiger, bright and bold,
With orange fur and stripes of gold,
In the jungle, you leap and play,
Roaring loudly every day!

You creep through trees, soft and slow,
Where you'll go, we don't know!
Your big paws pad on the ground,
Hardly making any sound.

In the heart of the jungle, fierce and free,
A striped shadow moves silently,
With amber eyes that pierce the night,
A tiger prowls, a vision of might.
Its coat, a canvas of fire and shade,
In the dappled light of the forest glade,
Every step a whisper, every breath a breeze,
The king of the wild moves with ease.

The tiger is a large and powerful animal that belongs to the cat family. It is known for its beautiful orange coat with black stripes. Tigers are one of the most famous wild animals in the world. They live in forests and jungles, mainly in Asia, including countries like India, China, and Russia.

Tigers are very strong and can run very fast. They are good swimmers and love to spend time near water. Tigers usually hunt alone, and they are excellent hunters. They eat animals like deer, wild pigs, and sometimes even fish.

Tigers are the largest members of the cat family. Some tigers can weigh over 600 pounds and be over 10 feet long from head to tail! No two tigers have the same pattern of stripes. Their stripes are like fingerprints, making each tiger unique. Unlike most cats, tigers love water and are great swimmers. They often bathe in rivers and lakes to cool off. A tiger's roar can be heard as far as 2 miles away. This helps them communicate with other tigers in the dense forest. Tigers have excellent night vision, which helps them hunt in the dark. They can see six times better than humans at night.
