

Prayer For The Prodigal

Dear Heavenly Father,

I come now with a heart that is broken for my son/daughter as they have pulled away from your path. I know Lord that even if they do not see it, I know they need you. I pray that you will soften their heart and mind to the things of you.

Lord, I ask that you will prepare the path before them that leads them back to you. I pray that you will place people in their path that will speak your name...Jesus because there is so much power in your name!

I ask that their friendships that only pull them away from you will fade away. I pray you will protect them from the negative influences that entice them to go into the darkness.

I pray that you will gently break them. Lord, this is the hardest way for me to pray. I know that it may mean suffering for them but I also know that Lord they will be better off if they turn their heart, their life, to you.

I pray that you will help me to know when to speak up to tell them that they need to be careful and that they need to make sure they are looking to you. Lord, I know that there is a balance of being mom, friend, and most of all your daughter. Lord, I want them to see more than anything that I am YOUR DAUGHTER!

I want to be the example of love, grace and comfort for them. I want to be a safe place that they come to bring their burdens. Lord, I ask that you put it in their heart of how much their mom loves them. I ask that you will bring memories to them that will magnify my love for them.

Lord, I ask that you will bring memories of the days that they were in church learning the stories of the Bible. I ask that you will plant within them a desire to seek your words. I ask that you will breathe your hope, your love, and your power into their life.

Lord, they need to need you. I pray that they come to a place where they learn just how much that they need you.

I pray all of this in the power of the name of Jesus, AMEN.
