

Leap Of Faith

Words & Music by James C. Burns

Old clothes. Old shoes.
Sometimes I think I'm dreaming
Cross roads. God Knows.
I just want to believe in something real.

Summertime. I was young.
She was sweet. She was fun.
Held her hand and decided I was leaving.
Wanting love so bad, I would wake up screaming.
Just took a stand. In the evening I became a new man.

Just a leap of faith.
And there's something I believe in
Just a leap of faith. Of my eyes to be seeing

Caught a lie. And soon I was deceiving.
Got up high. Too high. Now I'm freezing.
I don't want you. Know the reason.
Just a leap of faith. Just to believe in me.
Just a leap of faith. Into the evening.

Leap of faith. Down to believing.
Leap of faith. Keeps me up and breathing

Looking back had my hands on the wheel.
Took the car around faster than I needed.
Slowing down for something? That was foreign.
Didn't want to be so boring.

Just a leap of faith. All of the evening
Leap of faith. Oh, just to believe in
Leap of faith
