As Told by Bobby...

925 MONITOR

Some forty years ago I bought the house I now live in, the reason being there had been an accident at the farm. One of the men that had worked at the farm for many years had just come back for apple picking. Every year that family would make the trip from Immokalee, Florida. I was really happy to see Clyde Hubbard, his wife and the crew. Bob talked with Clyde about where he wanted to make his camp. There had been a lot of rain that year, and of course with rain the grass likes to grow. The spot was chosen. Now came the part of mowing the grass with the tractor and mower. Everybody got back about 45 feet plus. The mowing was going well. I looked up to see Clyde fall to the ground. The mower had caught a large granite rock with one of the blades, hitting it so hard that it took a two inch notch out of the ten pound rock and threw the rock with such force that it flew all that distance and broke both of Clyde's legs. This was bad. The man spent a week in the hospital. Thank God the insurance with Labor and Industries was paid. Our agent a man named Hall was a friend, and the accident happened two days before the expiration date. Now Bobby and George were in a bad way. I had an apple crop to get off with, very little help, and worrying about Clyde. Dad was in Montana at the produce market and could not help much. With a lot of worrying and a lot of talking with our insurance agent things started to go well. The consensus was I would buy a house in town. Clyde and his family would stay in the house until Clyde would be well enough to go home. In the spring Clyde wanted to go home, so one of the men that worked for Bobby drove him back to Immokalee. None of his crew could drive. The doctors did not want him to go home that soon, but Clyde. Even though he could not walk road on a mattress in the back of the station wagon all the way home. I bought the car so it was a round trip with the car. I paid Richard $500.00 for taking Clyde home. Now I had the house I now live in.

Bobby had been making payment for about a year. One day a lady that was a friend of mine that lived in Seattle called. She had been beaten up by a man she had been living with, and he was in jail. There was a divorce and he would be getting out of jail soon. It was bad because I had introduced them in the first place. The man had worked on the ranch, and I had taken him with myself to Seattle on a fruit run. We had stayed the night at her place. They got together and now with a son and daughter she was worried and wanted to move. I told her that my friend Joe Lyons had an open truck that was big enough to haul all her things. Patty wanted to rent my house. Well, she was my friend and if she did that it would make all my house payments, and get her and the children in a safe place. I could stay in the back bedroom. Bobby was always selling produce and gone most of the time. When I was in Wenatchee, it was always about running the farm and she would feel safe in the fact that I was not away for long in travels. Yes, this went on for many years. Patty took up with a man named Everett that worked for myself for about a year. He was good to the children for about two years then there was a problem because of Everett and her daughter. He went to work on a construction job, got into trouble and went to jail. There was a warrant for him in California and off he went to Lompoc. He then escaped and came back to the farm. I told him the only way I could help him would be to take him to Montana, and until he could get a job, he could work at the produce market. He was happy on the reservation until he ran into a snow plow one winter and died. The man never did straighten up. Patty paid for my house even though I tried to convince her to buy her own. In the end she made as much trouble for Bobby as she could and piled garbage ten feet high in a space that had been dug by the previous owner for an add-on basement, and got Bobby in as much trouble as she could with the city and moved out. I was going to Wenatchee Valley College at the time and busy with everything at the time. Now, I had to rewire the house while going to school. The electrical inspector took pity on myself and taught Bobby how to wire the house. I have lived here now for over forty years. Things are a lot better now! The house is a lot bigger and better.

Many people have lived with Bobby through the years. I lived on the road, but I always had a home!
