

The Softness Of Your Love

Words and Music by James C Burns

We ride all night until we see the sunrise..
We fight all night until we hit the ground.
I'm on my knees ...waiting for redemption.
Until The Softness of your love comes around.
Until the Softness of your love comes to town.

We ride all night until you get your answer.
We hide all night. Praying to be found.
I listen for the sound of your footsteps.
For sanctuary to come to around.

I'm waiting on the softness of your love.
I'm waiting on the softness of your love.
"Til the softness of your love comes around.
Until the softness of your love calms me down.

When lines are drawn the battle makes you weary.
There comes a time when you just need to breathe.
I'm leaving now cause I'm in desperation
I am Leaving now, to be seen.

I'm waiting on the softness of your love.
I'm waiting on the softness of your love.
"Til the softness of your love comes around.
Until the softness of your love calms me down.
