

Happy New Year 2021!

Hope you and your loved ones have been keeping safe (and sane) as we say goodbye to 2020 and welcome the new year. We all could use some good news so I wanted to take this opportunity to share my recent works and new website- it's official!

Also, I have been published in "Shoutout SoCal", a Los Angeles based magazine and blog for creatives. It's certainly a fresh start that will shine some light on to my career as an artist. Here is the link to see the article:

Currently, I am working on a painting series for gallery representation. The series is about Roman mythology and the goddess, Venus, depicted in the digital painting study above called "Venus Rising".

Venus is known as the goddess of love, sensuality, beauty and fertility- the Roman counterpart to the Greek Aphrodite. Here, Venus emerges from the calm ocean waters, representing a movement into higher consciousness. The goddess is riding the magnificent horse of Adonis, a handsome hunter whom she fell in love with and tragically died during a hunting accident. As Venus moves towards land to ground herself and give back to humanity, her journey is guided by the light of the Sun, the Moon and the planet Venus, the second planet from the Sun.

I am very excited to explore mythology and create beautiful paintings in the magical realism genre. A surrealistic style that has always fascinated me since I studied drawing and painting in high school.

Meanwhile, I am just finishing up commissioned drawings and photography that I took on during the holidays, so that I may concentrate on the painting series.

These commissions included animal portraits and fine-art photography of horses.

Though, I will not be taking on any more commissions until the Fall season 2021. However, if you are interested in a commissioned portrait, please be sure to contact me ASAP to get you on my commissions waitlist since I will only be accepting ten commissions next season.

Thank you so much for subscribing to my monthly newsletter and following my art! I really appreciate you and feel grateful that you are part of my journey.

Until next month, Happy New Year and stay safe!
