

Daily Language Review • Grade 1

Keep language skills sharp with focused practice presented in standardized testing formats. Daily Language Review provides 4 items for every day of a 36-week school year.

Skills covered include:

- Sentence editing
- Punctuation
- Grammar
- Vocabulary
- Word study skills
- Reference skills

For the teacher:

- suggestions for use
- reproducible answer forms
- scope and sequence charts
- answer key

Added benefit of Daily Language Review

The items are presented in a variety of standardized testing formats such as those used in the SAT-9, OLSAT, and TAAS tests.

After a year of becoming familiar with testing formats, students can face standardized testing with increased confidence and reduced frustration.

Introduction to Daily Language Review

Why Daily Language Review?

The premise behind Daily Language Review is simple and straightforward—frequent, focused practice of a skill leads to mastery and retention of that skill.

What's in Daily Language Review?

The book is divided into 36 weekly sections. There are four practice items for each day of the week.

Monday through Thursday follow this format:

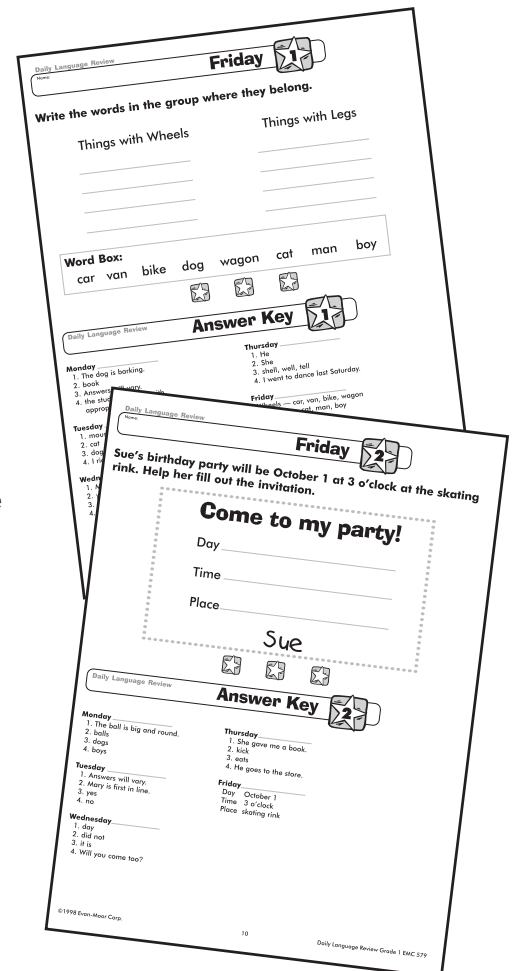

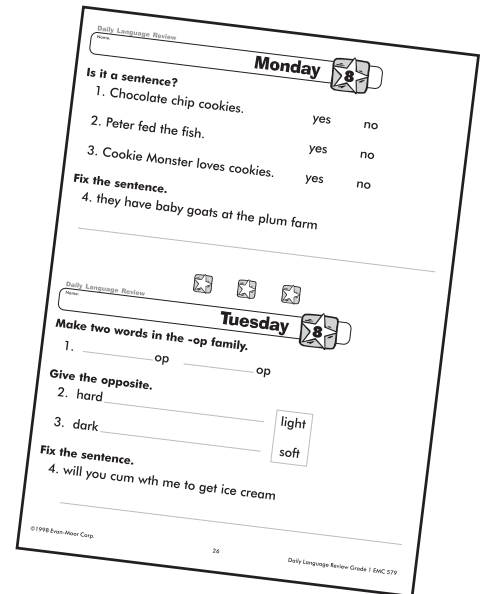

- sentences to edit—corrections need to be made in punctuation, capitalization, spelling, and grammar.
- items that practice a variety of language and reading skills.

Friday's practice involves a single job practicing a variety of skills, among them:

- categorizing objects
- reading for comprehension
- predicting outcomes
- sequencing
- unscrambling sentences
- combining sentences
- distinguishing between real and make believe
- alphabetical order
- writing and answering questions

An answer key for each week is provided on the same page as the Friday lesson.

Scope and sequence charts on pages 3 and 4 detail the specific skills practiced and show in which weeks the practice occurs. The skills chosen have been selected from a variety of language texts at this level.

How to Use Daily Language Review

There are several ways that the daily review practices can be presented. You may want to use all these presentations at times throughout the year to keep the practice fresh and interesting.

1. Make overhead transparencies of the lessons. Conduct the practice as an oral activity with the entire class. Write answers and make corrections using an erasable pen.

Increased retention of the skills will occur if students mark the answers at the same time on a reproduced sheet or on the blank answer form provided on the inside back cover. As the class becomes more familiar with Daily Language Review, you may want students to mark their own answers first and then check responses by marking the items on the transparency.

2. Reproduce the pages for individuals or partners to work independently. Check answers as a group, using an overhead transparency to model the correct answers.

Use these pages as independent practice only after much oral group experience with the lessons.

3. Occasionally you may want to use the lesson from one day or even a week as a test to see how individuals are progressing in their acquisition of skills.

It should be stressed, however, that the greatest learning benefit will be gained from doing the practices orally so that students continually hear correct responses modeled by their classmates and the teacher.

Hints, Suggestions, and Options

1. Look ahead several weeks at the skills being practiced. If possible, teach new skills in formal lessons before asking students to practice these skills in the daily review.
2. Sometimes you will not have taught a given skill before it appears in a lesson. These items should then be done together, not independently. Tell the class that there is a skill they have not yet been taught. See if anyone knows the answer and wishes to explain it to the class. If not, use the review time to conduct a mini-lesson on that skill.
3. Customize the daily review lessons to the needs of your class.
 - If there are skills that are not included in the grade level expectancies of the particular program you teach, you may choose to skip those items—white them out or correct them before reproducing the page.
 - If you feel your class needs more practice than is provided, add these “extras” on your own in the form of a one-item warm up, a mini-post test, or ask students to provide another example.
