

Rooted in Family, Driven by Compassion—Peacemaker At Home Care is Blessed to Serve Louisville

SUBMITTED BY PAUL OSTING

Louisville native, Paul Osting understands the power of family and community. A graduate of the University of Louisville's Speed School of Engineering and a former UofL baseball player, Paul built his life around teamwork, service, and compassion. He and his high school sweetheart, Angela Hettinger Osting, are not only partners in marriage but also in their business, Peacemaker At Home Care. Together, they're raising two college-aged children - one a Data Science major and baseball player at Western Illinois University, the other an Economics major at UofL - while growing a business that serves Louisville's aging population.

Founded in November 2024, Peacemaker At Home Care is Paul and Angela's way of honoring the generation that shaped them. "Both of my grandfathers were entrepreneurs," Paul shares. "Peacemaker is a nod to both of them and a way to give back to the generation that gave us so much." The company's mission is simple but powerful: to provide the best care with the best caregiver for the best clients. Peacemaker At Home Care offers licensed and insured assistance with daily living tasks such as bathing, dressing, mobility, meal prep,

"Paul personally stopped in to check on my dad while I was out of town. He gave me in-depth reports daily and I knew my dad was in good hands."

—DAYNA PAYTON

laundry, light housekeeping, medication management, and—perhaps most importantly—companionship. They serve aging adults and individuals with disabilities, focusing on reliability and continuity of care.

What sets Peacemaker apart is their philosophy of being "surrogate children" for their clients. "We're not here to replace the family caregiver but to support them," Paul explains. "Sometimes a senior has one family member carrying the responsibility, or they're aging alone. We can be that surrogate—helping with medical appointments, social outings, and daily care—so seniors maintain their dignity and independence."

Peacemaker also enriches

Louisville's community fabric by keeping seniors engaged in local life. Whether attending church, revisiting favorite restaurants, or simply sharing stories from the past, Paul sees firsthand how these connections keep people vibrant. "I'm proud to serve a former teacher from Flaget High School, a nurse manager from St. Anthony's, and a gentleman who grew up in Germantown when there was still a dairy farm there," he says.

Clients echo that impact.

Wayne T. shares, "I appreciate the communication. Paul and his caregivers are responsive to our needs and I never feel like we are out of the loop." Jerry M. adds, "My caregivers do a good job taking me to run errands, going to restaurants, and making sure I am safe. I don't know what I would do if I didn't have them."

Their motto says it all: "We are blessed to serve." Paul and Angela take that promise seriously and welcome the opportunity to help more families with their caregiving needs.

Peacemaker At Home Care

13410 Shady Creek Circle,

Louisville, KY 40299

502.572.7377 | www.paxmkr.com

president@paxmkr.com

AT HOME CARE

Blessed to serve

