Introduction

Have you ever wanted to start a YouTube channel but were put off by the fact that it would take a significant amount of time to produce quality content?

Were you held back because you had to speak, didn't like your voice, or didn't have a good microphone? And the majority of the voice generators you discovered are complete garbage that will never be monetized?

In this book, I'll show you how to create high-quality videos for YouTube in a very short amount of time, with a voice that sounds like a human (you'd never guess it was a robot). Furthermore, you will not be required to write a script for your videos.

Requirements

To make these videos, unfortunately you will need 2 programs that are paid on a monthly basis (Or yearly for which both give 10-15% cheaper) and another free program.

ChatGPT: This is a free program that we will use to generate scripts for videos, there is also a plus version but it is not required.

Lumen5 : We'll be using this program to create videos.

MurfAi: The program with which we will generate voices for videos.

ChatGPT

As I said, this program is meant to be used to create scripts for your videos.

Some of the best types of scripts you can create using this program are:

Top 10 Videos: Top 10 places to visit in Serbia, Top 10 healthiest fruits for the heart, Top 10 best boxers ever, Top 10 movies, and so on... Of course, it doesn't have to be precisely 10; I give ten as an example.

Documentaries: Documentaries of all kinds.

Movie or Series Recap: If you don't know what this is, look it up on YouTube.

Recap of some events and the like: For example, criminal events or a boxing match where someone died.

Reviews: Reviews of series, movies, anime, etc...

Educational: Like how to do something, and similar videos.

I asked ChatGPT to "Write me a script for a video on what happened in Nigel Benn vs. Gerald McClellan boxing match" on which ChatGPT generated a script of about 600 words. The writing itself was almost perfect, although for the video to be of excellent quality, we could do some manual editing and generate a few more questions on the same topic.

[Intro Music and Video montage of iconic moments in Boxing history]

Narrator: Boxing has a rich history of memorable moments, legendary fighters, and unforgettable battles. But sometimes, even the most epic of fights can have devastating consequences.

[Cut to footage of Nigel Benn and Gerald McClellan entering the ring]

Narrator: On February 25, 1995, two of the biggest punchers in the middleweight division, Nigel Benn and Gerald McClellan, stepped into the ring for what would be one of the most explosive and tragic fights in boxing history.
[Cut to footage of the fight]

Narrator: From the opening bell, both fighters came out swinging, exchanging heavy shots and leaving everything in the ring. McClellan, a heavy-handed knockout artist, seemed to have the upper hand, with Benn struggling to keep up with the American's power.

[Cut to footage of McClellan landing a devastating right hand that knocks Benn down]

Narrator: In the first round, McClellan landed a massive right hand that sent Benn to the canvas. Benn, known for his own power and resilience, got up and continued to fight.

[Cut to footage of the fight continuing until the 10th round]

Let your imagination run wild with chatgpt, I've given you the blueprint, now you just need to come up with your script idea. Of course this doesn't mean you have to use chatgpt absolutely, you can write and research the script yourself if you want, because after all bots can't compare to a quality human script.

Lumen5

We are going to use this program to create videos because it is very simple; simply insert the script you created and it will generate the video.
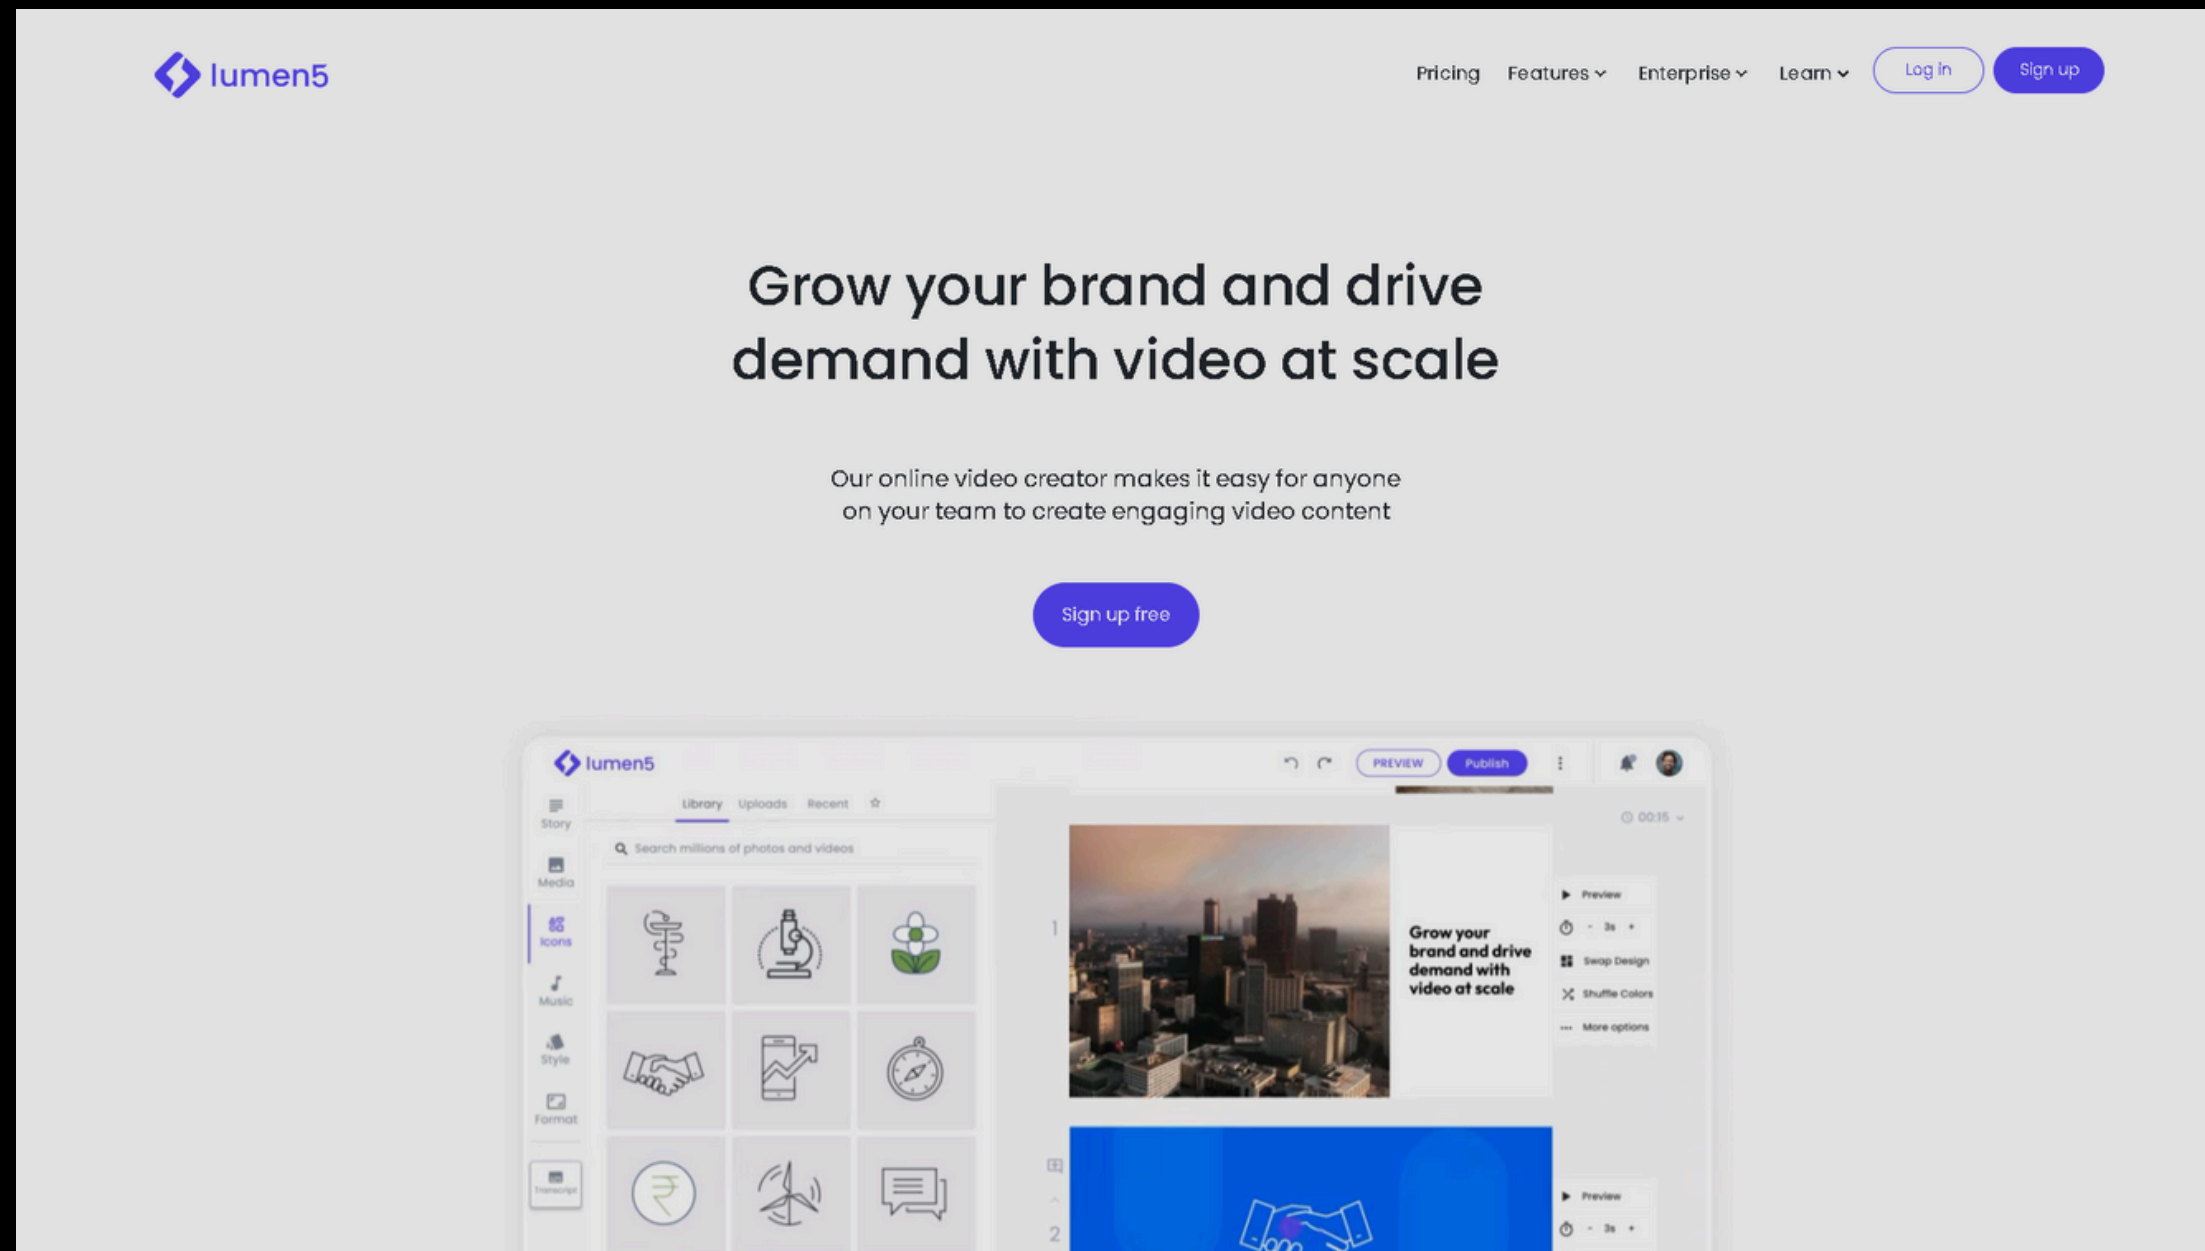

When you register you can create videos by clicking the "New Video" button.

On the next page you can select "Template" I mostly don't use this and just go to the "Skip" button in the top right corner because I don't like how they look.

After that you come to the page where your video is made, all you have to do is paste the script you made in ChatGPT, you can also just paste the link of an article and the program will copy it all by itself.
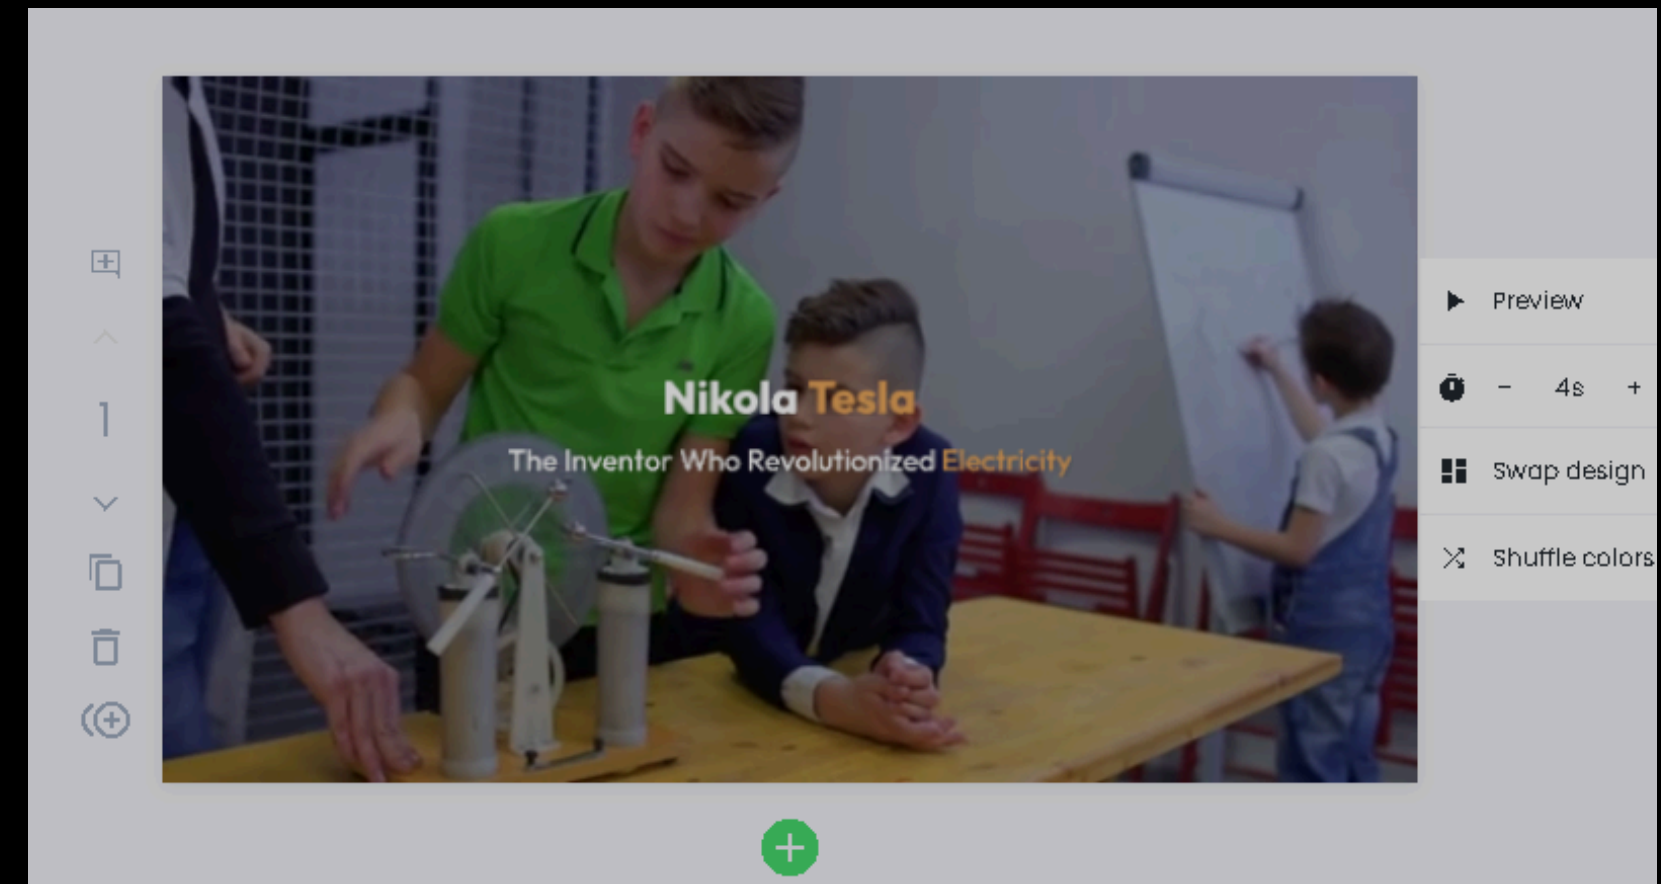

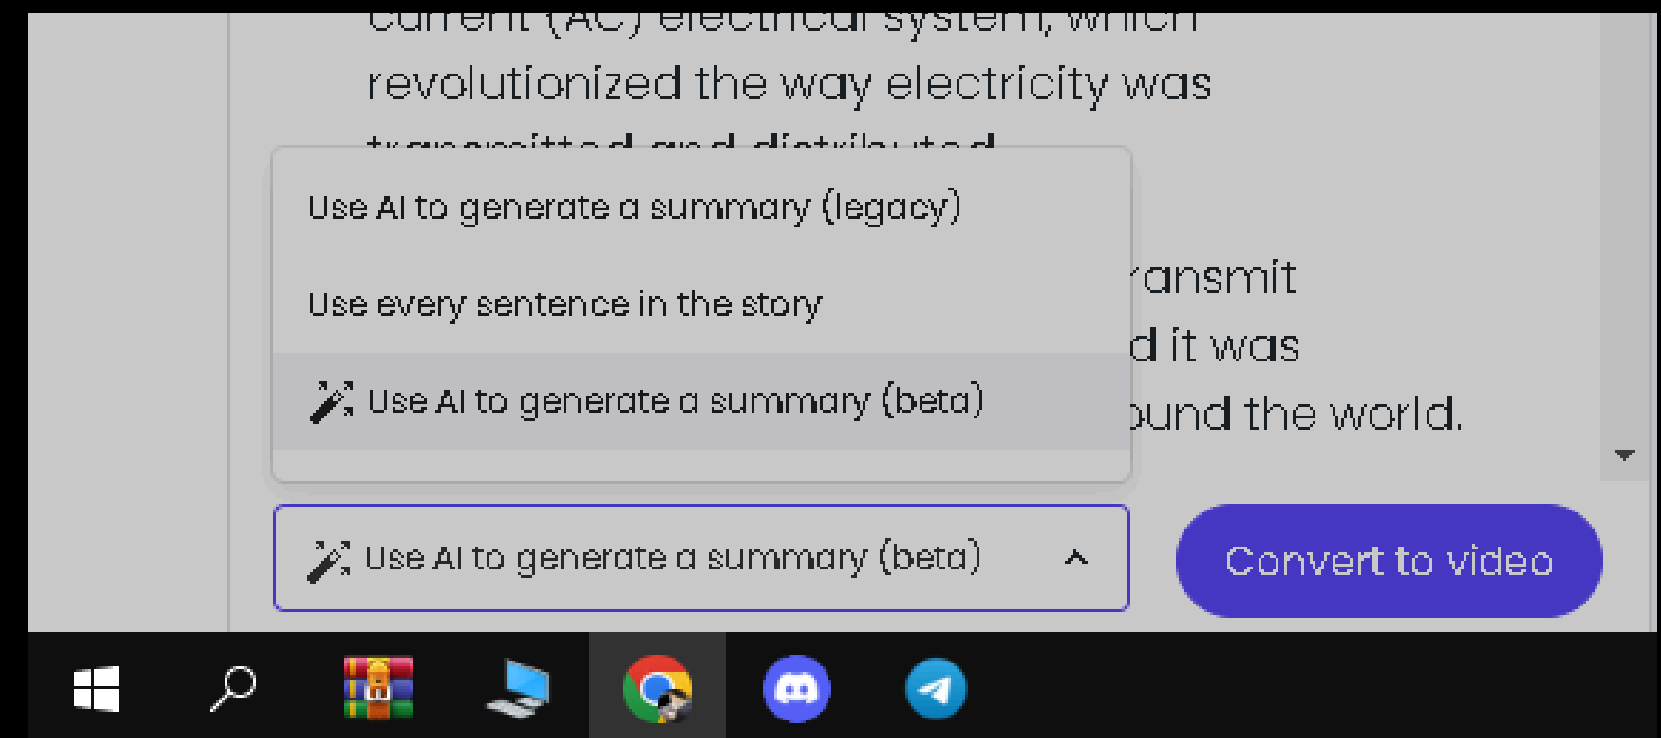

When generating a video, I recommend that you choose to let Ai minify your script itself.

If you don't like the design of one of the scenes generated by the program, you can change it in the "Change Design" section.

In the left menu you have 6 options, story, media, icons, music, style and format.

You already know what the story section is for, so I'll skip it.

One of the more interesting parts of the program, here you can change the scenes in your video, you can also upload your own scenes/videos which is cool.
The great thing about this program is the GIF section where you can find videos of many different popular people, places, memes and similar videos.
The "Icons" field logically has icons, although I have never used this, nor do I plan to, it is useless in my opinion.

In the "Music" section you can upload your voice recordings that you have made. You can also add background music.

You'll use this later to upload the voice recordings you've made.
In the "Style" settings, you can put your logo on the videos, change the font, and also change some other things related to the appearance of the video.

In the "Format" settings, you can change the video resolution and format, so you can automatically create not only ordinary videos, but also reels.

After you have edited and finished your video in the upper right corner you can go to the "Publish" button to generate your video.
MurfAi

We will use this program to generate voiceovers for our videos.

In order to use the program, you must register.
After registration, you will be redirected to the dashboard page, in order to start using the program click the "Create Project" button.

Select "Audio" and below you can select any of the 10 modes, I always select "Article & Blog"
You can choose the voice actor you want to use, all you have to do is paste your text, also in the left menu you can also import your entire script as a file.
Click on the voice actor icon to bring up a selection of all other voice actors, the program has a selection of 120+ voice actors and 20+ languages.
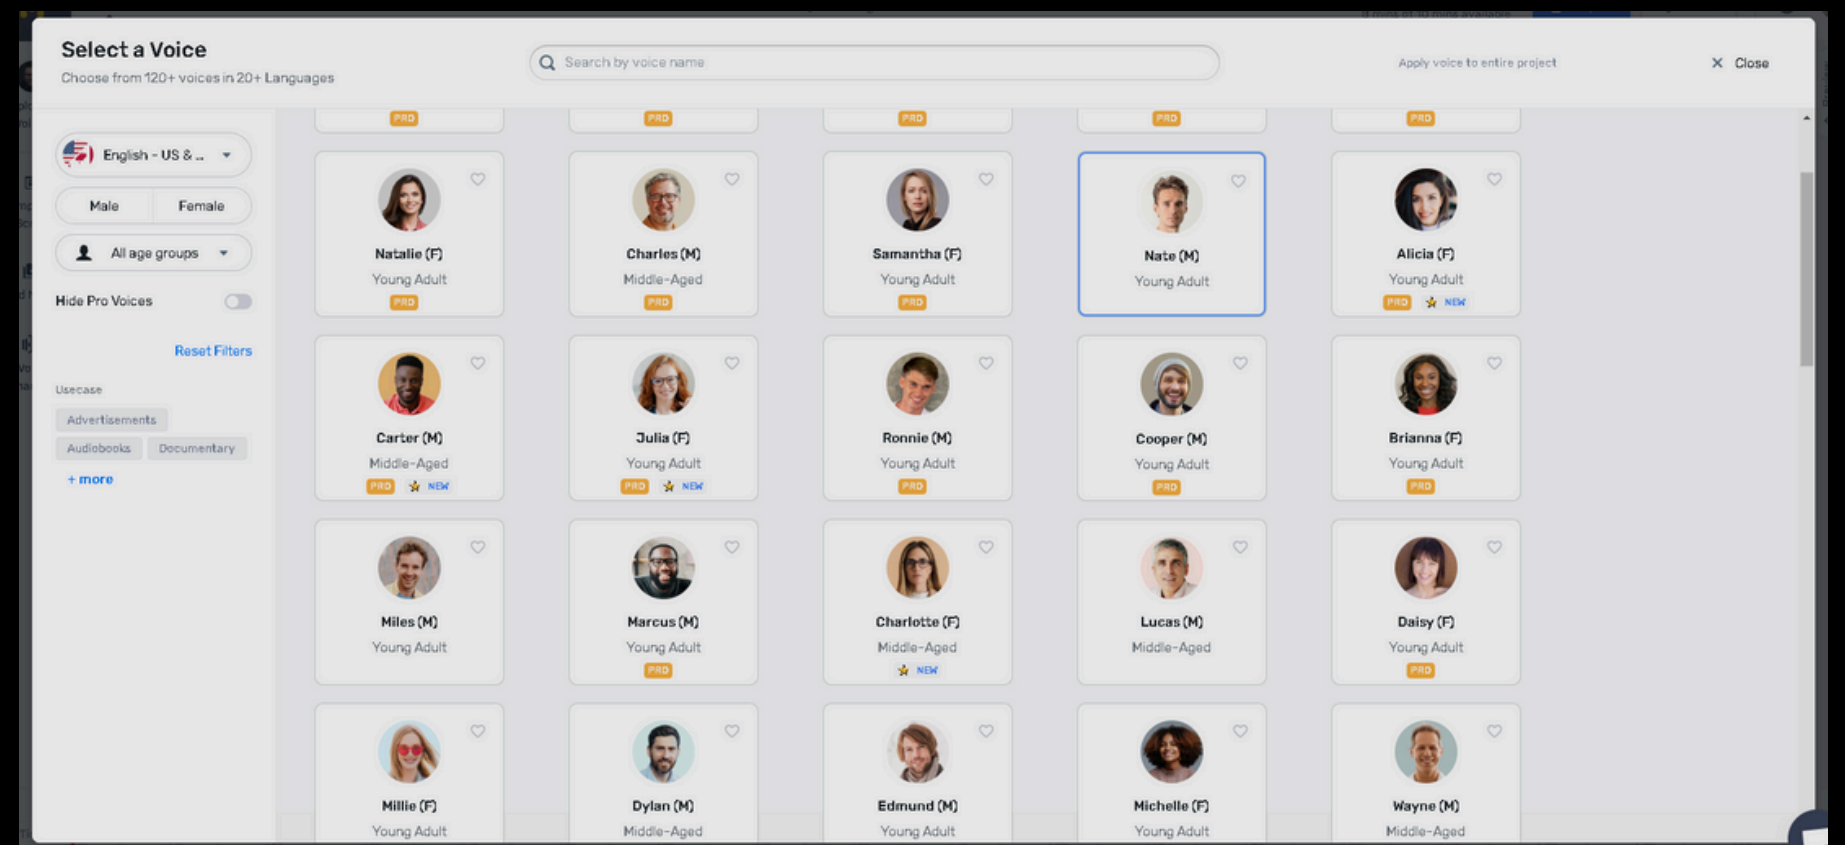

Paste the text and generate audio, you can also change the voice tone, speed, pitch and pause on some parts of the text.

After you have generated the required voice recordings, go to the "Export" button to finish everything.

After that, you can import the downloaded voice recordings into Lumen5 and finish making your videos!
Why do I recommend you buy the premium version of this book?

Just finished the book, and I must say that it is rich with valuable information, especially the "YouTube Growth" methods outlined in it, even though I've read about some information mentioned in the book in some other places, but it is mentioned with more details in the book.

This would be a priceless resource for every youtuber, especially new ones.

Thanks for providing a 35% discount review copy.

Here is my review.

I am starting on YouTube again, after a long time. So, this guide was definitely awesome for me.

The first part about video creation is similar to what I have learned myself. This was not that easy to figure out. If you consider yourself new to Youtube, this part will be of great value to you.

The second part about growth is completely mind blowing to me. I especially liked the "Secret Sscaz Method". I am excited to see how this turns out with my implementations. It took me a little bit of reread to understand this method.

The third part - "Logic" is not new to me. No wonder it's named "Logic" 😄

The fourth part is about various monetization methods. I have heard about some of them, but the guide goes into more details.

Overall, great guide. A must have if you are taking Youtube seriously.

I will definitely recommend this to my friends. 😊

Luckily, I received a review copy of the guide, which consists of four ebooks.

It starts by focusing on generating video ideas across different niches, creating audio and related media, as well as subtitles. Scaz has included templates to facilitate a "done-for-you" (DFY) experience. The guide also mentions 2-5 alternative methods, allowing users to switch to the next one if they encounter any difficulties. Furthermore, he provides live examples to prevent confusion at any stage, making it a comprehensive guide.

Additionally, the guide covers generating keywords and presents 8-10 concise traffic-generating methods. Just to provide a hint, comment bots, and Scaz's secret methods are discussed.

The guide includes a list of subreddits and provides information on utilizing Facebook, TikTok, and Instagram.

In the fourth PDF, the guide explores ideas for monetizing copyright content from a different perspective, such as earning through anime videos.

Overall, this guide serves as a complete guide to earning on YouTube. It presents several methods, allowing users to switch to the next one if a particular method does not suit their preferences. Some of these methods can be considered as goldmines.

Although I have not applied this guide in real time, I have thoroughly examined each point. I found the section on boting particularly interesting. Creating shorts and relying on algorithms are not my preferred methods. This guide is precisely what I needed to get started on YouTube.

I've been around BHW for quite some time, have seen quite a lot of Youtube methods, and I honestly felt like I was in the "loop" when it came to YT. I got my hands on this book and on my first glance, just breezing through these pages (it's a lot of info), I caught a lot of stuff I didn't know, and a couple of things I knew about, but weren't shared openly here (thanks not making it public).

I really wasn't expecting much from this, maybe a more condensed version of information shared here like most ebooks, but this one is different. What would take a few months of trying to figure it all out on your by trial and error @sscaz has it outlined from A - Z. And I can't emphasize the level of detail enough. Pages on pages of nuggets throughout, and I can tell a lot of work went into the outline and structure.

If you're a total noob, you'll get everything you need from this to crush it. If you're an expert might know some of what's inside, but I guarantee you'll learn quite of information you didn't even know you were missing out on.

Most books don't stay in my hard drive long since it's easy to digest and you generally get the gist of it quickly, but this one's on a separate folder on my desktop so I can reference, go over it a few times, and make sure I'm not missing anything.
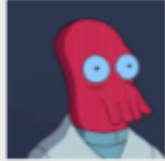

10/10 you killed it on this.

I've got my hands on the ebook, and like everyone else I'm very pleased with it!

The book is fairly well written, you can clearly see that a real lot of work, time, and experience was needed for this. There's zero fluff, and the book's packed with a lot of information that can be useful to either YouTube newbies and veterans.

There's also a real lot of images accompanying everything, so it's definitely a lot easier to follow along, and can confirm on more than a few nuggets that could be useful for other YouTube projects. I'm quite eager to give all of this a shot!

Congratz to @sscaz
